KNOX HAMPERS SHIP PROGRAM, SENATE CHARGE

Opposes 'Sea Otter' to Challenge Subs.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—Members of a senate naval affairs subcommittee today charged that Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, and other high officials of the navy department are doing their utmost to block production of the so-called "Sea Otter" cargo vessel, notwithstanding an order from President Roosevelt to cease obstructing this phase of the war effort.

The Sea Otter is a vessel of revolutionary design using automobile-type gasoline engines to drive a propeller sunk thru the bottom, amidship. It is only 270 feet long, carries a net cargo of 1,500 tons, and has a draft of but 11 feet, which would permit navigation in shallow waters and allegedly escape torpedoes usually adjusted to a depth of 15 feet. It employs strip plate steel, requiring a minimum of welding. Vessels now cost about $400,000 each, but supposedly could be made for half that amount thru mass production. They can be completed in four weeks and turned out at the rate of one a day in full production.

Conclude Secret Hearings.

The naval affairs subcommittee, headed by Sen. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], concluded secret hearings today in an investigation of the Knox-Sea Otter scandal and will report to the full committee within a week, when the testimony may be made public.

According to members of the subcommittee, Secretary Knox, Rear Adm. Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, and Joseph W. Powell, special assistant to the secretary of the navy, have intensified their efforts to obstruct the Sea Otter since the President told the subcommittee at a White House conference on Monday that its production would be expedited. The President, it was learned, told the senators that the Sea Otter had met strong opposition from "a man named Powell, in whom the secretary of the navy seems to have great confidence."

Named in U. S. Fraud Case.

Powell, who was brought into the navy department by Knox, is a former president of the United Shipyards and was vice president and operating manager of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation during the World war shipbuilding period.

Powell's name figured prominently in a Supreme court decision handed down Feb. 16, which held that Bethlehem made profits of 24 million dollars—or a little more than 22 per cent on the actual cost of 109 million dollars—for performing 13 World war shipbuilding contracts. The government, charging fraud, lost its suit to recover 8 million dollars.

The majority opinion, delivered by Justice Hugo L. Black, said the profits were such as to arouse "indignation," but the government had let the contract voluntarily and therefore could not recover. The contract was awarded to Bethlehem by Charles M. Schwab, who served in the dual capacity of director general of the Emergency Fleet corporation and chairman of Bethlehem.

Padded Estimates Charged.

Powell negotiated the contracts for Bethlehem. The government charged that he willfully overestimated the costs in order to inflate the prospective profits. Justice Felix Frankfurter, dissenting in the Bethlehem case, characterized the conduct of Powell and his associates by quoting the following from the District court's opinion:

"The managers for the contractor adopted the famous Rob Roy distinction, who admitted that he was a

Act to Switch Chicago Plants to War Work

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The army air corps yesterday opened a campaign to switch much of the manufacturing capacity of the Chicagoland area from peace time to war time business. Millions of dollars' worth of new contracts are available for any manufacturer who has a plant, tools, and employés that can be utilized by the air corps in its war production program, and every manufacturer has been asked to come forward and offer his facilities for use.

This radically new step in army air corps procurement procedure has been taken as a result of President Roosevelt's call for an all out war production program by the entire nation. Under the army's new organizational plan announced in Washington, D. C., in the last 10 days, the air corps is made virtually independent in respect to the acquisition of its equipment, and the new campaign is a direct result.

Staff Ready for Action.

The representative of the air corps' procurement division here is Maj. Clyde A. Faust, who will have charge of the Chicago area office of the central air corps procurement district at 20 North Wacker drive. Maj. Faust and a staff of 150 engineers, air corps specialists, stenographers, technicians, and chemical and metallurgical experts arrived in Chicago a week ago and yesterday threw open their doors ready to do business. The office is the first of its kind in the nation.

"The air corps today considers the Chicago manufacturing facilities as potentially, at least, among the most important in the United States," Maj. Faust said yesterday. "The area has been surveyed, and we know that as yet only a small portion of its capacity has been tapped for war work."

The major and his assistants said that their duties here would cover virtually every phase of production from the negotiation of primary contracts to the overseeing of production, inspection, plant protection, offering of expert engineering assistance to manufacturers, and acceptance of completed articles.

Contacts to Be Arranged.

The office has an entire department which soon will number more than 100 men devoting its entire time to getting "prime" contractors with the air corps together with potential subcontractors. Prime contractors, Maj. Faust explained, are those with whom the air corps deals directly. Subcontractors are those who take over making of parts or subassemblies for the prime contractor's war work.

"At this time our job here can probably be best expressed by the following: We're here to get production up—to take manufacturers by the hand and lead them to the prime contractors, or to Wright field directly, if that is best, and get them air corps contracts," said Maj. Edward A. Hall, who is in charge of production planning and engineering.

From there on, the major indicated, the new office will oversee every step in the production process.

Maj. Faust said that the invitation to manufacturers to find out what they can build, make, fabricate, or create for the air fighting program extends to virtually every manufacturing field.

"My announcement today amounts to saying: 'We are open for business. Let's roll now. Come in, list your plant, indicate to us or let us indicate to you what you can do, and get under way,'" Maj. Faust said.

Men 45 to 64 Sign Up for Draft April 27

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—President Roosevelt today set April 27 as the draft registration date for all men between the ages of 45 and 64 years, inclusive.

It is estimated that 13,000,000 men in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico will be required to register under the fourth registration of the nation's man power.

The President's order affects all men who were born on or after April 28, 1877, and on or before Feb. 16, 1897.

Roosevelt to Register.

President Roosevelt himself will register under the proclamation. He was 60 years old on Jan. 30. He will lead a long list of officials and dignitaries who will be called to comply with the proclamation which described the registration as "required to insure complete and final victory over the enemies of the United States."

Registration of this group will tap all of the nation's man power except for young men below the age of 20 and men who have passed their 65th birthday.

At the selective service headquarters it was explained that there is no intention of drafting men who will register in April for active military service, altho it was said the older men may be called upon for noncombatant service under the revised draft act.

Youths Face New Draft.

It was said that the fourth registration has been ordered chiefly to get additional data on the nation's man power, which will permit better utilization of the nation's man power. No lottery of these registrants will be held, it was said, unless it is decided that the registrants should be called for home guard duty to relieve younger men for field service or unless men will be mobilized for industrial work.

A fifth registration will probably be held this summer to take in young men who passed their 20th birthday since the registration of Feb. 16. It is possible that the administration may seek to have the age limit lowered so that young men will be eligible for the draft on reaching their 18th birthday.

Congress refused to approve the 18 year old level suggested by the administration, but is expected to yield ground as the war progresses.

Recruits Can Be 17.

At present the navy accepts recruits at the age of 17 and the army holds to an 18 year old limitation. Youths cannot enlist without the consent of their parents, however.

A total of 16,500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, were registered on the first registration day, Oct. 16, 1940. Another 752,000, who became 21 after that day were added on July 1, 1941. At the registration of last February about 9,000,000 men registered for possible active service.

MAP IN COLOR

A large scale color map of New Guinea, northern Australia, and contiguous land and water areas appears on the back page of today's issue. Especially timely is the presentation of this map, inasmuch as it is in New Guinea that the Japanese now are reported to be massing forces for an attempted invasion of Australia.

For those who are preserving Tribune color maps and similar features there are available leatherette bound, loose-leaf scrapbooks in full newspaper page size. These may be obtained over the counter at Tribune Public Service offices for $2.50 each or by insured delivery for $3.15 each.

SWALLOWS FLY BACK—ON TIME—TO CAPISTRANO

San Juan Capistrano, Cal., March 19 (AP).—The mission swallows came back to San Juan Capistrano today, fulfilling a tradition which dates far back thru the years. They arrived on St. Joseph's day—right on schedule—made quick inspections of their nests, then flew into the canyons in quest of food.

For many years the swallows left the mission on St. John's day, Oct. 23, just as regularly as they arrived on St. Joseph's day. But the last three years they have departed in July or August.

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the senate military committee, told the senate today that some of the Japanese pilots shot down in the Pearl Harbor attack wore Honolulu high school insignia and United States college rings. Fifth column activity in Honolulu, Reynolds added, greatly aided the success of the Japanese attack.

Begin Inquiry Into Death in Mystery Fire

Du Page county officials said last night an investigation would be made to determine the cause of the mysterious fire early yesterday in which Ralph Gregory, 67 years old, retired brokerage employé, burned to death in his home at 315 Ann street, West Chicago. The blaze ruined the 10 room house.

Gregory's widow, Sylvia, 45, was at the home of a neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Seymour, 311 Ann street, when the fire was observed. She told Dr. Paul Isherwood, Du Page county coroner, she had returned home at 2:30 a. m. yesterday after visiting a sister in Chicago.

Cigarets Fall on Floor.

Mrs. Gregory said she and her husband had quarreled over the lateness of her return and that he struck her, knocking her to the floor. In her fall, she said, her head struck an ash tray containing lighted cigarets which fell to the floor.

Mrs. Gregory said she then left the house and went next door to the Seymour home and awakened them by knocking on a window. She said that shortly after 3 a. m., when she was drinking coffee, Seymour called out that her home was afire. They called police and the fire department.

Police made an attempt to rescue Gregory when Mrs. Gregory told them her husband was lying on a davenport in the living room when she left. They broke a window and found that Gregory was not on the couch.

Body at Foot of Stairs.

When the blaze was extinguished Gregory's body was found at the foot of the stairs leading to the second floor. Allan Myers, chief investigator for the Du Page county state's attorney's office, said he learned Gregory had been drinking Wednesday night.

Last night Mrs. Gregory was under a physician's care in the home of another neighbor in West Chicago.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 19.—Sir Gwilym Gibbon, 68 year old authority on local government, warned Britain in the recent issue of the magazine Public Administration, that she is endangered by the prospect of gerontocracy—government by old men. Writing specifically of the Labor party, Gibbon said: "There has been little encouragement of young men but rather of the cult of seniority."

CREWS REPORT 15 KILLED BY ATLANTIC SUBS

105 Men Are Landed on East Coast.

One hundred and five survivors from three vessels torpedoed and sunk by U-boats off the Atlantic coast reached various eastern ports yesterday. The rescued crewmen told stories indicating that 15 men were lost in the sinkings. Two of the ship losses had been previously reported, but one—that of the Jugo-Slavian freighter Trepca—was new, bringing the officially announced total of allied ship casualties in the western Atlantic to 41.

DEFIES SHELL FIRE

Miami, Fla., March 19 (AP). — The radio operator of a medium sized merchant ship torpedoed in the Atlantic March 12 stuck to his post in spite of shellfire and managed to send distress signals, survivors related here today.

Nine crewmen were lost and the other 38, including Capt. R. J. Murphy of Barnstable, Mass., were rescued from an open lifeboat about 32 hours after the vessel went down.

The sinking had been previously announced from Havana, but survivors who arrived here from Havana told their stories for the first time.

Fires Four Shells.

"Right after the torpedo hit the sub surfaced and fired four times," said Charles Lindner of Valley Stream, N. Y.

"It sounded like somebody had popped a buggy whip four times, very sharp.

"They were firing at a point near the bridge, where the radio shack usually is located on boats of its type. But they got fooled, because it just happened our radio shack was aft. The water was pouring in and the ship sinking about a foot a minute, but Sparks stayed on duty until he could get his SOS away, even with them firing at us."

Thirty-eight Men in Boat.

Louis Lincoln, 28 year old fireman from Brooklyn, told how he and eight of his shipmates were swimming in one group when they found a big lifeboat capsized.

"We caught hold of the side and all heaved together until we got her righted," he explained. "Then we kept rowing around picking up stragglers until we had 38 men in the boat.

"We had plenty of flares and started sending them up, one every half hour. We finally got picked up about 30 hours after the ship was lost."

"LARGEST SUB" ATTACKS

Lewes, Del., March 19 (AP).—The 5,402 ton Jugo-Slavian freighter Trepca was torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic coast March 13 in broad daylight, the 4th naval district announced today after 33 survivors were landed here. Four of the crew are missing.

Survivors drifted three days in open lifeboats before being rescued "somewhere southeast of Delaware capes" by a Swedish freighter. Six were injured, one seriously.

Complete identity of the ship was

DIGEST OF MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS ON WAR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

Japanese troops, guided by German missionaries of the former German colony, were reported marching across New Guinea toward Port Moresby from their northeastern coast beachhead at Lae, according to Melbourne dispatches. Port Moresby is on the southeastern coast of New Guinea, directly across Torres strait from Cape York, the northeastern tip of the Australian mainland. Port Moresby and Cape York, as well as Darwin, were bombed by Japanese planes.

Japs Seek Burma Oil.

In Burma, Japanese troops were moving northward up the Irrawaddy river valley toward the British defenses in the Prome sector which protect the Yenang-Yaung oil fields, said dispatches from the British army in central Burma. Prome is 150 miles north of Japanese held Rangoon and the oil fields are 140 miles farther north. London reports indicated the British army had abandoned Tharrawaddy, 60 miles north of Rangoon.

Nazis Attack Reds.

Moscow reported that German troops were counterattacking futilely on virtually every Russian front in an effort to rescue trapped troops. The fiercest fighting was said to have occurred on an unidentified sector of the southern front. Berlin admitted Russian pressure on the Kerch peninsula in the Crimea, but said it was not as great as heretofore.

SERGT. LOCKARD, HERO OF ATTACK ON HAWAII, WEDS

Williamsport, Pa., March 19 (AP).—The elopement of Staff Sergt. Joseph L. Lockard, Pearl Harbor hero, and his 19 year old schoolgirl sweetheart, Pauline Elinor Seidel, was disclosed tonight by the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Seidel announced the couple were married in the Evangelical Reformed church at Winchester, Va., on March 10 without attendants.

The 19 year old Lockard was on leave at the time preliminary to receiving the distinguished service medal for his unheeded warning of Japanese planes approaching Pearl Harbor on the morning of Dec. 7. Lockard now is taking an officer's training course in the aircraft warning division at Fort Monmouth, N. J. His bride said she will join him upon completion of his training.

353 GAS STATIONS IN CHICAGO AREA WAR CASUALTIES

War conditions up to Monday had caused the closing of 353 of the approximately 2,000 filling stations in the Chicago metropolitan area, it was disclosed yesterday. Since Monday a few more have gone out of business.

Various reasons have been given for the closings. Declining sales of gasoline resulting from the government's restrictions on automobiles have caused many dealers to quit. The ban on the sale of tires except to persons having rationing tickets has hurt the business.

Some stations have been closed as a result of owners going into military service. In other cases operators were reported to have found they could make more money in defense plants than in selling gasoline.

SCOLD CANADIAN GIRLS FOR MASH NOTES TO NAZIS

ESPANOLA, Ont., March 19 (AP).—A magistrate's court was told today how five Canadian girls exchanged love letters with German prisoners in a northern Ontario internment camp and how one of them sent a Nazi's letters out of the country and bought a camera for him.

The girls, all age 15 or 16, pleaded guilty to charges of communicating with the prisoners. Sentences were suspended after they had been reprimanded and warned that such actions endanger allied war efforts.

AMERICA SWAPS WEAPONS FOR ARMY SUPPLIES

Pact Will Be Signed in Washington.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 19.—The first lend-lease program of the war in which the United States will be on the receiving as well as on the giving end was worked out today at a meeting of the united nations supply council. Agreement on a program was announced by Australian officials. The meeting was attended by Australian and American negotiators.

"Now it is certain that Australian goods and facilities will be at the disposal of United States forces, just as American war materials will be at the disposal of Australians," said William Stix Wasserman, United States lend-lease representative here. "The agreement means we will not have to pay rent for trenches the way Americans did in France in the last war."

Follows United States Policy.

Australia's lending and leasing to the United States will follow the policy laid down by President Roosevelt for American lend-lease before the United States entered the war—namely, they will not be dollars and cents arrangements.

Arthur Moore, Australian director of import procurement, explained that "the dollar and pound signs will be absolutely of no importance. Bookkeeping will be in terms of goods and services."

Today's meeting clinched agreement on general policy. That policy will immediately be made effective without a formal treaty. A treaty will be negotiated in Washington, D. C., between the state department and Australian representatives. In addition United States Minister Nelson Johnson in Canberra will carry on treaty negotiations with Prime Minister John Curtin.

America Gets Foodstuffs.

It is impossible at this stage to tell exactly what materials and services will be supplied the United States by Australia, but among them will be uniforms, blankets, foodstuffs, shelter, and supplies. The United States, meanwhile, is supplying Australia with planes, tanks, guns, and other war goods from America's superior industrial facilities. Incidentally Australian shoes and socks are ruled out despite the fact that those industries are considerable here. The American soldier is accustomed to a different last shoe, and Australian socks are deemed too thick for him.

The agreement looks past immediate problems of war supply and into the economics of the postwar world. Wasserman explained, "One of the things we are most anxious to avoid is another war debt problem. We want to start a new world when the war is won, with a clean slate."

Moore said that in view of the fact American forces are already here, two way lend-lease will operate "all in the United States' favor for a while." What the final outcome will be was not indicated publicly by the negotiators, and apparently it will depend on the length of the war and the volume of materials required to defeat the Japanese.

Give All They Can.

"Australia intends to give us everything she can, to the utmost of her capacity," Wasserman said. Australian officials unanimously concurred.

Wasserman continued: "Australia's financial ability to carry the load will be the subject of discussions in Washington, and you can rest assured the United States will not ask her to assume too great a burden. Australia has made the final gesture and given the ultimate indication she will cooperate to the utmost with the United States."

No British representatives were present at the negotiations. There was some talk of possible participation later by British, New Zealanders, and Dutch. But Moore said he thought there was "perhaps a disposition to keep the arrangement as it is."

Among the negotiators for the United States was Brig. Gen. J. C. Roop, former vice president of Pan-American Airways, and for Australia there were John Beasley, minister of supply, and Richard Keane, minister of trade and customs.

CALL ON COUNTY TO STREAMLINE COURT SYSTEM

51 Judge Proposal Made in Judicial Study.

Judge H. M. Fisher.

A streamlined court of not more than 51 judges, which would unify the present scattered justice dispensing agencies of Cook county, is necessary to revitalize the county's court system.

This conclusion has been reached by the Cook County Judicial Advisory council, which was created by the legislature to devise means of improving the administration of justice. It was made public yesterday in an article by the council's chairman, Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court, in the current issue of the Illinois Law Review.

Combining of Courts Urged.

The plan, which would call for constitutional amendment, contemplates combining the Superior, Circuit, Criminal, Municipal, and suburban city courts, as well as the offices of the justices of the peace and masters in chancery. It also would include the various clerks' offices and other court adjuncts and, according to the council, would do away with many political plums.

The council also proposed that the term of elected judges should be 14 years. Judge Fisher explained that successful lawyers hesitate to leave their practices to accept short term judgeships with no assurance that they will not be removed from office at the end of a single term.

"Cook county presents a striking example of confusion and disunity in court organization and practice," Judge Fisher reported. "The county contains more than half the population of the state, and more than 70 per cent of the litigation within the state takes place here.

Nine Courts of Record Exist.

"There are nine separate trial courts of record—the Circuit, Superior, Criminal, County, and Probate courts, the City court of Chicago Heights, the City court of Calumet City, and the Municipal courts of Chicago and Evanston. Each has its own clerk, adopts its own rules, and regulates its own dockets, calendars, method of assignment, and organization of work. The Circuit and Superior courts have concurrent jurisdiction."

At present there are 32 judges sitting in the Superior court, 20 in the Circuit court, and 33 in the Chicago Municipal court. There is one Probate court judge with nine assistants. There are 19 masters in chancery attached to the Circuit court and 28 to the Superior court.

Judge Fisher declared that administrative agencies, commissions, departments, and boards, employing hundreds, have invaded the judicial field. He concluded that the judicial department must "show itself competent to perform the entire task allotted to it, to readjust its machinery in accordance with changing conditions, and to compel the other branches of government to respect its prerogatives."

Courage Needed, Says Fisher.

"If laymen were ever to realize how much time is wasted by courts and lawyers," Judge Fisher continued, "their respect for the law would be immeasurably lessened.... The profession is well aware of defects in our judicial system. Even the remedies have been ably prescribed. What seems to be lacking is the courage or willingness to apply them."

The judicial council, Judge Fisher wrote, believes that a limited number of elected judges in the unified court should be aided by appointed associate judges. The proposal calls for the various grades of associates to be determined by elected judges and paid salaries in keeping with the importance of work assigned.

"The associate judges should be appointed to serve at the will of the elected judges during a period of probation and thereafter on good behavior. The ever present opportunity of promotion to higher grades, with the possibility of being selected to fill vacancies occurring in the elected positions, would be a great incentive to devoted and efficient service."

Proposes Primary Steps.

While working toward the eventual consolidation, Judge Fisher said, lesser steps which would not call for constitutional amendment could be taken.

"The council recommends consolidation of the calendars of the Circuit and Superior courts," he said. "As an experiment, it suggests that a beginning be made with the common law calendars and that the chancery calendars await the result of the experiment."

Another suggestion was advanced concerning the selection of judges. Recognizing defects in the coalition system, the council held that a reasonable assurance of continuity of office could be provided thru a mere legislative act and that this would result in more men of quality seeking judicial positions.

Procedure Is Suggested.

"It would involve merely an act of the legislature providing that every judge who stands for reëlection shall stand automatically nominated and that the names of all sitting judges thus renominated should appear on the ballot under a single designation—'Sitting Judges' Ticket'—with a circle in front of it so that a mark in the circle would be a vote for each of them," Judge Fisher said. "No other designation would be allowed. Other candidates would be nominated by petition.

"The certainty of reëlection for the sitting judges would be as great as under the coalition system, but the opportunity to retire an undesirable judge would be greater. Since the judges would not be party candidates, the civic bodies interested in such a retirement might easily get the support of one or both major party organizations for an independent candidate who would be pitched against the particular judge whose elimination is desired."

MESSAGE TO SWEDISH KING.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 19 (AP).—President Roosevelt sent a message today to King Gustav, expressing hope that Sweden's 83 year old monarch would recover speedily from an operation which he underwent on March 9. The American-Swedish news agency reported that the king's physicians said he was well along toward recovery.

ALLIES TO BLOCK AXIS SHIPMENTS VIA MADAGASCAR

LONDON, March 19 (AP).—Japan and Germany are going to try to exchange vital war supplies, Britain's new minister of economic warfare predicted today, strongly suggesting the Vichy-French Island of Madagascar might figure in these axis machinations. The minister, the earl of Selborne, declared:

"No supplies which would be dangerous to the allied cause will be allowed to go to Madagascar, especially under the present circumstances."

Britain and the United States are closely watching the situation regarding that big island off southeast Africa, he said. Germany, he added, must be prevented from exchanging machine tools and technicians for Japanese tin, rubber, and tungsten, and the most important feature of economic warfare at present will be to intercept ships attempting such transfers.

GERMANS GUIDE JAPANESE DRIVE IN NEW GUINEA

BULLETIN.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 20 [Friday] — (AP). — Extensive Japanese activity in the vicinity of Salamaua and Lae on the east coast of New Guinea was announced today in a communique issued by Prime Minister John Curtin. It also was reported that Japanese planes raided Moresby and made further attacks on the Solomon Islands and Darwin on the northwest coast of Australia.

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 19 (AP).—Guided by Nazi German missionaries, a strong Japanese force was reported tonight to be advancing overland in New Guinea toward Port Moresby, enemy coveted springboard for invasion of the Australian mainland. Meanwhile, over the Australian continent's whole defense periphery, the combined United States-Australian air force and Japanese bombers were furiously engaged.

The Japanese troops, thus supported by the first recorded instance of German fifth column work in the Australian theater, appeared to be advancing westward from Lae, their beachhead on northeastern New Guinea Island due north of Port Moresby and separated from it by a mountain range. [New Guinea is a former German colony.] The objective of the drive was to gain the central plateau, then turn south toward Port Moresby, the most important defensive position short of the mainland itself. It lies just across Torres strait from the mainland.

Seek Markham Valley Airports.

The enemy's immediate aim, said dispatches from Port Moresby, was to take over the Markham valley with its system of first rate airports.

The missionaries were said to have come from pro-Nazi centers in Finschafen and Alexishafen—both towns where they had a radio transmitter and a small factory for producing arms and swastika arm bands. They maintained good airdromes.

In recent raids on the missions, the authorities smashed one radio transmitter. They found hundreds of swastika flags and photographs of Adolf Hitler and learned that some of the native children of New Guinea had been taught the Nazi salute.

So far as could be learned, the invading force was in considerable number, but the Australian defenders expressed the conviction that the thrust would be broken well short of Port Moresby.

Meanwhile, Japanese bombers attacked Fort Moresby, Cape York, Australia, just across Torres strait, and Darwin, the northern Australian naval base. No casualties were reported in the two raids on Australia, altho 25 scatter bombs directed at allied troops were dropped at Darwin. The Japanese also bombed Tulagi, Florida Island, in the Solomon group.

Compulsory Civilian Defense.

Compulsory civilian defense duties were ordered for all Australians between the ages of 16 and 60 not now in the fighting or auxiliary forces. A mobile works squadron of the royal Australian air force also was ordered formed, to construct landing grounds and encampments as speedily as possible for the use of the expanding United States and Australian air forces and for disposition of rapidly incoming United States aircraft.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, new supreme commander of allied forces in the southwest Pacific, is expected to confer next week with war cabinet officers and Australian service chiefs at Canberra. The supreme commander outlined his offensive purposes to his old friend, Brig. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, present United States minister to New Zealand, and today Hurley summed up his impressions this way:

"Gen. MacArthur breathes the very spirit of victory. He specifically stated that he still is in command of the Philippine situation and that he has the utmost confidence he will again be back on Filipino soil."

Lieut. Col. Whitford, director general of Australian recruiting, today was named liaison officer between the United States and Australian forces on the continent.

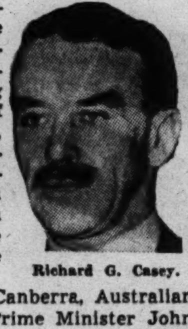
BRITISH UP IN AIR AS AUSTRALIAN IS PUT IN CABINET

Casey's Choice Stirs Embarrassment.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—Indications were seen here tonight that an embarrassing situation has developed between the British and Australian governments regarding appointment of Richard G. Casey, Australian minister to America, to the British war cabinet as a minister of state in the middle east.



Richard G. Casey.

Reports from Canberra, Australian capital, quoted Prime Minister John Curtin as stating that Casey's transfer from Washington, D. C., to Cairo, Egypt, will create "difficulties and embarrassments to the commonwealth" in the present critical period. Curtin made it clear that, while he is not prepared to forbid Casey to accept the post, he prefers that he remain in Washington.

This has given rise to confusion here, since Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in announcing Casey's selection today, thanked Australia for its "consent to release Casey."

Called Personal Matter.

Members of parliament assumed Casey's appointment to succeed Oliver Lyttelton, who has become minister of production, meant formal representation of Australia in the war cabinet, but a statement by Curtin that it was purely a personal matter between Churchill and Casey seemed to contradict this.

The first intimation that all was not well came in a Canberra dispatch which said Casey's appointment did not express the wish of the Australian government. British government quarters, however, said this dispatch probably was due to a misunderstanding. Later a British statement said "his majesty's government received Curtin's full concurrence in Casey's appointment" before any suggestion was made to Casey.

See Move to Renew Bonds.

Expressing the hope that the misunderstandings can be cleared up, Friday's Daily Mail said that otherwise "it would be desirable, in the interests of imperial harmony, to reconsider Casey's new appointment."

Earlier, British circles had seen the selection of Casey as a move to retie the bonds between Australia and the motherland at a time when the dominion seemed to be pulling away toward the United States.

These circles also saw the unprecedented choice of a dominion statesman as a minister of state with full cabinet rank as a move to satisfy Australian demands for full representation in the war cabinet.

Casey's job in the middle east will be to plan on behalf of the war cabinet "measures necessary for the prosecution of the war in that area, other than the conduct of operations," it was said.

Reveals British 'Civilians' in U. S. Awaited War Entry

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—How Britain had the nucleus of an ordnance staff in Washington, D. C., awaiting American entry into the war was disclosed tonight by Maj. Gen. R. M. Weeks, director general of army equipment. He told newspaper men the British "civilians" in Washington changed into uniform immediately after the war started. Now supplies from American ordnance depots go direct to the theater of operations, he said.

HOW GEN. MAC ARTHUR LEFT PHILIPPINES WITH HIS FAMILY AND AIDES

LONDON, March 20 [Friday], (AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's escape by speedboat and plane from the Philippines to take supreme command in Australia "will make any story of the war hitherto written look pale by comparison," the London News-Chronicle's correspondent with the United States troops reported today.

The correspondent said the general, accompanied by his wife, 4 year old son, and staff members, dashed thru the Japanese blockade around Bataan peninsula by speedboat, then flew across a sea of islands patroled by enemy planes and dotted with warships for more than 2,000 miles.

Gen. MacArthur and his party, the dispatch said, assembled on Bataan's dark beach the night of March 11, and cautiously boarded fast motor torpedo boats.

"These small craft slipped silently out to sea, swung southward, and maneuvered into formation," the story continued. "Their throttles were opened up, and they tore away.

"Their speed was their protection against submarines, and before dawn the boats, now far beyond Luzon Island, crept into an inlet where the jungle hid them from view during the daylight.

"The next night the dash southward resumed. Two days later the rendezvous was reached and there began a wait for three days until the planes arrived.

"The planes came, the party was transferred aboard them, and on March 17 they landed in Australia. . . .

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—A motion calling for the removal of Harold G. Nicolson, Laborite member of parliament, as governor of the British Broadcasting corporation has been presented in the house of commons by the Conservative W. S. Liddall, it was revealed tonight. The motion deplores as "generally defeatist" Nicolson's statement at Dublin university last Monday "to the effect that our old imperialism has gone, our military power may go, and we shall probably emerge from the war in a very battered and bedraggled condition."

OFFICIAL PROBE OF SINGAPORE'S FALL DEMANDED

Lack of Report Stirs House of Commons.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—Appointment of a royal commission, similar to that which inquired into the illfated Gallipoli campaign in the World war, to investigate the loss of Malaya and Singapore was demanded in the house of commons today. Similar action also was sought in the house of lords, where Lord Addison next week will demand such an investigation.

Angered by the fact that more than a month has elapsed since Singapore fell, many members of parliament condemned the government's failure to issue an official report of the futile defense of the Pacific bastion.

Ask Quiz on Norway.

Sir Archibald Southby, Conservative, first suggested an official investigation. Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister, answered that there was no use setting up a commission before information is available. To this Commander Oliver Locker-Lampson, Conservative, retorted, "Why not go into Norway, also Dunkirk?" bringing cries of "Why not?" from the house.

Laborite Richard Stokes demanded that members of parliament be provided with a report on Singapore before parliament's three week Easter recess. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, acting leader of the house, said the government had not yet received a report on Singapore but that it would be made available when it arrived.

Seek Detailed Report.

Asked whether any report had been received from Maj. Gen. Gordon Bennett, Singapore commander who escaped to Australia, Attlee said the government sent cables to Java and Australia on Feb. 27, 12 days after Singapore fell, asking for a report from Bennett on the siege and fall of Singapore. He said a short report was received March 4 and that more details had been asked for March 12.

This provoked Sir Herbert Williams, Conservative, to ask:

"Do I understand that, altho over a month has passed, the government has less information than was published in a technical paper, the Autocar, on March 13?"

Attlee said he was not aware of what Autocar had published, but reassured the house that the government was doing everything it could to get information.

U. S. ADMIRAL FROM BATAAN IN AUSTRALIA

Successor to MacArthur Promoted in Jiffy.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—Suspending customary procedure the senate today cut thru red tape to make a lieutenant general of Jonathan M. Wainwright, successor to Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander of the American forces in the Philippines, less than 10 minutes after the appointment was submitted for its approval by President Roosevelt.

Rear Adm. Francis W. Rockwell.

The action came as the navy department revealed that Rear Adm. Francis W. Rockwell, who was in command of the naval and marine forces still fighting on Bataan peninsula, had arrived in Australia to join MacArthur; and the war department announced that Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, sent to China as chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, has been placed in command of the 5th and 6th Chinese armies operating with British forces in Burma.

Mr. Roosevelt submitted the nomination of Gen. Wainwright to the senate at 3:51 p. m., Chicago war time, in order to give him rank equal with that of other army field commanders and the new chiefs of the army air, ground and supply chiefs. He had been a major general.

Sen. A. B. Chandler [D., Ky.], chairman of the military affairs subcommittee on nominations, placed the nomination immediately before the senate without reference to the subcommittee. It was approved before 4 o'clock.

The navy department said that Adm. Rockwell, after being ordered to leave the Philippines, departed from Corregidor in Gen. MacArthur's party, which reached Australia March 17. He is now in Melbourne and it is expected he will be assigned to an appropriate command, probably at sea.

"When Japan attacked the Philippines without warning," the navy department said, "Adm. Rockwell was in command of the 16th naval district, with his headquarters in the navy yard at Cavite, which is across the bay from Manila.

Helped Defend Bataan.

"When the naval establishment there became no longer tenable, it was destroyed effectively. Adm. Rockwell then proceeded to Corregidor with the navy and marine corps forces under his command and since then has taken part in the defense of Corregidor and Bataan peninsula under command of Gen. MacArthur. His naval and marine forces number only about one-third of the regular United States army troops in that area."

Adm. Rockwell, who is 55 years old, was born in Woodstock, Conn. He was graduated from the naval academy at Annapolis in 1908, where he rowed on the navy crew four years. During World War I. he commanded the U. S. S. Winslow and won the navy cross and French legion of honor.

The appointment of Gen. Stilwell to the command of the two Chinese armies was made by the Chinese generalissimo. It marked the first time that an American army officer has been given command of Chinese troops.

He is a native of Palatka, Fla. He was graduated from West Point in 1904. He won the distinguished service medal in World War I. for his part in the St. Mihiel offensive.

JAPS ADVANCING TOWARD RICH OIL FIELDS OF BURMA

British Army Gives Ground Below Prome.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN CENTRAL BURMA, March 19 (AP).—Japanese troops moved northward up the Irrawaddy river valley today by motor transport, boat and mule train toward the British defenses in the Prome sector sheltering the Yenang-Yaung oil fields.

They seek control of the Prome road, asphalted western branch of the old Burma road running along the broad Irrawaddy to the rich central Burma oil fields, thence to Mandalay.

Japs Advance in East, Too.

Japanese forces also are moving up the eastern branch, or Toungoo road, and there has been preliminary fighting in the Kanyutkwin sector of this eastern road to Mandalay, some 100 miles north of Rangoon.

[In this area, according to a British communique broadcast yesterday by the Madras, India, radio, the British withdrawal toward Toungoo proceeded after Japanese flank attacks had been beaten off. The communique also said 25 enemy planes were believed destroyed by the American Volunteer Group's air raids Wednesday on the Moulmein airdrome and Fedel landing grounds.]

As Japanese shock troops mopped up the conquered Burma delta and drew upon the native population for armed recruits, battle worn British imperials took up new defensive positions south of Prome. [A London spokesman said this involved the abandonment of Tharrawaddy, 60 miles above Rangoon on the Prome road.]

Route Has Few Obstacles.

There are no natural obstacles of terrain on this route to favor the defenders, who have been fighting against odds of two and three to one for two months.

Meanwhile an Indian refugee migration which may involve 750,000 men, women, and children is choking the two roads westward out of Burma and starvation and thirst are decimating the poverty stricken marchers.

Chinese Battle for Burma.

CHUNGKING, China, March 19 (AP).—Chinese forces in northern Burma have fought the Japanese at four points along the Burma-Thailand border and have repulsed several enemy attempts to cross the border and invade Burma, a military spokesman said tonight.

Fighting has occurred in northern Thailand northwest of Chiengsen, west of Chiengmai and northwest of Meihang, where the main Japanese forces apparently had concentrated with the intention of threatening the allied flank east of Toungoo.

British forces, the spokesman said, now are holding a line extending west from the Sittang river across the Rangoon-Mandalay railway and the Bassein-Prome railway to the sea coast north of Bassein.

In China, Japanese forces have landed on the coast of Chekiang province in Siangshan bay, about 100 miles south of Shanghai, and are advancing inland on Neigai apparently in order to consolidate their hold on Siangshan bay. This bay is only 600 miles from the Japanese coast and it is believed that the Japanese are anxious to prevent its use by the allied forces as a base for attack on Japan.

Demolish Ceylon Tenements.

COLOMBO, Ceylon, March 19 (AP).—Demolition crews began tearing down flimsy tenement areas and cutting other "fire lanes" here as a precaution against expected Japanese bombing and incendiary raids.

U. S. Submarines Rescue 54 from British Warship

LONDON, March 19 (AP).—Fifty-four members of the crew of the British destroyer Electra which was sunk in the battle for Java were rescued by American submarines, a dispatch from Perth, Australia, said today. The dispatch said the rescued seamen were transferred later to a Dutch submarine which brought them ashore.

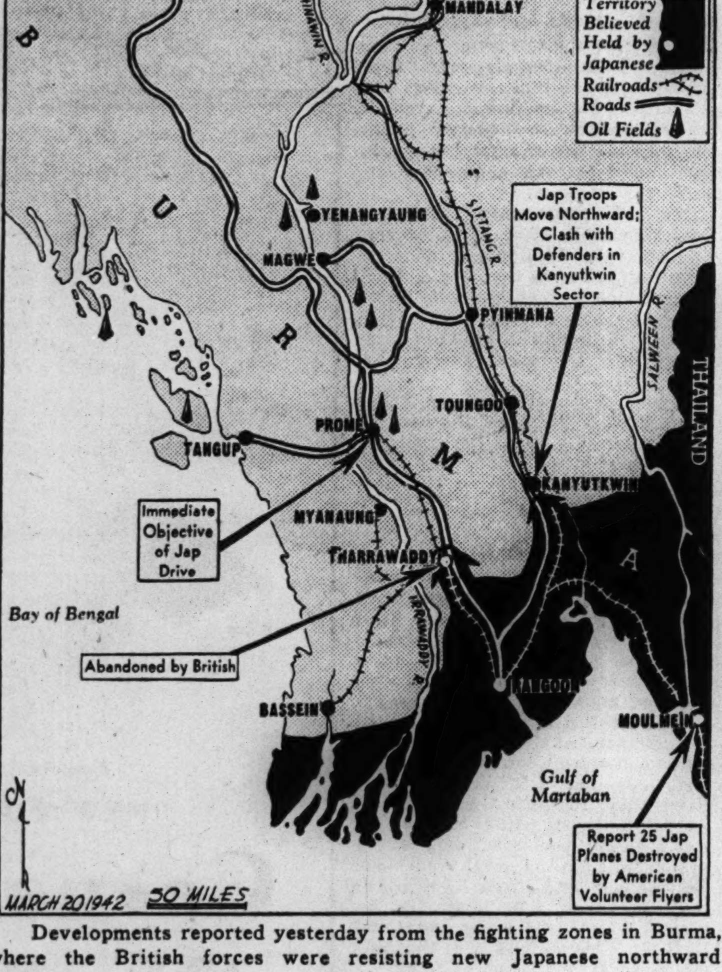
Developments on the Burmese Fronts

(Story in adjoining column.)



Developments reported yesterday from the fighting zones in Burma, where the British forces were resisting new Japanese northward pressure.

BURMA MONSOON THREATENS BOTH FOES WITH MUD

Much of the terrain in central Burma—where British and Japanese are now fighting—will become impassable to an army, especially a mechanized one, when the rains brought by the summer monsoon [wind] reach their height in mid-May, military observers assert.

The summer monsoon will begin April 1, with galelike winds from the south and southwest causing heavy rainfall until October because they blow off the sea. By the middle of May it is expected that roads, dry-washes, and quicksands will become extremely dangerous, if not impassable, for such mechanized equipment as tanks and artillery.

The rainfall on the coast of Burma ranges from 120 to 160 inches annually. In the interior it ranges from 40 to 160 inches annually, according to local conditions.

The winter monsoon from Oct. 1 to April 1, incidentally, gives Burma its dry season by blowing steadily off the land from the northeast and north.

BALTIC STATES PLEDGED 'HOME RULE' BY NAZIS

Limited Independence to Repay 'Co-operation.'

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 19.—Unrelenting Russian pressure against German forces on the northern sector of the eastern front and the general apathy with which the inhabitants of the Baltic states have been regarding the German civil administration there recently has resulted in an important decree being published by Alfred Rosenberg, German minister to the occupied regions of Russia.

It says that while the restoration of complete independence in Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania cannot be discussed until the war is ended, a national administration with limited rights is to be created immediately.

Red Advance Gauges Leniency.

In the Baltic states it has been noticed that the nearer the Red armies approach, the more lenient and obliging become the German administrators.

"Baltic nations during the fight against bolshevism and during the German occupation have given so many proofs of their willingness to coöperate that it is now possible for Germany to give them in return a far reaching home rule," Berlin officials said in discussing the new decree. "Eventually they will receive a complete national administration and further rights, and this is a long step in this direction."

Reduce Nazi Officials.

It is proposed immediately to reduce the number of German officials in the Baltic states, but the supreme authority will continue to be in the hands of German Commissioner Lohse. Estonia is to be provisionally divided into five provinces, and Latvia and Lithuania each into seven. These will be administered by national committees whose leaders will be responsible to Lohse and with his assistance will function in a controling and advisory capacity.

German domination of Baltic economy will continue, however, and German still will be the official language.

JAPS READY TO BEGIN 'REAL BATTLE AGAINST ALLIES,' NATION TOLD

TOKIO, March 19 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—The Japanese nation was told tonight by Maj. Kinzo Nakajima of the army press section that Japan has been catching its breath after its conquests in the southwest Pacific but that it "now is ready to begin the real battle against the allied nations."

In a radio broadcast he warned the country against being dazzled by Japanese victories to date and added: "We should be prepared for any eventuality."

United States' losses in the southwest Pacific, he said, do not mean the United States is going to capitulate.

Nakajima also told the Japanese not to forget the war in China, saying metaphorically: "Our fighting forces in China are like the strings of a bow stretched to the full, enabling the arrow to be shot to faraway regions."

DEMAND BRITAIN INTERN JAPS ON LARGER SCALE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—Demands for large scale internment of Japanese in this country were made in the house of commons today by Laborite and Conservative members alike. Two members even went so far as to object to the amount of time allowed internees for exercise in Kensington gardens.

Of 500 Japanese in England, only 100 have been interned so far, Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison told the house. When asked if "it is not desirable to take as many of these poisonous people as possible under our care?" Morrison pointed out that there was quick resentment in this country when more general internment had been applied before.

GERMANS STRIKE COUNTERBLOWS AT SOVIET DRIVES

Seek to Rescue Trapped Hitler Troops.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, March 20 (Friday)—(AP).—German troops under assault in Kharkov are blowing up oil stores and other equipment, a Stockholm dispatch said today. Great fires are raging in the industrial city which the Nazis captured last October, the report said. The Red army was reported at the gates of Kharkov last Sunday.

MOSCOW, March 19 (AP).—The Nazis are counterattacking on virtually every front in futile efforts to rescue trapped troops and stem the Russian advance, the Red army reported tonight. The fiercest fighting of all raged in an unidentified sector of the southern front, the army newspaper Red Star said.

Trying to relieve several units from a grave predicament, the Germans threw in every weapon of war, but were repulsed and lost another settlement, Red Star related, and added that the Russian advance there was continuing.

The story was similar on the central front, where Red Star reported the Russians encircled a German garrison in an important town after several days of battle in a blizzard.

Cut Rations One-third.

A dispatch from that front said that the Germans were trying to furnish the trapped unit with munitions and food by plane and that captured orders showed the commander of the 101st German rifle regiment already had reduced his men's rations one-third.

In the Staraya Russa sector 140 miles south of Leningrad, the official Russian government paper, Izvestia, said Hitler's "starved, half frozen 16th army, 60,000 strong, is perishing."

Reserves "gathered with difficulty for his so-called spring offensive," but sent instead to aid this army "find themselves encircled with those they are sent to relieve," Izvestia said.

Claim 6,000 Miles Regained.

Izvestia said the Red army between Leningrad and Tikhvin was advancing steadily westward, capturing settlement after settlement.

Pravda, communist party paper, said it had received word from a guerrilla commander that 6,000 square miles of territory west of the Leningrad sector had been cleared of Germans.

Kerch Attacks Repulsed.

BERLIN, March 19 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The high command said today that the pressure of Russian attacks on the Kerch peninsula of the Crimea was continuing, but declared that new attacks by the Red army were "in less force than on previous days" and were unsuccessful.

U. S. Pilot, 3 Others Killed in Canadian Bomber Crash

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 19 (AP).—Four men—a United States civilian pilot and three Royal Canadian air force men attached to an air observers' school here—were killed in a bombing plane crash last night at Kinistino near here.

Generals Recalled

ANKARA, Turkey, March 19 (AP).—German Ambassador Franz von Papen departed tonight in defiance of doctor's orders, to report to Adolf Hitler's eastern front headquarters. He appeared to be in poor health and he was wearing mufflers over his ears. He was reported to be suffering from ear trouble as a result of a bomb explosion near him recently in an Ankara boulevard. He is expected to return to Ankara before the end of the month.

Recalls Ousted Officers.

BERNE, Switzerland, March 19 (AP).—Adolf Hitler has called back nearly all top officers who resigned or were removed last winter to map a gigantic offensive expected to be launched soon on the Russian front, a Berlin dispatch to the Swiss newspaper Basel National Zeitung reported today.

Among them, it said, was Field Marshal Walther von Brauchitsch, who was displaced by the Fuehrer himself as the German army chief last December.

Others named were Field Marshals Gerd von Rundstedt, Fedor von Bock, and Erwin Rommel.

The dispatch said the meetings were in session now and most signs pointed toward plans to concentrate on the eastern front.

LINK IRA TO NAZI SPIES IN IRELAND; CONVICT COURIER

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 19 (AP).—The outlawed Irish Republican army has been seeking information on the strength of the United States troops in Northern Ireland, it was disclosed today with the conviction of a dining car attendant for serving as an illicit courier.

The attendant, Henry Lundborg, who worked on the Dublin-Belfast express, was sentenced to two years in prison and fined the equivalent of $800 by a special court. The magistrate told him that he was "lucky that a more serious charge was not preferred which might have resulted in the death penalty."

IRA members have been accused on several occasions of coöperating with Nazi agents in Ireland.

More Canadian Airmen, Ground Crews in Britain

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19 (AP).—The safe arrival of a fresh contingent of Canadian troops in Britain was announced today by the Canadian government. It was understood the force was relatively small, made up chiefly of airmen and ground crews.

GERMAN RATIONS OF BREAD, FATS, MEATS REDUCED

40 Per Cent of Population Affected by Cut.

BERLIN, March 19 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German government cut the normal civilian ration of bread, fats, and meat today and pinned its promise of return to fatter days on retention of "food space in the east [Russia] and increased production elsewhere in Europe."

The new rationing system, effective April 6, will cut the bread allowance of the "normal consumer" from 5 pounds a week to 4 pounds 6 ounces; fats from 9½ ounces to 7¼ ounces, and meat from 14 to 10½ ounces.

Three Groups Get More.

"Competent quarters" hastened to explain in the broadcast announcement that only 40 per cent of the German population are "normal consumers." The remaining 60 per cent it was said, include children, members of the armed forces, and self-supporting workers.

These three categories, it was said, are generally receiving larger rations than normal consumers.

Children between 6 and 18 had their meat rations shortened "only" by 1¾ ounces, it was said, and the worker at hard labor will still get nearly a pound of meat a week as the minimum allowance or 1 pound 12 ounces as the maximum.

[By way of comparison, Britain still had no bread rationing altho there is no more white bread. The basic British ration of meat, held to a cost rather than a weight basis, is about 23 cents a week, while the allowance in fats is eight ounces, of which not more than two ounces can be butter.]

Action Is Explained.

The German radio, in a lengthy broadcast on the food situation that required tighter rationing, attributed the action to the increased number of heavy workers in war industries, longer working hours, the incorporation of 1,000,000 German nationals from other countries, and the requirements of foreign workmen and millions of war prisoners.

"In addition, the reich supplied allied states and occupied regions with considerable quantities of foodstuffs," the explanation ran.

"The new rationing became necessary to safeguard the nation's food for a long time to come, since the harvests of 1940 and 1941 have been of average size only as a result of unfavorable weather."

PROMISE SAFETY TO SWEDISH SHIP WITH DIPLOMATS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 19 (AP).—All belligerents have guaranteed safe passage of the Swedish liner Drottningholm, which has been chartered by the United States to exchange American and axis diplomats, the Swedish foreign office reported today.

The American-Swedish news exchange said the Drottningholm, now at Goteborg, Sweden, would be ready to sail for the United States in about two weeks.

The ship then is scheduled to take German and Italian diplomats and journalists to Lisbon, return Americans home, and subsequently to take Japanese diplomats to Portuguese East Africa for exchange.

BRAZIL ARRESTS CHIEF OF FOREIGN 'NAZI GUERRILLAS'

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, March 19 (AP).—Arrest of Otto Brautzek, identified as a German army officer and "chief of the Nazi society of German guerrillas in foreign countries," was announced today as the roundup of fifth columnists was hastened thruout Brazil.

Brautzek and two other Germans were seized in the state of Parahyba, the coast of which includes Brazil's easternmost points. Police said incriminating papers taken from the Germans included "plans for espionage, a German map of the state, and prohibited photographs." Other arrests were reported in the southern state of Rio Grande do Sul.

The raids followed announcement of an undisclosed number of Japanese in the state of Sao Paulo.

Japs Protest Seizures.

TOKIO, March 19 [From Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Domei news agency reported today that the Japanese government had protested to the Brazilian government against recent anti-Japanese demonstrations and the presidential decree confiscating a part of assets of axis nationals in Brazil. The Brazilian government was warned, Domei said, that it would be held responsible for any developments likely to arise.

YOU MUST VISIT DRAFT BOARD TO OBTAIN NUMBERS

Local draft boards will not answer mail nor telephone questions concerning serial or order numbers of men in Tuesday's draft lottery, Col. Louis A. Boening, assistant state director of selective service announced yesterday.

"This would interfere with the work of induction and examination," Col. Boening said. "Any one who wishes to learn his serial number should visit the local board and consult the lists."

Furthermore, Col. Boening said, local boards will not be able to give official order numbers until the official master list arrives from Washington in 10 days.

LONDON PAPER WARNED IT MAY BE SUPPRESSED

Minister Objects to Policy of Criticism.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 19.—Freedom of the press became an issue in the house of commons today when Home Minister Herbert Morrison announced he had threatened the tabloid Daily Mirror with suppression. The Mirror has been caustically critical of the government's conduct of the war.

Morrison's chief complaint concerned a cartoon which showed seamen from a torpedoed tanker on a raft under the caption, "The Price of Petrol Has Been Raised a Penny."

Morrison charged the cartoon was conducive to defeatism and calculated to be discouraging to seamen and others serving their country, because it suggested seamen risk their lives for the profit of others.

Called "Evil Example."

Morrison declared the cartoon was "only one example, but a particularly evil one" of the Mirror's policy, which he charged is "intent on exploiting the appetite for sensation with reckless indifference to the national interest."

Morrison also objected to an editorial which said:

"The accepted tip for army leadership would, in plain words, be this: All who aspire to mislead others in war should be brass buttoned boneheads, socially prejudiced, arrogant, and fussy. A tendency to heart disease, apoplexy, diabetes, and high blood pressure is desirable in the highest spots."

Told to Change Policy.

The minister said the paper had been warned under defense regulation "2-D" which he defined as covering "not only overt or disguised incitements to refrain from helping the war effort on the grounds, for example, of a war waged for unworthy ends, but also the publication of matter fomenting opposition to the prosecution of the war by depressing public support of the war effort, poisoning the springs of national loyalty, and creating a spirit of despair and defeatism." He said the paper was warned that unless it changed its policy it would be closed.

H. G. Bartholomew, the Mirror's editorial director, issued, but later withdrew, a statement which said the paper would not change its policy.

The danger that the right of public opinion is being impinged upon "fills some of those who venture to criticize the government with alarm and despondency," declared Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite.

Air Corps Recruit

Sherry Dare, member of one of the oldest Chinese families in the country, was sworn into the army air corps yesterday after special permission was received from the war department. Ordinarily, neither Japanese nor Chinese are taken into this branch of the service, even if they were born in the United States. In Dare's case, corps officers asked and received permission. He is a graduate of Senn High school and attended Dubuque, Ia., college, where he was on the football and track squads. His father is chef at the Adventurers' club. Dare's home is at 4538 Kenmore avenue.

2 SOLDIER SONS USE 3-WAY PHONE TO GREET MOTHER

Mrs. Esther James celebrated her 57th birth anniversary last night by talking by long distance telephone with her two soldier sons, Benjamin, 35 years old, and John, 23.

Benjamin, recently returned from the Philippines, was in Bremerton, Wash., and John talked from San Francisco, Cal. By arranging a conference call Mrs. James and her sons were able to carry on a three cornered conversation.

After a burst of greetings the two soldiers assured their mother that they "were swell and having a wonderful time." Brothers Wilfred, 31, and George, 33, and sisters Helen and Mary joined in the exchange of greetings from the family home at 1114 Altgeld street. Then the father, Y. L. James, joined the conversation to tell his sons:

"Come home heroes with a victory."

CONGRESSIONAL MEDAL OF HONOR TO HAWAII HERO

Newport, R. I., March 19 (AP).—For heroism above and beyond the call of duty during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, Lieut. Comm. Samuel G. Fuqua, U. S. N., today received the congressional medal of honor, the highest recognition the nation can make of bravery.

The citation signed by President Roosevelt which said in part:

"Upon the commencement of the attack, Lieut. Comm. Fuqua rushed to the quarterdeck of the Arizona, to which he was attached, where he was stunned and knocked down by the explosion of a large bomb which hit the quarterdeck.

"Upon regaining consciousness, he began to direct the fighting of the fire and the rescue of wounded and injured personnel. Almost immediately there was a tremendous explosion forward, which made the ship settle down by the bow rapidly.

"After realizing the ship could not be saved and that he was the senior surviving officer aboard, he directed it to be abandoned, but continued to remain on the quarterdeck and directed abandoning ship and rescue of personnel until satisfied that all personnel that could be had been saved, after which he left his ship with the last boatload."

Lack of Unified Command Blamed for Fall of France

RIOM, France, March 19 (AP).—Lack of a unified command was one of the reasons for France's defeat, the Riom war guilt court was told today. Gen. Pierre Hering, formerly military governor of Paris, said the main trouble was poor organization and lack of coordination between the different arms.

FEAR VIERECK MIGHT FLEE ON U-BOAT IF HE IS RELEASED ON BOND

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Government attorneys declared today that a German U-boat might try to rescue George Sylvester Viereck, convicted pro-German propagandist, if he is released from jail pending an appeal.

Opposing Viereck's motion for release on bond, Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge and William Power Maloney, filed a brief in District court saying:

"Transportation is not lacking for those whom the Nazi government values so highly. Daily in the press we read of submarines lurking off our shores within reach."

CHANGE ADOPTED IN WAR POWERS BILL BY SENATE

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—The senate completed congressional action on the "second war powers bill" today by agreeing to elimination of compensation benefits for civilian defense workers, such as air raid wardens, who are injured while on duty.

The house had objected to inclusion of this provision, contending the question should be considered in separate legislation.

The first war powers act was speeded thru congress last December. It reënacted many statutes of the last war, including espionage laws and similar measures. The present measure was described by administration officials as bringing the older law up to date to meet conditions of modern warfare.

AUSTRALIA WAR ENVOY SEES JAP BREAK-UP THERE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19 (AP).—Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs, said today, "When the Japanese attack Australia and New Zealand, that will be the beginning of the end for Japan."

Evatt is en route to Washington, D. C., "to confer with President Roosevelt and his military and naval advisers with a view to knocking out this 'yellow fellow,' the Jap." With him was his fellow countryman, Richard G. Casey, newly appointed minister of state to represent the British war cabinet in the middle east.

They said the appointment of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander of united nations forces in the southwest Pacific was extremely popular in Australia.

"With MacArthur as the leader," Dr. Evatt continued, "I know we will lick the Japanese and the Germans. We are 100 per cent with him.

"There has been much talk about the offensive, but the Australians in this war have done nothing but take the offensive. To succeed we must have supplies and equipment, which I know we will get."

Four Killed by Explosion on Boat in Oslo Harbor

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 19.—Four persons were killed and two were injured severely by an explosion today aboard a small motorboat in Oslo harbor.

ENTER FLAT; ROB FAMILY.

Mayer Turchen, a retired jeweler, told police last night that three armed men, representing themselves as telegraph messengers, entered his apartment at 4748 North Harding avenue and robbed him, his mother, Hannah, and his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, of $300 in cash and $750 worth of jewelry.

U. S. DESTROYER OUT OF WATER IN DRYDOCK WHEN BOMBED BY JAPS

Oakland, Cal., March 19 (AP).—The United States destroyer Shaw was in drydock, 20 feet out of water, when it was bombed by Japanese raiders at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, its commander Lieut. Comm. W. G. Jones, revealed today in an address before the Rotary club.

Two hits forward and one on the bridge, scored by two out of seven dive bombers in the third and last Japanese wave, burst fuel tanks and the burning oil set fire to the blocks beneath the ship, Jones said. The flames touched off the forward magazine of small caliber ammunition and blew the bow to pieces.

Following emergency repairs and installation of a makeshift bow which resembled a scow, the destroyer returned to the United States under its own power, Jones said, doing convoy duty on the way.

Schools Asked to Enlist Pupils in Salvage Drive

Dr. John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction, yesterday requested all school principals and superintendents in Illinois to enlist every school child in a campaign to salvage materials needed for war production. According to Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director, the campaign would put more than 3,000,000 boys and girls to work "searching attics, basements, barns, and fields" for the materials.

TAKE $40 FROM BAKER.

Move to Revoke Tavern License After Slaying

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday recommended revocation of the liquor license issued to Mrs. Josephine Bukowski and Everett Sprinkle, owners of a tavern at 4321 South Halsted street, on charges of selling liquor to minors. Robert Bonnett, 19 years old, 530 West 43d street, was fatally shot during a brawl in the tavern Wednesday morning. Clem Euratis, 49 years old, a bartender, who shot Bonnett, is held on recommendation of a coroner's jury.

STOOL FACTORY FIRE DAMAGE, $4,000.

NOW WE KNOW WHAT "TOTAL WAR" MEANS ...AND WE'RE FOR IT!

LIKE MOST AMERICANS, we didn't understand what total war means.

We had a vague idea that it meant "going all out" . . . throwing everything we have into the battlefield. Now we realize that total war means more than that . . . it means sacrifice, inconvenience, and hard work for each and every one of us.

For example, on March 6, the Government issued an order prohibiting the sale of any typewriter, standard or portable, new, used, or rebuilt, to the general public!

And on March 15, in agreement with the Government, we have drastically curtailed the manufacture of portable typewriters, and our future portable production is designated for use only by the armed forces.

Also, beginning March 15th, the production of standard typewriters has been sharply reduced, and such standard machines as we build in the future will go only to Government agencies, to the armed forces, or to manufacturers of war supplies.

As a result of these changes, we shall now be able to increase our actual war production. All of the resources of the Royal Typewriter Company, as much as possible of our skilled labor, every available inch of our floor space, are being converted to the manufacture of ordnance!

THIS, WE NOW REALIZE, is the true meaning of total war . . . and we are for it, lock, stock, and barrel! We are proud of the fact that the Royal Typewriter Company has been called upon to halt its normal business in mid-air and to "go all out" for the defense of Democracy.

We believe that every manufacturer in the United States whose facilities can be used for wartime production will feel the same way. "Business as usual" has no place in the scheme of total war. It may be an inconvenience to you, may even be a sacrifice on your part, to have to do without a new Royal Typewriter. But . . . if the Axis powers were to win this war, it would be a long, long time before you could buy any new typewriter!

By manufacturing ordnance now, Royal is hastening the day when you, a free man living in a free country, can once more walk into any store in the land and buy anything you want!

THAT, AS WE SEE IT, IS WHAT THIS WAR IS ALL ABOUT!

PRIVATE FLYERS VOLUNTEER FOR BATTLE ON SUBS

Indorse Plans to Patrol Atlantic Coast.

More than 100 Chicago sportsmen pilots have volunteered in the last 48 hours to serve in a light plane anti-submarine patrol along the Atlantic coast where axis submarines are carrying the war to beaches and harbors, Ben Regan, chairman of the Illinois Aero commission, said here yesterday.

"Pilots in this state appear to believe almost unanimously that submarine dangers are greater off our immediate coasts than in the combat waters around Britain," Regan said. "They urge formation of such a patrol."

Comparable to Dunkirk.

Regan said one pilot declared that this is just as much a crisis as at Dunkirk where Britain's amateur yachtsmen, fishermen, and pleasure boat owners saved the day. The airmen said that putting into service the 25,000 to 30,000 flivver planes in this country would bring submarine activities virtually to a halt.

"All flyers to whom I have talked," Regan said, "say they believe the axis submarine packs operating off the Atlantic coastline can be stopped by a light plane patrol and that continued sinkings would constitute not only a tremendous but needless waste of American shipping.

"The idea of a flivver plane anti-submarine patrol simultaneously sprang into the minds of many men and women pilots as soon as the subs started to operate in American waters, my conversations with flyers have revealed. The pilots say they are convinced the proposal is sound."

Proposed by Canadian Pilot.

First public expression of the proposal was made in THE TRIBUNE's Voice of the People on Wednesday morning when Harold A. McGrath, World War I. Canadian pilot, urged the use of 50 mile an hour patrol ships equipped with depth bombs and radio. McGrath suggested the plotting of 50 mile segments of the coast extending 50 to 75 miles out to sea and day and night patrols over such zones by flivver planes.

"This patrol proposal is not one for a state authority," Regan said. "I have been telling volunteers who communicate with us to see their civilian air patrol leaders or get in touch with Adm. Adolphus Andrews of the Brooklyn navy yard who has just been appointed commander of the eastern sea frontier with the job of suppressing the submarines."

Green Proclaims April 6 as Army Day in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., March 19 (AP).—Illinois will join the nation April 6 in celebrating Army day. The day was proclaimed officially today by Gov. Dwight Green, who said events of the present war "give fresh significance to Army day and a new meaning to the planned observances of the occasion." The governor's proclamation requested that "on this day the United States flag be displayed on all public buildings thruout the state, and at the homes of our citizens generally."

Chops Down 9 Power Poles Company Refused to Move

Elkhart, Ind., March 19 (AP).—Nick Rostowski, 38 year old Chicago butcher who owns a 94 acre farm northwest of here, has been trying for three years to get the Fruit Belt Electric company to remove utility poles standing on his land. Today Deputy Sheriff R. J. Mann reported Rostowski had become impatient with legal delays and had chopped down nine of the poles.

CAPTAIN TELLS HEROIC FIGHT OF MEN AGAINST SEA

92 Lose Lives in Disaster of Navy Ship Pollux.

Washington, D. C., March 19 [Special].—The loss of 92 officers and men and the survivors' heroic fight for their lives against a raging sea, snow, gale winds, and freezing temperatures were recounted today in an official report of the disaster to the naval stores ship Pollux off the Newfoundland coast Feb. 18.

New names were added to the roster of navy heroes in the report by Comm. Hugh W. Turney of the Pollux. His ship and the destroyer Truxton ran aground in Placentia bay during a terrific storm. The navy previously had reported on the Truxton, from which 97 officers and men were lost.

Battle Waves All Day.

The Pollux ran aground before dawn and by daylight was beginning to crack, Turner disclosed. All day long the struggle of the men to reach the safety of the rocky shore a few yards away went on while waves battered the vessel to pieces. Not until about 24 hours after the ship struck was the rescue operation completed.

The first futile attempt to reach shore was made by Isaac H. Strauss, quartermaster third class, of New York City, who tried to go hand over hand on an untested line secured to a rock by a grapnel hook.

Then Alfred M. Dupuy, storekeeper third class, of Powederly, Ala., swam ashore and managed to make secure a line with which rescue operations could be started.

"Finally, a whaleboat was put over and one officer and four men carrying a line and emergency equipment completed a successful landing in a small cove after a very treacherous passage," the report said.

"After one attempt it was obvious that the ferrying of a life raft by use of this line was impossible because of wreckage, fuel oil, and the weakened condition of the other side. By this time the ship had been driven to within 20 feet of a ledge of rock."

Ship Begins to Break Up.

The ship began to break in halves about this time, it listed sharply and the afterpart, where all the men were located, seemed about to capsize. Turner told the crew that those who wanted to try to swim or float to shore on wreckage could do so.

About 90 men went overboard. Of that group a sufficient number reached land to assist in what the commanding officer called "the final operation that effected the rescue of the remainder of the crew" by a boatswain's chair.

"The major number of those who did not survive were lost at this time," the report said, altho it was not made clear exactly how they were lost.

ASK FILIPINO TROOPS BE PAID THE SAME RATE AS U. S. ARMY

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—On recommendation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson suggested to congress today that legislation be enacted raising the pay of officers and enlisted men in the Philippine scouts and the Philippine commonwealth army to the level for the United States army.

The pay for officers of the Philippine scouts now is the same as for United States army officers, but the salary for enlisted men in the scouts is below that paid United States army men. The Philippine legislature set the rates of pay for the commonwealth army. The Philippine army now is in service of the United States armed forces, Stimson said.

given out contrary to the navy's usual policy of not announcing names by authority of the Jugo-Slavian minister, naval officials explained.

Capt. Stanko Marochini said the ship was "attacked without warning about 10:30 a. m. by a cruiser sub, the largest I have ever seen, apparently German."

Apprentice Is Hero.

A 22 year old apprentice officer, Zvonimir Jurisic, leaped into the water and saved several shipmates who could not swim and also made possible the escape of 24 others by freeing the lifeboat from fouled gear.

"A lot of men were being washed overboard and a lot of them could not swim," Jurisic said.

"So I just had to jump in after them and help them out. It was an hour before we had them all picked up."

Gustav Anderson, 29 year old fourth officer, said the submarine circled the lifeboats 90 minutes.

"We could see the officers on her but they paid no attention to us. You would never know we were there from the way they ignored us."

The third mate, named Vojkuzic, and second engineer, Mate Povic, are believed to have been crushed to death against the side of the ship by a lifeboat which became entangled in its own landing gear, the captain reported.

Stipe Orbic, a fireman, and Benedikt Cziskowsky, a trimmer, apparently were killed in the engine room when the first torpedo struck.

TANKER'S CREW IN N. Y.

New York, March 19 (AP).—Thirty-four members of the crew of a Norwegian tanker torpedoed off the Bahamas arrived here tonight from Miami, where they were landed. Four members of the crew, including Capt. Knute O. Bringedahl, were left in Miami for hospital treatment.

The tanker crewmen said two torpedoes smashed into their ship, the first explosion killing one man. The submarine then shelled the vessel, killing another man.

They said their ship was sent to the bottom at 8:25 p. m., March 5, by shell fire about 12 hours after the first of two torpedoes struck. Three times during the day, survivors said, the captain and several crew members boarded the ship, after first abandoning it, and radioed for help.

Toward evening two submarines broke the surface and shelled the ship. The captain and his boarding party were injured then by flying splinters, and left the ship.

Sub Guides Lifeboat.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 19 (AP).—Three Canadian survivors of a small allied ship torpedoed in the Atlantic said today the commander of the U-boat offered them food and water and then directed their lifeboat toward the South American coast. The men, Frank Shaw, Dan Nolan, and H. Glendillon, were picked up by a ship two days after the torpedoing.

Two Swim 24 Hours.

CARTAGENA, Colombia, March 19 (AP).—The newspaper Diario de la Costa said today that Bob Smither and Patrick Coleman, survivors of a North American ship torpedoed off Cuba March 12, arrived here yesterday aboard a Panamanian ship which picked them up after they swam for 24 hours.

HERE LIES A SPOOK

Born March 3, 1942. Kicked the bucket a few days later. The beginning and end of the so-called "Victory Suit"!

Actually, it never existed at all. This scarecrow phantom was never anything more than a minor nightmare, dreamed up by someone in a moment of fumbling patriotism.

Oh! yes—you've squirmed through movie shots of funny looking men wearing coats that fit like sausage casings. You've read about trousers built to cover nothing heftier than a pipe stem. The radio has probably spoiled your dinner with ghost stories about skeletons stripped of all lapels. But have you actually seen these atrocities in circulation?

Of course not—and you're not going to, either! Take that on the word of Uncle Sam. Digest this, from the Government's Official Release—"the ordered style revisions will not materially change the appearance of a suit or overcoat from those now being worn. The only noticeable change in a suit will be the absence of trouser cuffs. In that respect, civilian trousers will merely follow the trend of military uniforms and formal dress trousers, which are cuffless".

Right now, the only suit worthy of the name "Victory" is that buckskin outfit worn by the Minute-Man on Defense Bond posters. Let's keep on loading his rifle 'til it gets red hot. That's where our dollars should go—instead of foolishly rushing to beat those cockeyed rumors about screwy styles.

So much then, for the not-lamented "Victory Suit". May it rest in peace!

KNOX HAMPERING SHIP PROGRAM, CHARGE IN SENATE

Sea Otter, Challenge to Subs, Held Up by Navy.

robber but proudly proclaimed he was no thief. . . . Whatever wrong there was in this [deal] may have been the wrong in a daylight robbery, but there was no element of deception in it."

The most amazing aspect of the Sea Otter scandal, according to the senate investigators, is the fact that the navy department itself hailed the revolutionary cargo vessel in the most extravagant terms last Sept. 18.

Called Challenge to Subs.

"Conceived by daring minds and carried to completion with the active, insistent help of President Roosevelt, the new ship . . . will challenge the submarine and provide a new bridge from this country to the free nations of the world," said an official navy department announcement.

The same statement said the new ship was constructed despite all objections, "due to the intense interest of the President and Secretary of the Navy Knox."

The navy announced at the same time that Ships, Inc., a government corporation, had been formed to develop the Sea Otter with backing of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Secretary Knox was named as president of Ships, Inc. Directors included Powell, Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, and Claude E. Hamilton, general counsel of the RFC.

Tested by Its Designer.

The Levingston Shipbuilding company of Orange, Tex., built "Sea Otter II., as the first full size vessel was called, under a contract with Ships, Inc. It was completed in 90 days. A number of changes in design were made during its construction.

The original designer of the vessel, Commander Hamilton Bryan, a retired naval officer, had nothing to do with its construction, but when it was completed he took it on a deep sea run to Charleston, S. C.

A navy trial board was sent to Charleston to inspect Sea Otter II. The board made certain criticisms and recommended minor changes in design. That was early in December, about the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, and nothing more was heard of Sea Otter II. until the senate naval affairs committee received information that Knox and other officials of the navy department were sabotaging the project.

Chairman David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] appointed a subcommittee, consisting of Chairman Gillette and Senators Peter G. Gerry [D., R. I.] and Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.], to investigate the charges.

Turned Over to Designer.

In the midst of the senate investigation, President Roosevelt last week sent for Knox and told him to put the future development of the Sea Otter in the friendly hands of its designer, Commander Bryan. Commander Bryan, who is back on active duty, was called to Washington last Saturday and told by Knox to go ahead with the Sea Otter. "From now on its your baby," Knox said.

According to the senate investigators, however, Knox, Powell, and Adm. Robinson immediately set out to prejudice officials in other government agencies against the Sea Otter. First they had lunch with Donald M. Nelson, War Production board director, who was urged to give the Sea Otter no steel priority rating, the investigation reported. Next they called in Adm. Land and assured him the Sea Otter was a complete flop.

Whe Sen. Brewster heard about this activity on the part of the navy department officials, the subcommittee said he went to Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somerville, new chief of the army's service of supply, in the hope that perhaps the army could be interested in the Sea Otter. Gen. Somerville told Brewster he was too late—he had been assured by Howard L. Vickery, vice chairman of the Maritime commission, Somerville said, that the Sea Otter was no good.

'PRE-INDUCTION' TRAINING GIVEN STIMSON'S O. K.

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson gave approval today to "preinduction" training of men in colleges and local communities, but stressed that additional military equipment and instructors can not be spared from the armed forces for the purpose.

The war secretary announced an undertaking to give enlisted men an opportunity to carry on correspondence courses thru an army institute established at Madison, Wis., and 80 coöperating universities and colleges.

In a letter to President Charles Seymour of Yale university, released at a press conference, Stimson advised that colleges could help the war effort by helping develop leadership of students and by technical training which would help a student in military service.

Stimson specified that the colleges could help develop a capacity for clear and accurate expression, for mathematical computations, familiarity with exact science, and with maps and charts, and by building sound physiques.

Controversy Over 'Sea Otter' Ships

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., March 19.—War against the Union Now movement was declared today by the 46th annual conference of the Illinois Daughters of the American Revolution. Both state and national conferences have previously expressed opposition to the plan whereby English speaking democracies would join in perpetual union.

Today, however, the 500 delegates state that the plan, if successful, would mean "abolishment of our own constitution and bill of rights, our American flag, and our free and independent republic."

The convention voted "actively to campaign against the organization of units of 'Union Now' in our state and in our respective communities . . . by educating an uninformed public with every means at our command, including protests to our representatives and senators against this menace."

Establishment of a DAR scholarship at the University of Illinois with income from $7,500 worth of government bonds was approved.

Treasury Plans to Change Defense to 'War' Bonds

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Treasury officials said today they were considering changing the name of defense bonds and stamps to war savings bonds and stamps. July 1 has been suggested as a convenient date for the change over. A factor is how long it would take to use up the old bonds and stamps.

SALES OF TROUSERS WITH CUFFS TO END MONDAY, MARCH 30

Note this one on your cuff. After March 30 no retailer of men's clothing may sell a pair of trousers with cuffs on them even if they have been hanging in his shop a year waiting for a customer.

The War Production Board ruled yesterday that the prohibition against the use of trouser cuffs applies to all suits in retailers' stocks. The pieces of cloth remaining after the pants legs have been trimmed to size are to be saved for some undisclosed war use, it was said.

The only exceptions to the rule will be on a small percentage of trousers with cuffs which are not altered by the retailers. Custom tailors are permitted to make trousers with cuffs until May 30.

After March 30 men's clothing manufacturers will not be permitted to make vests for double breasted suits and will have to eliminate various frills to save wool. It was said that double breasted suits already made may be sold with the vests.

BOMBERS GUARD PANAMA CANAL FROM GUATEMALA

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, March 19 (AP).—United States bombing planes are carrying out important patrols in defense of Central America and the Panama Canal from an air base "somewhere in Guatemala." Their base was established with the coöperation of the Guatemalan government which, like other Central American republics, declared war upon the axis powers after Dec. 7.

Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, heading the Caribbean defense command, has just completed an inspection of the base accompanied by American newspaper men. At the field, Guatemalan workmen were busy improving facilities and constructing quarters for ground troops who will guard the base. Morale was high and the bomber crews were keyed for action.

The airmen have studied all possible methods of attacks which the axis might launch by sea or air, with a view to halting any such assault before it reaches the shores of this hemisphere. Incoming reconnaissance patrols daily engage in mock warfare with fighter planes so the bomber and pursuit pilots may gain experience. Guatemalan air corps planes are based on the same field.

Dental X-Rays to Combat Delays on Defense Work

Rockford, Ill., March 19 [Special].—Plans have been made by the Woodward Governor company and the Winnebago County Dental society for dental X-rays of all employés of the company, a defense industry. The program is designed to reduce delays thru illness. X-rays will be turned over to the workers' dentists, with complete diagnoses.

Better get Service that
CONSERVES YOUR CAR!

Get Regular Service According to Factory Standards to Make Sure Your Car Lasts as Long as It Should

You need the help of someone who knows your automobile, its special needs and requirements and how the factory meant it to be cared for.

For example: Maybe your Buick should have a new oil filter element about now. There are six definite steps to be followed if this is replaced by standard equipment filters. Five entirely different things must be watched if other equipment is used.

Our service Conserves Your Car by knowing what to do and how to do it—and by doing it in time. Can you be sure of as much elsewhere?

Better not take chances. Attention by our authorized factory-trained mechanics costs no more than good work anywhere. Provided regularly, once a month or so, it helps prevent many troubles, and so saves annoyance, money, loss of efficiency and unnecessary wear.

COME IN FOR A FREE CHECK-UP by authorized factory-trained mechanics

We make no charge for a check-up on your car by authorized factory-trained mechanics. Drop in for one soon, and let us explain C-Y-C Service in detail.

HAD YOUR SPRING COOLING CHECKUP?

Engine efficiency, and with it gas and oil mileage, calls for a cooling system that functions properly in all seasons and all parts. Just flushing the radiator is only part of the job.

Now is also the time to drain out worn winter oil, refill with the proper spring and summer oils, give the chassis a spring lubrication, change transmission and differential lubricants.

COMFORT WAITS JAP EVACUEES; MOVE MONDAY

First Group Includes 800 from Coast States.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—The first group of approximately 115,000 alien and native born Japanese ordered evacuated from west coast states and Arizona will be moved Monday to the first reception center made ready for their occupancy.

Eight hundred Japanese from southern California will make up the contingent to be taken to the army-selected community near Manzanar, 275 miles northeast of Los Angeles, where a maximum of 10,000 evacuees will be accommodated.

Self-Centered Community.

The reception center will have little, if any, similarity to Europe's concentration camps. It will be a self-sufficient community with a motion picture theater, community kitchens, a 150 bed hospital staffed by Japanese doctors and nurses, a library, and houses of worship for all denominations, including Buddhism.

The Japanese will live in prefabricated houses of various sizes, in accordance with the army's assurance that families will not be separated. The possibility of developing gardens, small industries, and commercial fish hatcheries in the area has been suggested by R. L. Nicholson, assistant WPA commissioner for 11 western states.

The center will be managed by C. E. Tripp, former WPA official, under the direction of Lieut. Gen. J. L. Dewitt, chief of the 4th army and the western defense command.

First Are Volunteers.

Tom C. Clark, special assistant to the United States attorney general and head of the wartime civilian control authority, previously had announced in San Francisco that the first occupants of the center would be Japanese who voluntarily departed from strategic military areas.

The exodus now ready to start is from a wide border of the Pacific coast extending 95 to 250 miles inland and reaching along the Arizona-Mexico border which has been designated by the army as military area No. 1. It includes about half the states of Washington, Oregon, California, and Arizona.

After the Japanese have been moved, Germans and Italians are expected to be ordered out in a continuing evacuation affecting perhaps 200,000 people. Gen. Dewitt has said the forbidden area "is particularly subject to attack, to attempted invasion, and is subject to espionage and acts of sabotage."

Open Farm Offices.

In the government's determination to maintain full production from vegetable and farm lands operated by Japanese facing ouster, the wartime farm adjustment unit of the Farm Credit administration has opened two offices in Los Angeles.

These offices, as well as about 50 others being opened in various parts of California, Oregon, Washington, and Arizona, have a twofold purpose.

One is to aid Japanese in arranging their affairs so they can safeguard their assets and move voluntarily from the restricted area before the army issues final evacuation orders. The other is to aid qualified American farmers to take over Japanese operated farms and help them obtain a financial credit for that task.

De Paul Course for Stewardesses

26 Attend Class

De Paul university opened a course last night for prospective airline stewardesses in its downtown college of liberal arts, 64 East Lake street, with 26 girls attending. When the course is completed a year from now some of the girls will be eligible for jobs in the skies while others will study still another year to meet the requirements of other airlines. It is the first such course to be given in the United States, according to Dean Howard E. Egan of the university.

The girls will meet four nights a week, studying such courses as English composition, survey of literature, modern fiction, physiology and health, general psychology, contemporary American culture, training the speaking voice, social geography of the United States, and social business etiquette.

Airline stewardesses are no longer required to be graduate nurses. All the girls in the class have daytime jobs—some as stenographers, some as clerks or cashiers. Two are professional models and one is a graduate nurse seeking further training. All are paying their tuition for the course from their weekly pay checks.

JAMES A. FRASER ASKS A DIVORCE IN COUNTER SUIT

James A. Fraser, a metallurgical engineer, who was sued for separate maintenance in the Lake county Circuit court in Waukegan by his wife, Jean, of Valley road, Bannockburn, filed a cross bill for divorce yesterday. He denied her charges of cruelty, in turn accusing her of cruelty.

Shortly after their marriage in Wellsburg, W. Va., in 1932, Fraser charged, his wife assaulted him with household missiles. In May, 1935, he alleged, she threw a butcher knife at him, and in July 1939, a telephone. Three times last year, he asserted, she struck and scratched him and tore his clothes, causing him to leave her Dec. 26.

Fraser asked custody of their children, Jean, 7 years old, and Mary Ann, 3, which she also asks. He placed his income at $650 a month, plus bonuses, a slightly lower figure than Mrs. Fraser had named.

Mrs. Fraser in her bill charged Fraser with cruel and antagonistic treatment, vilification, and nonsupport since Christmas. Her suit was filed Feb. 2.

Nine Minute Earthquake Recorded at University

An earthquake of severe intensity was recorded for nine minutes yesterday on the University of Chicago seismograph. Dr. Helmut Landsberg, associate professor of meteorology, in charge of the station, placed the location tentatively at about 2,200 miles northwest. This would place the center of the temblor in the Canadian Rockies. The quake was recorded from 7:06 to 7:15 a. m.

FBI TURNS OVER ALIEN INVENTOR TO ARMY CARE

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Antoine Gazda, 47 years old, an Austrian inventor and munitions salesman, has been released from Ellis Island, where he was held as an enemy alien, to the custody of the army, the justice department said today.

Describing the case as unique, a justice department spokesman said the army had requested the action because of Gazda's activities as a gunmaker and because his inventions were regarded as important to the war effort.

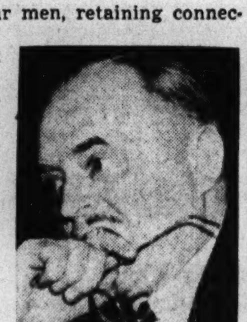
Gazda was taken into custody by agents of the federal bureau of investigation in New York on Dec. 9. He had come to this country a year ago. He is said to hold exclusive manufacturing rights here of the rapid firing Oerlikon gun, developed in Switzerland.

GUTHRIE BLAMES $1 YEAR MEN FOR LAG IN WAR WORK

Tells of Clashes in WPB Over Private Interests.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Robert R. Guthrie at House Hearing. [(AP) wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—Dollar a year men, retaining connections with private enterprise and attempting to serve the government at the same time, have been responsible for serious breakdowns in the nation's war effort, Robert R. Guthrie, former War Production board official, told congress today. He charged that many of these officials consistently have blocked attempts to convert to a wartime basis the industries in which they have a personal interest.

Guthrie rocked the administration's war program Saturday when he resigned as chief of the WPB textiles, clothing, and leather goods section. Two of his aides—George P. Doherty, executive assistant, and Marshall Hale, deputy chief of the branch—walked out with him, precipitating widespread demands for a full inquiry into the circumstances surrounding their resignations.

Administration Keeps Mum.

The three were the first witnesses today before a subcommittee of the house military affairs committee as a congressional investigation got under way. The administration is maintaining official silence, altho it is known that Donald Nelson, head of WPB, who accepted the resignations, has ordered his own inquiry.

Guthrie, who was before the committee most of the day, declared bluntly that his resignation was forced by difficulties with other WPB officials representing the radio, refrigerator, wool, cotton duck, and nylon industries. They fought every attempt to curtail manufacturing for civilian use in the interest of increased arms production, Guthrie charged, and gradually deprived him of authority over his branch of the war program.

Silenced by Nelson's Stand.

Before submitting his resignation, Guthrie testified, he tried in vain to present his side of the case to Nelson. According to Guthrie, Nelson said he already knew the story and felt obligated to uphold his bureau chiefs in any dispute.

Guthrie—who is plump and baldish, with a thin, sandy mustache—spoke calmly of his misadventures with WPB, explaining that the first flareup followed his order that aluminum for civilian radio manufacture be shut off at the end of February. Next he ordered an end of civilian refrigerator production for March 31, to be followed by conversion of refrigerator plants to arms manufacture.

Guthrie charged that both moves were opposed strongly by Philip Reed, head of the bureau of industry branch of WPB and chairman of the board of General Electric company. Guthrie noted that General Electric makes both radios and refrigerators.

Demoted in Rank.

Attempts to conserve wool for military needs and bring about conversion of the textile industry met with the same lack of success, Guthrie continued. Officials under him became openly insubordinate, he said, when he sought to spread contracts more widely thruout the industry and break a jam of orders held by large concerns.

Meanwhile he had been reduced in rank from assistant chief of the bureau of industry branch to head of the textile, clothing, and leather goods section.

As those chiefly responsible for blocking his efforts to convert the textile industry, he named A. J. Price, WPB adviser on textile matters; Kenneth Marriner, chief of the wool section, and Frank Walton, head of the textile section. All are dollar a year men "loaned to the government by textile manufacturing firms with which they still are connected," the witness said.

Guthrie urged that the service of dollar-a-year men in the war effort be limited to expert advice on questions pertaining to materials and production.

SKIDMORE READY TO BEGIN 2½ YEAR TAX TERM TODAY

William R. [Billy] Skidmore, reputed payoff man for syndicate gambling, said yesterday that he will surrender to the United States marshal today to begin serving a sentence of two and one-half years in prison for evading income tax payments of $347,509 for 1937 and 1938. Unsuccessful in an appeal to the United States Supreme court and refused probation, Skidmore a month ago was allowed 30 days by Judge Philip L. Sullivan to get his business affairs in order. He operates a junk yard at 2840 South Kedzie avenue.

It costs us more to make

but we mean to keep it worthy of this signature

THE man who first made Old Taylor fought to have bottled in bond standards written into federal law.

And no other kind of whiskey has ever been made in the Old Taylor distillery.

It costs money to make such whiskey. There's no short cut to age or excellence. These can be obtained only through art and skill, and the passage of time, investment in barrels and bonded warehouses.

It costs more money to bottle at full 100 proof, for it means that more whiskey and less water go into every bottle.

Of course we use the finest grains, the highest distilling standards.

And according to bottled in bond regulations, only the whiskey made in a single distillery can go into a bottle. We wouldn't add any other kind, even if we could.

The result is a bourbon so fine that men gladly pay more for it, as you will be glad to, once you try it.

SEEKS WINCHELL CONTEMPT RULE IN DILLING CASE

Husband, Lawyer, Press Agent Also Accused.

Notice was given yesterday to Judge Rudolph Desort in the Superior court that he will be asked for a rule to show cause why Walter Winchell, columnist and radio commentator, and three Chicagoans should not be held in contempt of court in connection with the Dilling divorce case.

The notice was served by Theodore W. Miller, attorney for Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network," who was sued for divorce on Feb. 27 by her husband, Albert W. Dilling, lawyer-engineer.

Miller's petition, a copy of which Judge Desort directed be served on opposing counsel, will charge that Dilling's divorce suit contained false and slanderous accusations which were made as the result of a conspiracy among Winchell, Dilling, Dilling's counsel, Maurice T. Weinshenk, and Howard Mayer, public relations counsel, named as Winchell's Chicago representative.

Drug, Liquor Addiction Charged.

The charges which are the basis of the petition were that Mrs. Dilling was a user of drugs and liquor, and that she had been guilty of improper language and other misconduct. These statements were repeated by Winchell in a nationwide broadcast on March 1, the petition states.

On March 11, Dilling amended his bill, deleting all charges except cruelty. Mrs. Dilling's petition charges that the bill was filed in the "utmost bad faith without even probable cause as ground for divorce."

The real purpose, she charges, was to supply a basis for defamation which was desired by "certain sinister opponents, including Weinshenk, Winchell, and Mayer and others opposed to the Christian and patriotic American principles for which the defendant stands and works."

Home Ownership Challenged.

The petition further assails Dilling's statements in the divorce bill that he owns the Dilling home in Kenilworth and a farm near Harvard, Ill. Having presented copies of the petition to Judge Desort and to Weinshenk, Attorney Miller will ask leave to file it Monday, at the resumption of a hearing before Desort on Mrs. Dilling's plea for dissolution of an injunction tying up her bank account.

The hearing, a lively one, was begun yesterday afternoon before Judge Desort, with Mrs. Dilling occupying the stand. Among the crowd filling the courtroom were many members of The Mothers' Crusade, who had followed Mrs. Dilling in opposing America's entry into the war.

After a session in Judge Desort's chambers, which failed to achieve a property settlement, Mrs. Dilling testified that she owns the Kenilworth home, the Harvard farm, and stock and equipment on the farm. She produced deeds to the property and receipts for the equipment.

Lawyer Is Silenced.

Her testimony was interrupted repeatedly by Weinshenk. At one point Judge Desort told the attorney that if he wished to testify he should be sworn as a witness and take the stand.

"After paying for the Rush Creek farm," Mrs. Dilling continued, "I bought all the original equipment and live stock for it. Mr. Dilling has bought some since, but he used the farm's income to do it. He let our Kenilworth house be sold for taxes in February of this year."

Asked if she had securities, cash, and jewelry secreted, she replied she has less than $1,000, income from a mortgage, and that she has no hidden securities.

"All I had," said Mrs. Dilling, "I got from my mother, with the exception of two pieces I got back from a mistress Mr. Dilling spent $12,000 on a few years ago."

Denies Recanted Charges.

When Miller sought to ask the witness whether or not she uses liquor, drugs, and improper language, Weinshenk objected loudly that these charges no longer are in the divorce bill. On Miller's showing however, that they still were in when the injunction was granted, Judge Desort overruled the objection.

Mrs. Dilling denied use of liquor or drugs or improper language. Asked if she had struck and beaten Dilling, if she was insanely jealous, if she was a rabid crusader, and if she had called him vile names, she said:

"I have never struck him. I am not insanely jealous; only particular about being his only wife. I am a rabid crusader, probably, when I think I'm right. I have never called Mr. Dilling vile names, tho some of them probably were unflattering."

Hunt for Purse Snatcher Battered by Nurse Victim

The police started a search last night for a battered robber after Miss Irene Bonesteel, a nurse at the Presbyterian hospital, reported that he snatched her purse near her home at 1850 Jackson boulevard. Miss Bonesteel said she had bitten the man's hand, scratched his face, kicked his shins, and punched him in the stomach. Her loss was $25.

A SUING WIFE WEARS HER SLACKS TO COURT AND SHOCKS A JUDGE

Mrs. Frances Boland in slacks.

Mrs. Frances Boland, 7536 Ingleside avenue, pert and comely, stood before Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday attired in a kidskin coat and brown slacks. "Um-mm, humm!" remarked the judge, "slacks." Never in Cook county history had a woman appeared in court in slacks.

"I apologize, your honor," said Mrs. Boland. "I know they are not the proper court dress, but I had them on when my husband, here, locked me out—and I haven't been able to get back in."

The face of the judge softened. He told Attorney John W. Dorgan to proceed with Mrs. Boland's case against her husband, Park Policeman Raymond J. Boland, whom she had charged with excessive drinking. She demanded separate maintenance and a division of their property—including $400 worth of canned goods and 140 pounds of sugar.

"All that sugar!" said Judge Sabath. "I'm afraid you'll have to divide that among the neighbors." He indicated he would grant the separate maintenance plea and referred the case to Special Commissioner Charles C. Cooley to determine alimony and an equitable division of property.

WOMAN'S SUICIDE IS THWARTED BY PUSH OFF LEDGE

New York, March 19 (AP).—A battle on a narrow ledge 18 feet above the street ended today when two policemen shoved a 50 year old woman off it into a net after they said she had threatened to kill herself.

Children bound home from school saw the woman, Mrs. Edna Egbert, straddle a window sill of her second floor apartment in Brooklyn, and heard her scream she would jump. Below was a picket fence.

While one patrolman tried to soothe her from the street, two others made their way to windows on either side of the woman and grasped her arms after a fight.

Then she sat down on the ledge. After a net had been spread below, the patrolmen shoved her into it. She was taken to Bellevue hospital after battling policemen.

Police said the woman had been depressed.

Marguerite Jones.

Mrs. Margaret Swanson, graying mother of four, was incensed last November to find her name under the picture of another woman who, with Mrs. Swanson's husband, Thoren, was released on probation on charges of driving while intoxicated. So Mrs. Swanson went to Judge Erwin J. Hasten's Safety court and told him about it. Meanwhile the couple had disappeared. Judge Hasten told Policemen Patrick Kennedy and Mike Woods of Des Plaines street to bring them back.

Two weeks ago the errant husband returned. The policemen found him at Mrs. Swanson's home, 3132 South Karlov avenue. He was granted a continuance to March 26 on a charge of adultery and agreed to wire the woman, Miss Marguerite Jones, at her Columbus, O., address and bring her to Chicago. Mrs. Swanson paid for the wire and the transportation.

Yesterday Miss Jones arrived, to find Mrs. Swanson and the two detectives waiting. She spent the night in the detective bureau lockup and will appear in Judge Hasten's court today on charges of violating her probation.

WINCHELL SUED FOR SLANDER BY MRS. PATTERSON

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, owner and publisher of the Washington Times-Herald, has filed a complaint in District court for $200,000 damages against Walter Winchell, columnist and radio commentator; the Andrew Jergens company, sponsor of Winchell's radio program, and the National Broadcasting company.

Charges "Defamation."

The complaint "to recover damages for defamation" asked $100,000 as compensation and an additional $100,000 to be awarded as a punishment against Winchell individually.

Mrs. Patterson alleged that Winchell referred to an editorial which was published in her paper in "false, scandalous, malicious, and defamatory words." The editorial, Mrs. Patterson said in her complaint, was inserted in the Congressional Record by the late Farmer-Labor senator from Minnesota, Ernest Lundeen, and dealt with foreign policies of the United States.

Mrs. McLean Before Grand Jury.

In another libel action against a writer Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, owner of the Hope diamond and prominent capital hostess, recently appeared before the federal grand jury seeking a criminal libel indictment against Richard Bransten, Washington editor of the New Masses, official organ of the communist party.

Bransten, who writes under the name of Bruce Minton, in a recent article described Friendship, the McLean home, as headquarters of an American Cliveden set, and characterized its owner as the "Lady Astor" of that set. The original Cliveden set in England was reputed to have advocated appeasement of Hitler before the war.

BIOFF UNION ACTS TO BAR FELONS FROM OFFICES

New York, March 19 [Special].—The general executive board of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, whose three former leaders, George E. Browne, William Bioff, and Nick Circella, alias Dean, are now in jail for racketeering, has adopted a constitutional provision prohibiting former convicts from holding office, it was disclosed today. The provision is scheduled to be presented to the membership for ratification at its convention in June. Dean is a Chicago hoodlum.

As now drawn, the provision bars from office any member "previously convicted, sentenced and imprisoned in a penitentiary for a term of more than one year for the commission of a crime." Accordingly, the clause presumably would not apply to Sam Kaplan of local 306 of the moving picture machine operators, who several years ago served six months in Sing Sing for coercion of alliance members.

Steve Uroukoff, a suburban machinist, has constructed a rubberless tire which he hopes will solve the problem of American motorists affected by the rubber shortage.

Uroukoff, 56 years old, exhibited his tire yesterday in his shop at 14745 Page avenue, Harvey. It is made in 48 sections of wood, bolts, springs, and tubes.

Taking the place of a rubber tread are wooden shoes, fitted with a spring. When the tire runs over a stone, the affected shoe recedes. Uroukoff used the tire on a four mile drive and it worked well, he said. To be practical, he added, the tire would have to be made of metal. He has applied for a patent. He holds patents on other devices.

—Stephen Decatur.

WE CAN'T LET MacARTHUR DOWN.

Gen. MacArthur's appointment to command in the southern Pacific was not an original thought with Washington but was forced on the administration by public opinion thruout the nation. It represents a triumph of Americanism and republicanism over aristocracy and snobocracy. Aristocracy has been running the war across the Atlantic and snobocracy has seized upon our involvement to make a social holiday in Washington. It is a close question which group has done more to befuddle the war effort and invite defeat.

Having won an initial victory, this uprising of American public opinion will continue. It will see that the war is conducted to save our country and our institutions, and not to sacrifice them for the foreign princelings who have infested the eastern seaboard and the capital and who dominate the thinking of the lightheaded people who delight to pay them obeisance.

The nation must not underestimate its own task in the battle for Australia. The Australians have a common grievance with the United States. As misdirected strategy has diverted our forces to uses nonessential to our own defense, so has misdirected strategy let down the democratic portions of the British empire, like Australia, for futile defense of the preserves of aristocracy, the colonies.

Many thousands of the best Australian troops have been sent to battlefields thousands of miles away, from which those who survive probably cannot be returned in their homeland's hour of need. British manufacturers were permitted to frustrate Australian attempts to make their continent a substantial center of aircraft production.

Australian resentment is reflected in demands that lend-lease negotiations be handled direct with the United States instead of thru London, but the remedy, if applied, will be tardy. No one doubts Australian valor, but valor without adequate arms can lead only to fruitless sacrifices. The industrial potential of Australia alone has not been developed sufficiently to meet the military task the nation faces.

Australia's 7,500,000 people could, in extremity, put into the field an army of three quarters of a million which, if properly armed, would be more than a match for any force that the Japanese could move to the continent and supply. Given time, America could furnish the arms, but the time is not given. The attack may be expected any day now and when it comes the defenders will find themselves, as have the defenders in every other Pacific campaign, outnumbered and underarmed, particularly in airplanes.

Given the good fortune of a strong initial defense and sufficient naval power to keep the lines of communication between America and Australia open, the war plants of America may later remedy that initial deficiency. But whether we can get our aid in men, and arms, and ships, and planes to the battle in time to save it remains a grave question. We shall certainly fail to do so if the United States continues to disperse its production and military strength to every other quarter of the globe, as it has done until now.

More than Gen. MacArthur's prestige is at stake in his appointment as commander in chief in the southern Pacific. The prestige and honor of the American people are also deeply involved. By claiming the right to lead the battle we have assumed the obligation to provide the force necessary to win it. This we can do, but not unless we stop diverting our efforts elsewhere and make the strengthening of Australia our primary military and industrial objective.

TALKING A GOOD FIGHT.

Secretary Ickes, who all by himself can manage to sound like a ball park crowd trying to rattle the batter, tried something of that kind on the American people the other night. In a speech on a radio forum he expressed impatience with "Milquetoasts" who would settle for "a pink tea victory."

The war is here. The administration has great forces of the best young men in America at its disposal. It has ever increasing quantities of the implements of war and the supplies of war. It has billions of dollars with which to wage war. It has powers without precedent to command every citizen and to use the might of the country. The Ickeses and the other orators are the men who have the job of running the war, the authority to do it, and every means of doing it. Then, instead of beginning to do it, why do they badger the people with wholly fictitious assumptions that somebody wants to stop halfway when they themselves haven't yet got off their marks?

What the country wants from these officials is not talk but some positive sign that they are capable of using the might at their disposal to achieve a little of the total victory they talk about. So far even one of Mr. Ickes' pink tea triumphs, whatever that is, would look good to the American people who have spent three months watching the Japs have everything their own way while our leaders cuddle up to microphones and talk a war.

NEW ENGLAND LOVES COMPANY.

The War Production board has ordered a 20 per cent reduction in the deliveries of gasoline in the Atlantic seaboard states and the Pacific northwest. A few hours before the order was issued the six New England governors issued a joint statement saying that if there had to be rationing of gasoline and oil it should be applied equally all over the country. They said that was "the only equitable and effective way to cope adequately with the situation."

These governors cannot be suspected of thinking before they spoke. There is no shortage of gasoline and oil in this country. There is a shortage of tankers to carry the stuff to the places named in the WPB order. Reducing the sale of gasoline in Indiana won't result in any more for Connecticut, but will mean that a lot of people in Indiana directly engaged in the war effort will be needlessly inconvenienced, without advantage to any one.

The shortage is in transportation and that is a local, not a national matter. The New England governors appear to think that when one child in a large family has a stomach ache the whole family should be forced to take castor oil.

WOMEN IN UNIFORM.

The house has passed a bill to recognize a Women's Army Auxiliary corps as an integral part of our armed forces, subject to foreign duty. A pending bill would create a similar women's reserve in the navy, and still another embodies a preposterous proposal for inclusion of women in the selective service registration.

The people of the country will probably be, as members of congress have already shown themselves to be, of two minds on the proposals for the women's voluntary service units. There are those who contend that woman's place, if not in the home, should at least be restricted to points some distance from the battle. Yet there are tasks that women can do in the army and navy the performance of which will relieve men for fighting or industrial production.

One thing is certain. That is that if the women's corps are allowed to get into the hands of the society girls, the uniform chasers, and the female participants in Washington's military cocktail parties the women's services will speedily degenerate into a pain in the neck to the armed services, the administration, and all the rest of the women in the country.

The services which women can render with the army or navy are not particularly attractive ones. If they are adequately performed, they will require long hours and in a large proportion of the positions hard and even menial labor. The services are no place for uniformed cuties or glamor girls.

BEFORE WE CAN PRODUCE.

The congressional committee headed by Rep. John H. Tolan, which started out to investigate migrations of defense workers and has filed an interim report criticizing the present methods of letting defense contracts, has among its members some one with a gift for concise and forceful language.

"There are two current misconceptions," says the committee report, "of which our people and some of our leaders must be disabused. The first is that to appropriate is to produce. The second is the belief that a mere reshuffling of the personnel of the war production agencies, and especially those serving for nominal pay or without compensation, will produce results."

That is about as complete and truthful an indictment of the deficiencies of the war procurement program as could be written. The committee follows it with suggestions for reform. It would place all war purchasing in a single agency. It would have that agency provide for subcontracting instead of leaving that vital activity to the discretion of the large contractors from whom the government has made the bulk of its purchases.

The bright spots in the war production picture today are in the factories. There all is purposeful activity. In the Washington bureaus, by way of contrast, all is chaos. One hasty makeshift replaces another, and none of them introduces any order into the defense program.

The people of Washington, whether they are the regular burocrats or volunteers for the duration, need to keep one thought always foremost in their minds. That is that they cannot possibly win the war, but may very easily keep the rest of the nation from winning it. They cannot produce a single weapon, but they can, by their injudicious regulations, incompetence, and buck passing, keep industry from producing weapons.

It is up to the people of the nation to win the war. The least they have the right to expect of the burocrats is that, if they can't help, they stop hindering.

EAGLES AND FLEDGLINGS.

Too many American military flyers are being killed before they ever get close to the war. Hardly a day passes but there are crashes on training or patrol flights.

Most of the crashes occur after the pilots and crewmen have completed their formal training. Those killed are presumably accomplished aviators or technicians. They have mastered the light training planes in which they receive most of their instruction and have passed on to combat types.

There have been few intimations that structural faults in the planes cause the crashes, but there is much evidence that training deficiencies are responsible. Four pursuit ships were flown into the ground. One flying fortress was driven into a mountain peak, and another on a routine night flight crashed into a wooded hill near its landing field. Without any derogation of the men who are doing their best in supervising the training of our military airmen, it surely would be wise to call in our great flyers—Lindbergh, Rickenbacker, Maj. Al Williams—to find out what is wrong with our training program and to correct it. Why neglect the best we have? The price now being paid is too high.

Editorial of the Day

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

Not easy to shrug away is the charge of a special house committee, urging a single, civilian headed procurement agency for the army, navy, maritime commission and lease-lend to meet the requirements of total war, that this country's production effort thus far is utterly inadequate to the emergency.

Our enemies, the committee says, are operating along the inner line and for such warfare we shall need not merely to equal their output but to surpass it by three or four times. "It is clear," the report emphasizes, "that to date we have not even begun to equal their output. To this committee, it is apparent that if we follow prevailing procedures we shall not achieve the goals set by the President for 1942 or 1943."

Yet it was only the other day that Lieut. Gen. Knudsen, war department production chief, said he was satisfied with the present rate of arms output. Wouldn't it be a good idea for these various appraisers to get together in judging whether we are keeping in step with our needs or falling far behind?

Certainly we shall have no reason for patting ourselves on the back until we are producing enough war supplies to enable us to take the initiative, vigorously, and on a wide front, against enemies who have been spectacularly successful because they were ready for war and we weren't. We can't afford to be satisfied with our arms production rate so long as we are compelled to postpone indefinitely the delivery of powerful counterstrokes.

Unfortunately, if tried, Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short would appear before separate courts martial. We were in hopes that sooner or later these strangers would meet.—Detroit News.

It is years since the Hitless Wonders of Chicago grabbed a pennant—the only known case of a war won with no attack.—Detroit News.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

WINGS WITHOUT BOMBS.

The charming and mysterious creatures of the air that the human race has imitated with disastrous effect upon the world's happiness—we mean birds—are returning from their winter refuges. The sight of them is welcome to many eyes; they are a symbol of nature's eternal renewal, and of all things formed of protoplasm they are the most peaceful.

* * *

Yes, they are coming back, and soon the Sunday bird walkers of the suburbs, in social groups with experts as leaders, will be hiking along their favorite trails on bloodless hunts with binoculars. This is a pleasant custom and we hope that the species spotters will have no need to convert themselves into plane spotters.

* * *

Oddly enough, however, certain birds that have spent the winter in midwestern thickets are now preparing to migrate to the north. The redpoll, for example, the purple finch, and the pine grosbeak prefer to summer in Canadian forests close to the arctic circle, and Chicago is on the southern fringe of their migration.

* * *

Bob Becker, our informant on the redpoll, reports the discovery of a little flock around his domicile in Lake Bluff. The sight of them cheered him thru several days of a home staying cold. They are colored for the tropics rather than the arctic circle, and if you happen to see a pink sparrow do not think you are having a hallucination of the pink elephant type. That will be a redpoll. . . . Bob's neighbors became excited over the redpolls and reported them as baby cardinals.

THE JAVA SEA.

To pilot open boat toward Java beach,
For Western men the East was strange and dark,
But rich with life—worth anguished strife to reach.
The brown Malayan had no griefs to nurse;
Tho smiling skies might hide in quick monsoon,
He plucked his bread still free from Adam's curse,
And found romance beneath the luscious moon.

But Java's bounteous hills and fruitful planes
Have lured bold men from every compass point;
Her phosphorescent waters and sky lanes
Glow with the flames of times now out of joint.
We reel from shock of fight in Java Sea,

A Cat's-Eye View of Nature.

"Mr. Devlin, you didn't come in for dinner last night, nor breakfast this morning, and we had to let the dog eat your meals," I said accusingly to the toughest alley cat around Glenview.

Mr. Devlin leisurely scratched his tattered left ear, licked an imaginary spot from his paw, and replied:

"Haven't you ever heard of spring? It is springtime now, and this weather always does things to me. I may miss some more meals, but don't worry your big fat head about me. Just keep the hamburger coming—if I can't get away, Mr. Mac will always eat it. You never seem able to fill up that big lug, anyway. I never saw such a hungry dog. And he is so big you could saddle him and ride to the station when your rubber is all."

"You may have something there," I conceded, "but what's this business of 'If I can't get away'?"

"Listen, Big Stuff, I'm 2 years old this spring—that is equal to 18 or 20 years in a human being. Ketch? Or have you always been fat, worn spectacles, and used phony molars?"

Eighteen or twenty, huh? Yes, I began to remember—Grace in Chicago, Eve in Arizona, Marie in Romorantin, France. I didn't reply, but went indoors to get some hamburger.

FUR-BEARERS AT TEATIME.

The guests had arrived at an afternoon tea,
A motley assembly at best;
A fox from a mad hunter's quest,
A seal from the regions of ice,
And with this élite was a poor lonely rabbit,
And a skunk, who of course added spice;
A lamb from Iran, that far, mystic clime,
Had long since proceeded to roam,
And then all the guests vowed they'd had a good time,
And put on their coats and went home.

Early History of "Gadget."

The word "gadget" was probably known among seafaring men as early as 1870 or possibly 1850 or 1855. The earliest example, apparently, in print is Robert Brown's use of the term in "Spunyarn and Spindrift," 1886. Speaking of the names of things on board a ship, he says:

"Even the sailors forget at times, and if the exact name of anything they want happens to slip from their memory they call it a chicken-fixing, or a gadjet, or a gill-guy, or a timmey-noggy, or a wim-wom—just pro tem., you know."

Another Theory for "Maru."

The best explanation of the use of "maru" with the names of Japanese merchant vessels is that it means "castle." There is a similar usage in English shipping; for example, Inchcliffe Castle. Note that we call the crew's quarters the forecastle.

SULFANILAMIDE SUBDUES ERYSIPELAS.

SOME of our time-honored contagious maladies are in full retreat. Others can now be regarded with far less apprehension than was felt a dozen years ago. Even pneumonia, which took a heavy toll each season, has—thanks to the sulfonamides—been robbed of much of its terror.

These new drugs are of value also in erysipelas, which is caused by the streptococcus. The acute symptoms usually come on following a two or three day interval in which the victim feels grumpy and out of sorts. He will complain of fatigue and a slight headache. Yawning and stretching are persistent.

Then the explosion appears, which is generally a chill. The temperature may be high and, in severe seizures, delirium may ensue within a few hours. The irritation is first observed at the site of a slight cut or abrasion, which may be so small as to escape detection. The red, inflamed, somewhat raised surface points to the diagnosis.

Why does erysipelas strike? Unconsciously, the patient has allowed resistance to fall to too low a level. Hence, those with some chronic ailment, for example, are more likely to exhibit the disorder.

We must not ignore the fact that the patient is extremely ill. Furthermore, the inflammation is likely to spread. If the starting point is on the face it may advance slowly and gradually, the system becoming increasingly toxic.

With the discovery of the sulfonamides, the attack upon the specific streptococcus has been vigorous and successful. It can now be stated categorically that adequate administration of one of these chemicals will bring relief to many patients within three or four days. Sulfanilamide seems to be the preferred form.

In a long series of cases, the compound was uniformly protective. Not only did the lesions fail to extend, but the fever dropped sometimes within 24 hours. The average period of illness—formerly two or three weeks in duration—was cut to one week.

As we would expect, any region which has been attacked will be more sensitive thereafter. In other words, relapses or recurrences may be expected whenever fatigue or exposure has depressed well being. This demands good hygiene, particularly of the nasal airways, the throat, and the mouth. Washing the hands frequently and avoiding touching the face are precautions which may well be observed. There is reason to believe that live bacteria may remain in the tissues weeks or months after an episode.

Veteran physicians can recall many a desperate battle which they have had with this condition. While excellent results have been reported from the use of ultraviolet and exposures to Roentgen rays, the neutralizing effects of the "sulfa" remedies is more prompt.

GRIEF.

T. L. writes: Altho I have a beautiful year old baby, I am still fighting a neurosis which came following the death of my first child. What can I do to cure myself?

REPLY.

Try to live in the present and the future, rather than the past. Keep your thoughts centered on your blessings. Remember that Tennyson said, "We live in the sun. The world is cold to might have been." Studying some of the books on mental hygiene may help. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a list.

SING SING SPECIAL.

J. M. writes: Would shaving the head periodically forestall baldness?

REPLY.

Most cases of baldness come from disease of the scalp. Cleanliness is the remedy. If there is no other way to avoid dandruff, go ahead with the clippers.

Those who wear their hair short, who go about in loud striped suits, and who are devoted to the rock pile seldom lose their locks.

SWEET CURLS.

Louise writes: I use sugar and water to set the waves in my hair. Is this harmful?

REPLY.

Not at all, if your sugar budget will allow it. But wear a hat, otherwise the bees will chase you.

MOBILIZING HOME WORKSHOPS.

Longmeadow, Mass., March 12.—We are hearing a lot these days about our production program and what it will require in man hours to live up to our objectives. There must be some small or simple items that could be subcontracted out to the general public to work on in their homes. This idea is not new, as it has been in operation in other countries.

Many of our homes have workshops of some kind, either with a work bench and a set of tools or more completely equipped with lathes, band saws, etc. Consider also the number of families who have sewing machines, which if not already provided with the accessories for heavy duty work could be very easily converted.

Materials required, also the method of deliveries of the unfinished and finished items, depend, of course, on the articles selected for manufacture. These are, however, details that could easily be worked out thru national distributors or chain outlets. The entire home program of production would be on a piecework basis.

According to the last census we have over 30 million families in this country. If half of these families put in three hours a day it would mean about 13 billion man hours a year, which is 20 per cent of the 65 billion man hours required to put over our program. These 13 billion man hours are not being used in any other industry.

FROM THE FLOWER SHOW.

Chicago, March 16.—On behalf of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists, sponsors of the National Flower and Garden show, I have to take time off to write you a note of thanks for the splendid coöperation given the show by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and W-G-N.

We of the management got quite a thrill yesterday when some 25,000 people jammed the huge flower filled amphitheater. The amateur section, in which is included the Chicago Tribune War Garden, was of a special interest to the public, both on account of its variety and also the fine quality of the individual exhibits. Due credit for the large crowd on the opening day must be given to the press and radio.

NOTICE TO BOONDOGGLERS.

Centralia, Ill., March 14.—If Mrs. Roosevelt can spend millions of the taxpayers' money playing around with her pet projects, and our New Deal boys in Washington can spend $940,106 for a New York City project to promote the study of "piano tuning, library maintenance, copying, indexing, and binding of music scores, musical therapy, and preservation of rare music, vocal and instrumental," the government doesn't need any help from me to buy bonds or stamps, and this is notice I am not buying any until these conditions are remedied.

LOSS OF WHITE BREAD NO HARDSHIP.

Mattoon, Ill., March 16.—"It's an ill wind that blows no good" has never been truer than the recent war order in England to stop all white flour products during the war. Your paper reported this as one of the burdens of war—it will be in a large degree a blessing to that nation as it adds to the health of the people there.

I happened to be with some doctors when that report was read in your paper. One of the doctors said with earnestness, "I hope this will soon happen in America," and these men went on to speak of the serious human ailments that follow the treatment of wheat by the mills—how the vital elements of food are taken away and what is sold as white flour is so poor in food values that people would actually starve if they had to depend upon it to a great extent.

HIS TIRES ARE FROZEN.

Park Ridge, Ill., March 17.—The article regarding the plight of the motorists whose recapped tires were impounded on Feb. 18 is very heartening because it is the first piece of publicity about this matter that has appeared to date. I happen to be one of the unfortunates. On Jan. 2, I placed my tires for recapping with my dealer. Delivery was promised at that time in about 10 days. The impounding order came with very little notice, and my tires along with those of hundreds of others were finished just a day or two too late. Now we are compelled to wait for an order from Washington. If an unfavorable decision is rendered, it means that our tires are completely confiscated, and my car will be on blocks for the duration.

MUNITIONS PLANT EXPLOSIONS.

Chicago, March 13.—The hazards around munitions plants could be quickly and considerably reduced by compelling some of the plant managing personnel, the higher up the better, to be present at the most dangerous points one-half hour before, during, and one-half hour after all shift changes. I had a very close friend almost killed at Burlington, Ia., the other day, and the explosion was not unexpected to him.

WOULD THE ARMY TAKE THEM?

Chicago, March 18.—Your article about women entering the army brought forth replies both sensible and ridiculous. Some said the woman's place is in the home. A good many of them haven't sense enough to stay there. They sit in bars, smoke cigarets, drive cars, enter politics, and have no morals and pride themselves on being able to do anything the men can do, so let them fight in the army. They aren't any better than the men, but in time of danger they become very feminine and are glad to sit back and let the men step out in front and face all the horrors of war. I'm not referring to sensible women who have sons and husbands in service, altho they probably would be more than willing to go if they were needed, but it would be an excellent place for some of those unnecessary evils—the bar-flies.

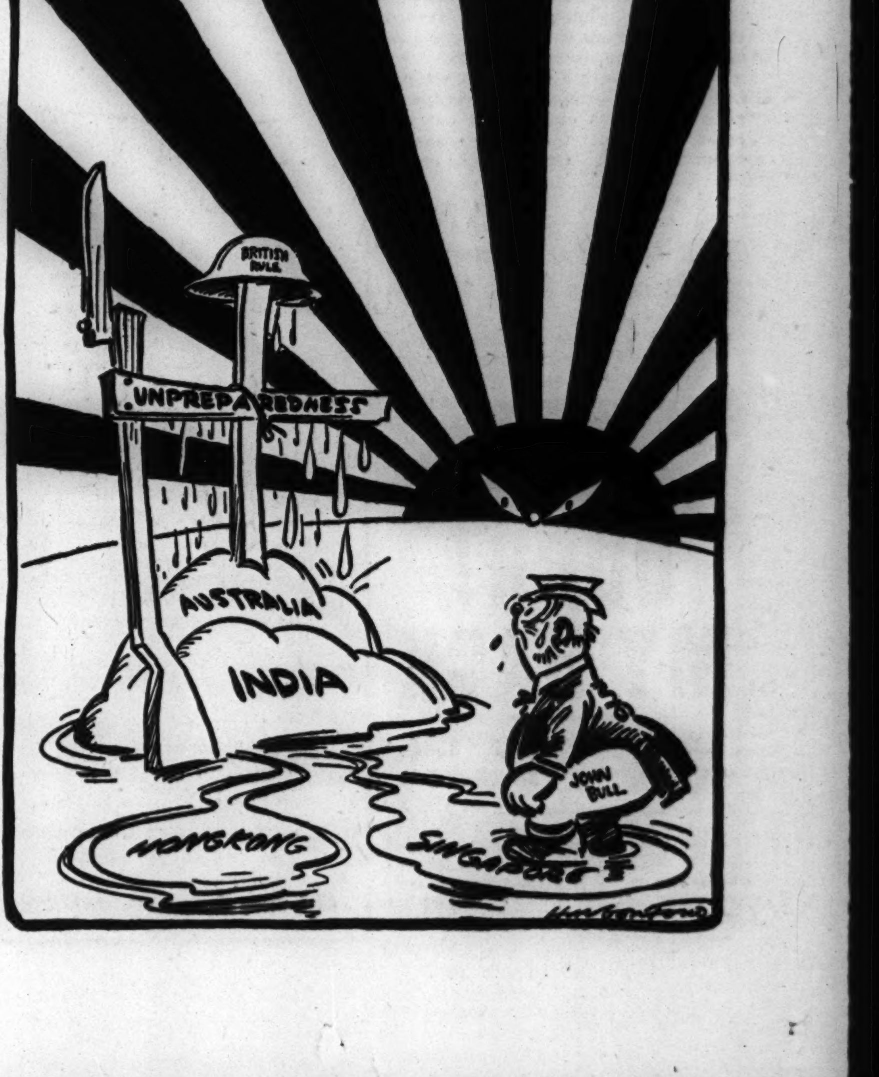
HIS SNOW MAN

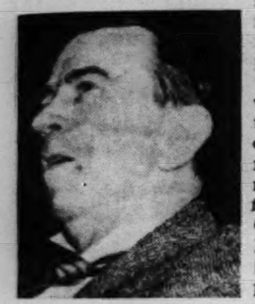
[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]



PUSH CONGRESS FIGHT ON 40 HOUR WEEK AS WAR AID

Members Fear Surrender to Labor Dictation.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. H. W. Smith.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—The issue of whether organized labor shall be permitted to make a profit out of the war while all the other classes are required to make sacrifices, as Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] phrased it in a house floor speech continued to agitate congress today.

Rep. Howard W. Smith [D., Va.], appearing before the house naval affairs committee in support of his bill to limit profits and abolish overtime pay on war contracts, declared that congressmen are feeling "the lash of the whip" from their constituents crying for such legislation.

Administration leaders are seeking to have labor organizations agree voluntarily to suspension of Sunday double time pay. They have not agreed to passage of an act forcing labor leaders to make this concession.

Take Advantage of Law.

Numbers of workers, it was reported in the huge mail to congress, are taking advantage of the double time for Sundays provision. They take days off during the week, congressmen were informed, in order to work Sundays and thereby extract additional pay money on government contracts which must come from the pockets of taxpayers.

Rep. Smith's bill would limit the profits of manufacturers working on war contracts to a maximum of 6 per cent; suspend maximum hour legislation and the closed shop for the duration of the war, and stop overtime and double time pay on such contracts.

Smith said that investigation by his special committee into operations of the National Labor Relations board disclosed a definite effort "to bring this country under the control of organized labor."

Would Uproot Closed Shop.

"It is my opinion," he declared, "that every worker has the inalienable right to earn his livelihood without being required to pay tribute to any organization. I admit frankly that my bill is pretty drastic. It would uproot the closed shop. But there is inherent in government the power and right to do everything that it believes necessary for its own preservation in time of war."

Smith said that Sidney Hillman, head of the War Production board's labor division, has in effect given the American Federation of Labor a closed shop contract on all war construction work.

"I hope we don't come to the point," Smith remarked, "where the government must surrender abjectly to labor unions or capital unions or any other minorities. In some vital defense plants, essential workers are being discharged under closed shop agreements because they do not pay their union dues."

Patterson Opposes Change.

Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson was vehement in his opposition to the Smith bill. Most working agreements in war industries, he said, are based on time and a half for work over 40 hours per week.

"A violent change in this basis," he told the committee, "might result in deterioration rather than improvement of labor relations in war industries."

Patterson said that industries having a large sales volume by comparison with invested capital usually are willing to accept a profit of around 1 per cent on the cost of their war contracts. Industries with large investments, both by their principal owners and minority stockholders, are required to get a greater return than 6 per cent to meet their obligations and pay taxes, he added. He therefore is opposed to the 6 per cent profits limitation, he testified.

Nelson Opposes Move.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, told a senate appropriations subcommittee that the 40 hour week is not retarding the war effort and that existing labor conditions do not require action by congress. Following President Roosevelt's example, Nelson approved the payment of time and a half for overtime in excess of 40 hours a week, but opposed the payment of double time for Saturday, Sunday, and holiday work.

Industry.	Sept.1941.	Jan.1942.
Machine Tools	51.4	55.0
Engines, Turbines, etc.	46.5	51.1
Aircraft	45.6	48.7
Shipbuilding	44.8	48.2
Machinery	45.1	47.1
Aluminum	42.4	45.9
Iron and steel	40.7	41.3

Nelson recently stated that if the machines now used for war production were operated 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, the output would be doubled. The percentage of plane plant utilization is shown by the following table submitted to the subcommittee:

	Mar. '41.	Nov.'41.	Feb.'42.
Plants.	Pct.	Pct.	Pct.
Airframes	40	47	52
Engines	53	58	62
Propellers	57	58	61

"It would be unfair to assume that each plant can operate all of its machines 168 hours a week," Nelson said. Limiting factors include shortages of fabricated materials and parts and a shortage of skilled workers in some plants for extra shifts, he added.

THE QUESTION.

What would be your pet luxury if you could afford it?

WHERE ASKED.

The Midland building, 176 West Adams street.

THE ANSWERS.

Ben Lundren, clerk, 3815 Wilton avenue—I'd like to furnish my room with the biggest and most comfortable easy chair I could find and then surround it with a beautiful globe of the world and several good looking, up to date maps, appropriately mounted and framed.

Marian Kreft, secretary, 904 Lee street, Des Plaines—I can't imagine anything that would give me a greater feeling of luxuriant leisure than to have a personal maid to do every little task for me. I'd like to slip off my hose at night and find them washed and waiting for me the next morning.

Lillian McCleary, waitress, 1012 East 62d street—I probably wouldn't want to be my own purchasing agent at first, but I'd like to have a shelf in my bedroom laden with little cut-glass bottles of the most rare and expensive perfumes. I'd like to have perfume for every mood and occasion.

William Mahalla, Board of Trade clerk, 3491 Elston avenue—If a hobby is an expensive one, it's a luxury for those of us who work for a living. I'd like to complete my collection of stamps. The 4,000 I have now would give me a good start.

Martha H. Crowder, manufacturer, 18 West Delaware place—Every winter I'd like to be treated to a few weeks of that Arizona sunshine that looks so wonderful in the ads. I can't think of anything that I'd consider a greater luxury.

George Brocker, treasury agent, 6413 North Oakley avenue—My wants in the line of pet luxuries are few and simple. If I could have just five new tires for my car I'd be completely happy. They'd be a luxury now, but six months from now, more of a necessity.

UNION OPPOSES ALTERNATE DAY MILK DELIVERY

Peter Hoban, vice president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, said yesterday the union would object strenously to any proposal to reduce milk deliveries to every other day as a means of conserving dairy vehicles and tires. Such a plan is being studied by the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington.

Hoban said that altho the union would coöperate fully with any government demands, limiting deliveries would be too drastic, unnecessary, and result in the layoff of at least 2,500 of Chicago's 5,600 milk wagon drivers. Hoban said the union proposes other methods of conserving tires and that union officials planned to meet soon with dealers to discuss such a conservation program.

The union's plan includes three proposals: 1. The elimination of all call back or return deliveries. 2. The starting of route deliveries at 8 a. m. instead of earlier so that the driver can contact the consumer on his first call. 3. The stopping of all special deliveries.

Fines for Nonpayment of Wages Go Unchanged

Municipal Judge George L. Quilici yesterday refused to reconsider four $50 fines on Mrs. Grace Mae Clark, owner of an apron making establishment at 306 West Jackson boulevard, for nonpayment of wages. Assistant Attorney General William D. Belroy filed the charges after 26 girls complained they were hired for $12 to $18 a week, but were never paid. Mrs. Clark paid the fines.

GASOLINE RATION CARDS ORDERED FOR 19 STATES

Due in Six Weeks, Ickes Says; Midwest Escapes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—Gasoline ration cards will be issued to motorists along the Atlantic coast and in the Pacific northwest within the next six weeks, Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes announced today.

He said the rationing plan will replace the present system under which deliveries to gasoline stations in 19 states and the District of Columbia have been cut 20 per cent, beginning today. In this same area the Office of Price Administration has imposed a price ceiling on gasoline, effective March 23, fixing the maximum prices as those prevailing last Friday, March 13.

Midwest Not Affected.

Apparently other areas, including the middle west, will not be affected, at least for some time, by the gasoline restrictions. Ickes said "we have not felt we were justified in cutting gasoline sales, even fractionally, in areas where there are sufficient supplies and transportation."

This was a rare retraction for Ickes. Previously he had said rationing, if ordered, would affect the entire nation. Details of the rationing system will be worked out by Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who has gone to Rio De Janeiro.

Ickes said there is something to be said for a nation-wide gasoline rationing system to save wear on tires, but admitted this was outside of his jurisdiction.

Plan to Prevent Hoarding.

He declined to specify the amounts of gasoline which might be allowed motorists, but said he believed the ration cards would be issued on a time basis to prevent hoarding. He also said the amount a motorist will get will depend upon his priority. Even those driving for pleasure will get some fuel, but little will be allotted the "nonessential motorist" such as "a playboy on his way to a night club," he said.

According to reports received here there are plenty of "playboys" among the higherups in the administration who frequent night clubs. Henderson himself has been a pretty good patronizer of the night spots.

The area subject to gasoline restrictions, including a 12 hour day and 6 day week for filling stations, includes Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Oregon, Washington, and the District of Columbia.

U. S. MERCHANT MARINE SALUTE GIVEN BY W-G-N

The United States merchant marine was saluted in drama and in song on W-G-N's "Americans at the Ramparts" program last night. Present in the W-G-N studio theater was an audience of navy men and blue jackets from the coast guard's Judson court barracks, led by Commander G. B. Skinner. P. A. Williamson, recruiting official, represented the merchant marine.

Marvin Mueller, program narrator, introduced the dramatic part of the broadcast, an account of distant voyages by the Clipper Dreadnaught. Emphasized was the theme: The first merchant marine helped the nation grow by overseas commerce; the present merchant marine is helping to save it by supplying the fighters at distant outposts.

The W-G-N orchestra and the chorus, under the direction of Robert Trendler, provided nautical music.

SCOTT TO TALK ON THE PACIFIC IN W-G-N INTERVIEW

E. H. Scott, radio manufacturer, inventor, and an authority on the southwestern Pacific, will be interviewed during the W-G-N news period at 8:15 o'clock tonight on "Australia and the War." Scott is a native of New Zealand and served in France with Australian forces during the World war.

After the war he came to Chicago and pioneered in the development of short wave radio.

Thru the two decades since the first World war Scott has maintained his interest in military affairs and has kept his contacts with Australia fresh, visiting the continent and his homeland frequently.

Held for Quiz in Holdup Slaying of John F. Denvir

Aaron Fosco, 35 years old, 742 Arthington street, was held by Central police last night for questioning about the murder of John F. Denvir, 72, head of a clothing firm at 67 West Jackson boulevard. Denvir was slugged Feb. 13 at Harrison street and Wabash avenue, and robbed of a diamond ring valued at $1,500. Fosco was seized yesterday in a tavern at Van Buren and State streets because, police said, he has a petty police record and is known as a hanger-on in the taverns in that area. He denied knowledge of the Denvir killing.

TELLS HOW SHE AIDED MAC ARTHUR IN STUDY FOR WEST POINT TESTS

Miss Gertrude Hull.

A gray haired woman told last night over W-G-N how she helped Gen. Douglas MacArthur prepare for his West Point entrance examinations 42 years ago. She was Miss Gertrude Hull, of 2841 West Kilbourn avenue, Milwaukee, then a teacher in the history department at West Division High school, Milwaukee.

"I don't think I could honestly say I played an important part in his education," Miss Hull told Announcer John Holbrook. "Douglas was marked for success. He had the intelligence, aggressiveness, and leadership that are needed to get ahead. He was a very intelligent boy. He passed his examinations with an almost perfect grade."

Gen. MacArthur's mother, Miss Hull related, had brought her son to the school to take a speedup history course. Miss Hull retired from the school several years ago after teaching for 40 years.

YOU'LL NEED SIX MINUTES TO GIVE DATA FOR SUGAR

It will take Chicagoans about six or seven minutes each to fill in their sugar card ration application blanks, tests completed yesterday showed.

The time tests were made by 10,000 school teachers, who averaged slightly less than five minutes for each application. From these tests, Leo Herdig, assistant superintendent of schools, estimated that it will take others six or seven minutes.

The dates for the four day sugar rationing registration are expected to be set Saturday when rationing administrators from all states will meet here with Frank Bane, director of field operations for the Office of Price Administration.

"If the first day shows that Chicago is signing up at one every six or seven minutes, our 10,000 school teachers can handle the ration registration," Herdig declared. "If people take longer, we will have to call upon volunteer help."

N. Y. ASSEMBLY PLANS WORK LAW TO SLASH RELIEF

Albany, N. Y., March 19 [Special].—In a move to reduce relief costs, legislative leaders today decided on passage of a bill providing that persons who refuse to work when a reasonable job is offered them will be denied further assistance. The bill also will deny relief to persons who refuse to attend vocational training schools for war workers.

"Persons cannot obtain relief in England if they refuse to work, and that system should be inaugurated in this state," said Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat of New York City, who introduced the bill.

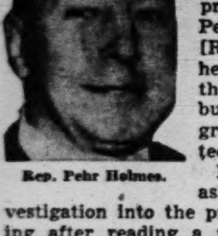
HUGE FURNITURE PROJECT CALLED 'BOONDOGGLING'

Investigation Is Asked in 136 Million Proposal.

Washington, D. C., March 19.—The proposed purchase of $136,000,000 worth of furniture for homes of defense workers was labeled a boondoggling project by Rep. Pehr G. Holmes [R., Mass.] at a hearing before the house public buildings and grounds committee today.



Rep. Pehr Holmes.

Rep. Holmes asked for an investigation into the projected spending after reading a newspaper dispatch from Chicago announcing the appointment of Col. Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart Building Company, Inc., to work out a program for buying furniture for 90,000 defense homes. The article said $36,000,000 would be spent this year and $100,000,000 in 1943.

"I would like to know," Holmes told the committee, "if this is another part of the boondoggling which we have read so much about whereby the taxpayers' money is promiscuously thrown away."

Holmes said he had been unable to find any authority in law giving various federal housing agencies the use of defense housing funds for purchase of furniture. If $136,000,000 of $300,000,000 appropriated for homes is spent on furniture, he remarked, there will be little left for housing.

Holmes' attack came while the committee questioned witnesses about plans of the government for constructing homes for war workers here.

INDICT WOMAN AND THREE MEN IN HOTEL SLAYING

New York, March 19 (AP).—The office of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced today that three men and a woman have been indicted on murder charges in connection with the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, wealthy Polish refugee.

Madeline Webb.

The indictment, returned last night, named Madeline Webb, 28 year old model and dancer from Stillwater, Okla., whose plans for a conquest of the theatrical world went awry; Eli Shonbrun, 33, her sweetheart; John D. Cullen, 45, and Murray Hirschl, 40; Shonbrun's uncle. Until last night Hirschl had been held in $25,000 bail as a material witness.

Mrs. Reich, 52, wife of a New Jersey wax processor, was found dead in an east side hotel suite on March 5. A valuable diamond ring and a watch and chain were missing. The room had been engaged by "Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leopold," which police said was an alias for Miss Webb and Shonbrun.

M'NEAR AIR MAILS REPLY ON STRIKE TO ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., March 19.—George P. McNear Jr., president of the 239 mile Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad, tonight dispatched his answer to a demand by President Roosevelt that he submit to immediate arbitration the dispute which has crippled the road's operations since Dec. 28. He did not disclose the content of his missive.

"Our reply to President Roosevelt went forward by air mail this evening," McNear said in a statement. "We regret the delay in answering, but his request involved issues of great importance.

"We have had the most sincere desire to present our answer in a manner befitting the great respect we have for him and his high office and to make every possible contribution toward the successful prosecution of the war."

The only activity in the two and a half month old strike, at least on the surface, was in the President's office.

Harland Best, road superintendent, said a regular schedule of daylight hauls still was maintained but that runs out of the yard halted at dusk.

DIES IN BLAZE AT PLANT.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Friend of the Yanks

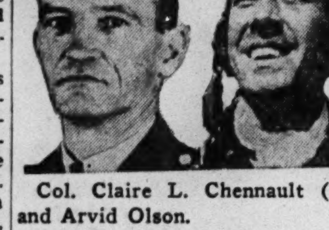
AMERICAN VOLUNTEER GROUP.

"Flyers of the American Volunteer group destroyed 43 Japanese planes last week," said a recent war dispatch. The dispatch increased the flood of inquiries asking for a story about this valiant band of Americans who are making history in far away Burma.



Col. Claire L. Chennault (left) and Arvid Olson.

The A. V. G., or Flying Tigers as the group is called by Chinese airmen, is composed of pilots who resigned commissions in the army, naval, and marine air corps of this nation to fight the Japs over China. They were organized by Col. Claire L. Chennault, a retired United States army officer, who went to China shortly after the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese war to teach pursuit tactics to the Chinese air force. Last summer he was made a brigadier general in charge of Chinese air combat units.

Fighter Planes Waiting.

There was no publicity given to the recruiting of American flyers to compose the A. V. G., but last summer a number of American flyers turned up in China with Col. Chennault. Fighter planes from American factories were waiting for them.

Col. Chennault, with 18 years' experience in acrobatic flying and four years of observing the Nipponese warriors in the air, began to groom his Tigers for the job of keeping Jap bombers away from the Burma road, thereby insuring delivery of American war supplies to the Chinese army.

The Tigers were taught special pursuit tactics to make up for the superiority of numbers which the Japs boasted. Their first major victory saw the American pilots blast 48 enemy planes from the sky in two days' fighting—the day before Christmas and Christmas day—while losing only three planes of their own and two pilots.

Chicagoan in Command.

A. V. G. forces in Burma now are under the command of Arvid Olson of Chicago and Los Angeles, who this month took over the command from Robert A. Neale of Seattle. By the end of January, the American volunteer pilots had shot down at least 135 Jap planes and wrecked another 50 on the ground while losing 11 of their own pilots.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, leader of the Chinese forces, recently pledged that China would provide for the families of any of the A. V. G. whose lives were lost in the war.

QUESTIONS.

D. R. writes: "I realize it is compulsory for soldiers on furlough to wear their uniforms. However, can an exception be made if a fellow plans to get married while on furlough, and would like to wear full dress for the occasion?"

ANSWER: As you state in your letter, soldiers must wear their uniforms at all times both inside and outside the confines of their military station. There are few exceptions to this regulation, and marriage is not one of them.

R. J. asks: "Would you please inform me whether or not men who are unable to read or write are deferred by their local draft board?"

ANSWER: The local draft board of such a registrant does not have the power to defer him if he is otherwise fit for service. The board will classify him as 1-A. During his final physical examination, if it is found he can understand spoken commands he will be drafted.

F. L. writes: "I have heard from several sources that a color blind person would make an excellent observer in the air corps because such a person can detect camouflage? Is there any truth to this?"

ANSWER: Air corps officers say this is a popular fallacy. The idea arises from the fact that color blind persons are able to detect some types of camouflage. However, color blind persons are unable to detect natural camouflage. Photographs made from observation planes have been found to be the best way for determining camouflage.

Hammond Mother Asks Aid in Search for Girl, 13

Mrs. M. B. Anadell, 4919 Pine street, Hammond, yesterday appealed for help in finding her crippled daughter, Beverley, 13, who disappeared Jan. 11. The child, curly haired and brown eyed, usually passes for a girl of 18, her mother said. Beverly, an 8th grade student, was crippled in her left leg by infantile paralysis. Mrs. Anadell said her daughter has a good singing voice, and hoped for a career as a singer.

SEN. DAVIS CITES CCC OPERATIONS AS INTOLERABLE

Asks Probe of Aluminum, Tire Destruction.

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Sen. James J. Davis [R., Pa.] demanded in the senate today an investigation of what he characterized as "intolerable conditions" in the operation of the Civilian Conservation corps in Pennsylvania.

Davis said he had been informed that "hundreds of pounds" of aluminum utensils had been destroyed by CCC personnel when they became slightly damaged in use.

Destroyed Pans Buried.

"I am informed," Davis said, "that aluminum kitchen utensils becoming damaged were destroyed by driving a pick into them, and the articles buried on the site of the CCC camps at Mount Union and Mifflin, Pa.

"Rubber tires, still of use to the forestry division, were refused this division and destroyed by burning.

"Double blade axes, being nicked on one blade, were destroyed because no provisions were made for repairs.

"Barracks canvases, valued at $600 new, were destroyed if and when a few cuts were found in them because no provision was made for repairs. An eyewitness saw five sets of canvases destroyed. Shoes, and many articles of apparel, still of useful wear to others, were destroyed because no provision was made for other dispositions to reimburse the CCC allotted funds.

Calls Condition Intolerable.

"This is an intolerable condition which must be investigated at once, together with numerous other sources of waste and extravagance, which are daily being called to my attention."

Sale of national defense bonds had dwindled off in many places, Davis said, because people were losing confidence in the administration of the funds.

DEMANDS $50,101 BACK TAXES ON MIDLAND BLOCK

A petition for a court order to compel the Midland Building corporation, 176 West Adams street, to pay the county $50,101 in real estate taxes and penalties for 1939 and 1940 was filed before Federal Judge William J. Campbell yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Francis S. Clamitz. The property is in reorganization proceedings in Judge Campbell's court. It owes $704,901 in taxes and penalties from 1928. Clamitz said the corporation had $76,228 cash on hand last Dec. 31 and that most of this sum should be applied on the tax bill.

HEAD OF SCHOOL ASSAILS BOARD OUSTER ACTION

William L. Davies, superintendent of the Zion-Benton township High school in Lake county, asserted yesterday that the school board had been "arbitrary" in notifying him that he would not be retained in the position for the next year.

"The board is anxious to get me out now so it can evade the new state law stabilizing superintendent's tenure of office," said Davies, who is 47 years old and has managed the school for four years. "Under that law one who has held the position as much as two years could be dismissed only after a public hearing on specific charges. This is a factional fight and there are no charges against me."

James R. Paxton, president of the board, and city collector of Zion, admitted that the tenure law, which takes effect for the next school year, was a factor. He added that there was nothing against Davis' character, but that discipline among the 600 pupils was bad and nothing had been done to solve an acute truancy problem. The vote to oust the superintendent was 4 to 1, he said.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT BY YOUTH, 15, IS FATAL TO SISTER

Nancy [top] and Norman Nelson.

While her mother was entertaining 15 members of a Parent-Teacher association in her home, Nancy Mae Nelson, 6 years old, 6828 Normal avenue, was fatally wounded yesterday when her brother, Norman, 15, accidentally discharged a revolver, shooting her in the head. She was the daughter of George A. Nelson, assistant manager of the Merchandise Mart, and Mrs. Nelson.

Norman, Tilden High school sophomore, told Sergt. John Olson, chief of detectives at Englewood police station, that his mother had placed Nancy Mae in his charge for the afternoon.

Finds Father's Revolver.

"I made some toast for her in the kitchen and after she ate it she asked me to help find her tin whistle," he told police. "I hunted all over the house for it, but I couldn't find it."

While he was searching for the whistle he came across his father's revolver in a dresser drawer. He broke it open and removed four cartridges.

The little girl had gone into the bathroom still hunting for the whistle. Norman followed her to show the gun to her, holding it 18 inches from her head.

Gun Does Shoot.

"Look, Nancy Mae, it won't shoot," he said.

He pulled the trigger. One remaining bullet which he had overlooked fired and struck the girl in her head. She was dead when she reached St. Bernard's hospital.

The boy was taken to the Juvenile home. An inquest will be conducted today at 9:30 a. m. in a funeral chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue.

A POLICEMAN'S MEMORY TRAPS MURDER SUSPECT

Joseph Petras, 29 years old, 617 Madison street, was arrested yesterday on a murder charge because Lieut. Joseph Fallon of the Fillmore street station reads detective magazines. Fallon noticed Petras' picture as that of a suspect wanted for the holdup slaying of a bartender in Pittsburgh, Pa., last September, and remembered that he had seen the man working in a bowling alley.

Detectives Edward Fiala and Walter Pidgeon soon seized Petras in the bowling alley at Madison street and Hamlin avenue. Police said he admitted his share in the Pittsburgh murder and would waive extradition.

Memory also landed Michael Ventura, 29, of 1519 Cleveland avenue, in a police cell as an alleged robber. Last July a bandit held up Miss Frances Newman, 2730 North Sawyer avenue, in Fischman's food shop, 555 North avenue, where she was cashier. He escaped with $100. Later the store was converted into a liquor store by the same owners and with the same employés. Yesterday Ventura walked in and Miss Newman caused his arrest, charging he was the bandit who robbed her in July. He denied the accusation.

WOMAN ADMITS KILLING, HIDING GIRL IN TRUNK

Atlanta, Ga., March 19 (AP).—A 46 year old housewife tonight sobbed out a confession to the slaying of a pretty, young shoe store sales girl to end the mystery of Atlanta's trunk murder.

J. A. McKibben, detective superintendent, said Mrs. Minnie Lee Griffin admitted the slaying of Mrs. Mildred Seymour Williams, 22 years old, whose battered and trussed body was found late yesterday in an old automobile trunk in the basement of the Griffin home. The girl had been missing four months.

McKibben said Mrs. Griffin related that Mrs. Williams came to her home about four months ago and told her she was sorry "about the misunderstandings about her going with Kenneth Hubert, my son-in-law." After an argument Mrs. Griffin "picked up a heavy object and hit her on the head several times," McKibben quoted the suspect.

She then related, the detective said, how she placed the body in an old trunk and covered it with her [Mrs. Williams'] coat and ashes.

Surrenders

Paul Dorfman, 34 years old, ex-prize fighter and secretary treasurer of local 20467, Waste Material Handlers union [AFL], surrendered yesterday at the state's attorney's office on a charge of assault to commit mayhem.

Turned over to Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert by his attorney, Harry J. Busch, Dorfman made bond and was booked for appearance this morning in felony court. The charge grew out of the slugging Tuesday of Morton H. Lynn, 44, executive director of the Chicago Waste Products' Merchants association, in his Sherman hotel offices.

At the same time Capt. Gilbert announced that he would appeal to AFL officials for removal of Dorfman from his union position. He did this after a conference with Joseph A. Briegel, general organizer for the AFL, in which the latter held that Dorfman was a "good man for the union."

FATAL ASSAILANT UNIDENTIFIED.

A coroner's jury decided yesterday that Fred Schmidt, 72 years old, died Wednesday of a beating by an unidentified assailant March 7 after he was ejected from a south side tavern for shouting "Heil Hitler." Schmidt lived at 4759 South Hamlin avenue.

HOLDUP VICTIM, SERIOUSLY HURT, SHOOTS ROBBER

Beaten so severely by a robber that he may die, Peter Carellas, 60 years old, owner of a confectionery, yet was able early today to draw a gun he carried for protection against such assaults and shoot the bandit thru the thigh. The robber, Wilbur Matheson, 25 years old, 1729 North Mozart street, was captured less than a block from the scene.

Carellas had started home from his store at 4003 Lake street when he was set upon at Keystone and Maypole avenues by the robber. Beaten, kicked, and suffering from internal injuries, he mustered strength, while on the sidewalk, to pull his weapon and fire.

EDISON COMPANY HONOR ROLL OF 500 IS UNVEILED

An honor roll of 500 employés of the Commonwealth Edison company now serving in the armed forces was unveiled yesterday in the company building's customer hall at 72 West Adams street. Participating in the ceremony was the Commonwealth Edison Post American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, Charles Freeman, chairman, and Edward J. Doyle, president, of the company. Also on display was a Minute Man flag symbolizing purchase of defense bonds by more than 90 per cent of company employés under the pay roll deduction plan.

BANK MUST BARE CONTENTS OF 2D CALDWELL CACHE

Court Spurs Search for Ousted Czar's Assets.

The search for assets reputed to have been concealed by Max Caldwell, ousted czar of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, gained new impetus yesterday. Judge Philip L. Sullivan of the federal District court ordered the Mutual National bank, 7844 South Halsted street, to open a Caldwell safe deposit box and reveal its contents.

Caldwell is a defendant in an accounting suit in Circuit court which charges that $910,000 of union funds disappeared in the last four years of the Caldwell régime. One cache of Caldwell's hoarded wealth was discovered last August when state's attorney's investigators opened a safe deposit box which Caldwell rented under an assumed name in the Stevens hotel.

$62,000 in One Box.

This box contained jewels, currency, postal savings bonds, and documents valued at $62,000. It is now impounded in the state's attorney's office.

George T. Donoghue Jr., assistant United States attorney, said he did not know what the box in the Mutual National bank contains. He added, however, that he has been informed that many of the valuables found in the Stevens hotel box had been taken from the box in the bank. Under the court order bank officials must open the box within 10 days and file a schedule of its contents. No date was set for opening it.

Subject to Tax Lien.

Contents of this box, as well as the hoard already discovered and whatever may be found in another box in the Continental Illinois National bank, are all subject to a lien of $8,338 filed by Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, last Aug. 25. Caldwell had failed to pay this amount, it was charged, in federal amusement taxes on four "benefit" dances for the union.

Donoghue said the government had decided to ask the opening of the box in the Mutual National bank because another of Caldwell's creditors, the Union Press, 2003 North California avenue, had obtained a court attachment for the box. He said no attachment had been issued against the box in the Continental National bank and that the government probably would not ask that it be opened.

FREED OF KILLING FATHER; BE A WAR BIRD, HE'S URGED

The grand jury yesterday opened the way for Maurice Griel, 20 years old, 2849 Altgelt street, to reapply for enlistment as an army air cadet by voting a no-bill in connection with the slaying of his father, Arthur, 47. Criel's mother urged him to enlist just before he was released from the county jail.

Young Criel stabbed his father in their home Tuesday night after the latter, in a drunken rage, threatened Mrs. Criel and a daughter, Alma. A coroner's jury recommended young Criel be held for murder, but the grand jury held the slaying justifiable homicide in defense of the young man's mother and sister.

Criel had passed his examinations for the army air force and was to have been inducted this week. After the stabbing his application for enlistment was automatically canceled, with the assurance Criel would be permitted to reapply if he were exonerated.

IOWA JUDGESHIP FILLED.

Dubuque, Ia., March 19 [Special].—Gov. George A. Wilson today appointed John G. Chalmers, 67 years old, local attorney, as judge of the 19th judicial district to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Judge Hugh Stuart. Chalmers, a Republican, will serve until the November election.

36 Seek to Talk Against Philp Petition.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Circuit Judge John Prystalski was told yesterday that every one of 5,783 voters' signatures on a candidate's nominating petition was a forgery and that the signatures of all 42 persons whose names appeared as those of circulators were forgeries.

Among the known forgeries was one of the signature of Mayor Edward J. Kelly. The mayor had been shown the imitation and had agreed to come to court and testify. Another easily established was that of Miss Herma Clark, author of "When Chicago Was Young" in THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

36 Ready to Testify.

In Judge Prystalski's courtroom were 36 of the men and women whose names had been used as those of circulators. Indignant, they were ready to testify that they had never seen the petition or a sheet of it, and they created a small demonstration when they learned they could not go on the witness stand at once. The court continued the hearing until today. The other six of the 42 could not even be found by investigators.

The petition was that of Attorney John R. Philp, 17 East Erie street, who filed for himself, but is running for Probate judge as one of the group that incorporated as the National Republican party, which includes some supporters of the old Deneen group. The validity of his nominating papers was challenged by the regular organization in the name of Stanley R. Pulaski, its own candidate for Probate judge.

Committeeman Philp's Attorney.

Because of the source of the attack, one of the surprises was that the attorney who appeared for Philp was James W. Breen, old Thompsonite, who is the elected committeeman from the 14th ward. Breen and an assistant of State's Attorney Courtney, Jacob Schamberg, joined in a demurrer, a motion to strike the petition for a mandamus directing County Clerk Flynn to expunge Philp's petition from his records.

Attorney John F. Tyrrell, counsel for the Republican county central committee, opposed the Breen-Schamberg contention that the court has no jurisdiction in the matter.

2 ARMY DESERTERS INDICTED IN MURDER OF FEDERAL AGENTS

Harrisonburg, Va., March 19 (AP).—A United States District court grand jury today indicted two young Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., army deserters on charges of murder of FRI Agent Hubert J. Treacy in a gun battle at Abingdon last week.

Trial of the men, James Edward Testerman, 22 years old, of Clinchburg, Va., and Charles Lovett, 21, Philadelphia, was set for April 13 at the Western Virginia District court session in Abingdon.

The soldiers pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before a United States commissioner at Bristol last Saturday, the day following the shooting in an Abingdon café which resulted in Treacy's death and the serious wounding of Charles Tignor, another FBI agent.

WAYLAND BROOKS IS INDORSED BY 17TH WARD G. O. P.

Resolutions indorsing Sen. Wayland Brooks for renomination and reelection were adopted last night by the 17th ward organization of the national Republican party at 6949 South Halsted street.

"It would be a national calamity," they read, "if the Republican party did not nominate and reëlect C. Wayland Brooks in this crisis when constructive criticism is so greatly needed."

The resolutions were offered by Homer G. Sailor, who for 30 years was precinct captain in the home precinct of the late Charles S. Deneen, and were adopted unanimously.

OAK PARK SEES POSSIBILITIES IN 7 BLOCK HOWLER

Oak Park tested another air raid warning noise maker yesterday. Two weeks ago, it will be remembered, Oak Park tested a siren atop the village hall, but with curious results; the blasts were heard miles away but not, in some areas, a few blocks away.

Then Earl Olsen, police finger print expert, offered a solution—amplification by remote control. So yesterday a noise maker called an audio-oscillator, was put into service, and connected with one large amplifier atop the village hall.

From the amplifier came a noise that resembled a howl and a wail. For distance throwing, admitted Village President Robert McMaster, it wasn't any better than the siren. It carried only seven blocks. But McMaster added, it has possibilities. Its voice can be used he said, for transmission thru scattered amplifiers which will be better than scattered individual sirens.

Negroes Knife and Rob Two Men on 'L' Platforms

Two men were knifed and robbed on south side elevated platforms last night by two Negroes. Roy Richcreek, 37 years old, of Goshen, Ind., was cut across his head and lost $15 to the pair at the 26th street station. William O. Hoyer, 23, of 1241 Loyola avenue, was stabbed in his neck and robbed of $39 on the 33d street station platform.

TOP MEAT BUYS OF WEEK: BEEF, LAMB, POULTRY

Economical Vegetables, Fruits Also Listed.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Beef, lamb, and poultry are the best buys in meats this week-end, and citrus fruits, avocados, and apples head the fruit shopping list. You can shop for vegetables to your heart's content, but for best bargains, take a look at beets, cabbage, celery, lettuce, sweet potatoes, escarole, and mushrooms.

The importance of fish can't be overlooked, especially during Lent. Inexpensive fish are lake smelt, winter-caught whitefish, and yellow pike. Slightly higher, but still moderate, are lake trout, lake herring, and frozen sauger pike. Frozen halibut and frozen salmon are reasonably priced salt water fish. Frozen shrimp are down a trifle from last week, and oysters cost just a little more; both are in the moderate range.

Steak Prices Attractive.

Steaks, the universal favorite, continue to hold their attractive price. At some markets you will find well-marbled swiss, round, sirloin, porterhouse, and club steaks at the same moderate price. Some stores feature the sirloin cut at a lower price. Ground beef and boiling beef are economical.

You may not be able to resist the price of rib roast or beef for your Sunday dinner, offered at 25 to 29 cents a pound in some stores. Two other moderate meats are pot roast of beef and corned beef brisket. Short ribs also are inexpensive.

Consider lamb for meat bargains. Shoulder lamb chops are almost cheap, and leg of lamb is offered reasonably. Breast of lamb, an inexpensive cut, makes an excellent stew. A neck cut of lamb is reasonable, too. Some meat retailers will be glad to show you a moderately priced lamb shoulder roast. Rib chops are slightly high, with loin lamb chops a few cents above them.

Ducks Are Reasonable.

Long Island ducks cost little per pound, and frying and roasting chickens ask a moderate price. Roasting chickens at some markets average three and one-half pounds. Four and five pound hens have a fair price.

Smoked hams are moderately high priced. Cooked hams cost more than uncooked, but a smoked meat cut that may interest you is a four to six pound average cooked picnic, reasonably priced.

Medium-priced pork sausage may be the answer to what you should serve with those waffles Sunday night. Frankfurters vary in price at different markets, but mostly are reasonable. There is one not too expensive veal offer—the tenderloin.

Grapefruit continues to hold its own as top-ranking low-priced fruit. Oranges are still an especially worthwhile buy. Rhubarb is lower in price and remains reasonable. Be careful when you shop for those strawberries because they range greatly both in quality and price.

Avacados Good Buy.

Apples do not change much in price from week to week. Avocados are a best buy now. For a special treat, you might serve some Cuban pineapple, which is something of a luxury. Grapes, nectarines, plums, pears and honeydew melons are all moderate to high in price.

Besides the best buys in vegetables already mentioned, turnips are moderate, radishes lower, and celery cabbage reasonable. Green onions are good. Those with an expensive taste may have artichokes at a moderate price this week-end. Beets are lower than last week. Celery is very low, especially the large size golden heart variety. There is Pascal celery, too.

The price of cauliflower is lower, but it still is a luxury. Lettuce is lower, particularly the smaller head. Leaf lettuce from hot houses is reasonable. Only endive quality varies, with the greener costing less. Did you know that the white endive you prefer [which is more expensive right now] hasn't as much vitamin A as the greener variety?

Remember those mushrooms. They haven't been offered so reasonably in many a day. Here are some high priced vegetables: asparagus, green and wax beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, green peas, and large green peppers. You may obtain small green peppers at a rather low price, however.

THE Kitchen Kibitzer

BY MARIAN CARTER

A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some novelty to her daily routine.

It's a good idea to cool butter cakes for about five minutes after baking before turning them out on cake racks. They're less likely to break or stick to the pans.

* * *

Not enough graham crackers for your chiffon pie crust? Let's hope there are plenty of corn flakes instead, for a mixture of 6 cups of the crushed cereal, ¾ cup melted butter, 6 tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon cinnamon makes an excellent substitution.

* * *

Let that creamy fudge mixture cool to lukewarm before beating it or crystals will form to give it an undesirable grainy texture.

* * *

Just for a change try serving celery as a vegetable instead of as a relish, by cooking it in a little salted water until tender, then adding parsley butter to it. Verra good!

* * *

If beets are sliced or cut up to save cooking time, keep the pan uncovered so the color will be gradually reabsorbed as the water evaporates.

* * *

Since there isn't any bone present in a rolled roast to act as conductor of heat, better allow 10 or 15 minutes longer cooking time for each pound than you'd allow for a roast containing bone.

* * *

A can of rich, steamed chocolate nut bread performs double duty as a dessert, when it's sliced and topped with vanilla flavored hard sauce or whipped cream.

* * *

Keep that wooden salad bowl well seasoned by rubbing it well with oil before using. Rinse it out quickly after use and wipe very dry to prevent cracking. A clove of garlic, rubbed over the inside of the bowl, won't hurt it, or the salad, either!

DESPITE CEILINGS, CANNED FOOD AND PORK PRICES RISE

Facts Revealed in Survey of Retail Markets.

Retail prices of canned goods and pork products continue to rise in Chicago stores despite federal ceilings over wholesale markets. This was shown yesterday in a survey of the retail markets.

The survey disclosed that leading retail stores in the last few days have raised their prices on canned corn, tomatoes, peaches, and pears from 1 to 2 cents a can, or more. Butcher shops in some of the larger markets have made similar boosts in their prices for ham and other pork cuts.

Federal ceiling on pork become effective next Monday and will affect 90 per cent of all pork products. Such items as bacon, ham, and pork chops will not be permitted to rise above the highest levels prevailing in the wholesale markets between March 3 and 7.

Ceilings on 26 Varieties.

Ceilings on wholesale prices of canned food have been in effect since March 2. The order prohibited sale of 26 varieties of canned goods above prices prevailing between Feb. 23 and 27.

Under the federal ceilings, canned foods may be sold at the highest prices of the last decade and pork at the highest prices since 1926, according to wholesale dealers. The food industry has indicated that it does not expect prices to drop much below ceiling levels.

Dealers' stocks of most canned foods are running short and cannot be replenished until the summer packing season starts. Meanwhile, a federal order has halted the production of many canned foods because of the tin shortage.

Pork Production Falling.

Pork production hit a peak in February and has started a seasonal decline. Most of the marketable hogs have been shipped, and meat production is not expected to hit peak levels again before next fall. Prices normally rise as the production falls, according to the packers.

But packers disclosed yesterday there was a single exception in the advancing pork market. Pork loins, usually one of the most expensive of the various pork cuts, are selling at an exceptionally low price in relation to ham, bacon, shoulders, and the other cuts. The low cost of the loins is best shown in the following comparison of wholesale prices per pound with the other cuts:

	Yesterday.	Year ago.
Pork loins	$0.25½	$0.18½
Pork shoulder	.26¼	.13
Sweet pickled ham	.26½	.19
Butts	.29	.16

Cite Lend-Lease Program.

The meat packers said the lend-lease program has resulted in their stepping up their production to supply more cured pork, such as ham, bacon, and salt pork, for shipment to England and Russia. But the lend-lease buyers have not been buying the fresh pork such as the loins, and a vast surplus has been backing up in the packing plants.

Last week it became necessary for the government buyers to take 781,300 pounds of fresh frozen loins from packers' stocks so that they could keep up production of the other required products. This week the lend-lease buyers announced the purchase of an additional 2,737,843 pounds.

Many Prices Going Up.

But while one exception appeared on the advancing food price front, the market survey disclosed the prices of many food items are going up. Among the most recent to advance are honey, flavoring extracts, dried fruits, canned meats, cooking oils, rice, shortening, and soap. In some cases, the advance over a year ago and prewar days exceeding 100 per cent.

The retailers and food industry spokesmen said retail prices now are just "catching up" with wholesale costs. Storekeepers they said, have been slow to pass on to the consumers their rising costs.

The bureau of labor statistics reports that wholesale food prices now are 30.5 per cent higher than a year ago, while retail food costs in Chicago have gone up only 17.6 per cent. The food dealers say they are starting to take up this slack.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

For this very old and unusual gingerbread recipe Miss Carol Donovan, 7437 Paxton avenue, Chicago, wins today's $5 prize. The gingerbread is a delicious one that you'll serve frequently for dessert.

Have you a pet recipe that brings you compliments from family and friends? Write it legibly in standard form, giving complete and clear directions. Then send it to "Recipe Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It may be the winner of the $5 prize given daily.

GINGERBREAD.

[9 by 12 pan.]

½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup molasses
½ cup lukewarm milk
2 tablespoons ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon mace
1 teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup brandy
3 eggs, well beaten
3 cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 large orange, juice and grated rind
1 cup raisins [optional]

Cream the butter and sugar together. Add molasses, milk, and spices, which have been mixed together. Stir well and add brandy. Add eggs, which have been beaten until very light and thick, alternately with flour which has been sifted with baking powder and soda. Stir in orange juice and rind and raisins. Beat until well blended and light. Pour batter into muffin tins, or pan approximately 9 by 12 inches. Bake in moderate [350 degrees] oven until done, about 50 minutes.

Miss Donovan submitted the recipe exactly as she first copied it from a cookbook dated 1784. It called for cream of tartar and soda, leaveners used before baking powder was invented. The contest editors used the standard baking powder and soda proportions given here and got excellent results.

BEG YOUR PARDON.

Thru an error, one of the ingredients was misplaced in yesterday's prize recipe for orange coffee cake. "Two cups sifted flour" is the correct ingredient for the batter recipe. "One cup sifted flour," also listed among the ingredients, should have been included among the ingredients for the topping. If you want the complete and corrected recipe for this orange coffee cake send your request to Mary Meade, Tribune Tower.

A SHRIMP LOAF SUGGESTED FOR BUFFET SUPPER

A hollowed loaf of bread makes an attractive, edible container for this tasty shrimp mixture topped with sliced hard-cooked eggs. It's a convenient hot dish to serve at the buffet supper party, too.

Crusty Shrimp Loaf.

[Serves six.]

1 small loaf bread
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 No. 1 cans shrimp, chopped.
2 hard-cooked eggs
3 tablespoons chopped parsley

Slice crusts from sides and ends of bread and level off top. Cut out center, leaving ½ inch around sides and on bottom. Place in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for 15 minutes to dry out. Brush with melted shortening and place in hot oven [425 degrees] until lightly browned. Mix bread crumbs, milk, and seasonings. Place layer of chopped shrimp on bottom of loaf. Reserving two slices of egg for garnishing, chop remaining egg. Cover shrimp with half the crumb mixture; sprinkle with egg and parsley. Repeat until all ingredients are used. Bake in a hot oven [400 degrees] for 30 minutes. Garnish top with egg slices. Serve loaf with a creamy white sauce.

Cheese Croquettes Good as a Source of Protein

Golden brown croquettes, made with cheese, are a good source of protein. Serve them when meat is omitted from the menu. Add a cup of grated cheese to two cups thick white sauce, stirring the mixture constantly over a low flame until cheese is melted. Add two minced, hard cooked eggs, a teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of onion juice, and a little paprika. Cool the mixture and form it into balls, flatten them out, roll in fine bread crumbs, and brown in a small amount of fat. Serve the croquettes with tomato sauce.

CORN SIRUP IS USED AS SWEETENER FOR CORNMEAL MUFFINS

Fluffy cornmeal muffins have a mighty pleasant flavor when they're made with thick, sweet corn sirup. Remember that overmixing the batter will make tunnels, and muffins have no use for them.

Cornmeal Muffins.

¾ cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
⅝ teaspoon salt
1 well beaten egg
¾ cup milk
½ cup white or dark corn sirup
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together dry ingredients. Combine egg, milk, corn sirup, and melted shortening. Stir into dry ingredients, mixing just until moistened well. Fill oiled muffin tins two-thirds full and bake in hot oven [425 degrees] 20 to 25 minutes.

Miniature Homes Attract Throngs at Flower Show

BY JUNE GESERICK.

Sure indications of the coming of spring are the crowds of men and women that gather each day and evening at the National Flower and Garden show, now being held in the International amphitheater, to study the exhibition of miniature landscaped suburban homes and gardens.

Many of the visitors use a pencil and notebook to make sketches of the miniature homes — complete to tiny garbage pails on the back stoops.

One first prize winning exhibit, entered by the Men's Garden club of the Chicago region, is built around a large [according to the miniature scale] shade tree, under which are placed little deck and garden chairs.

As in 1942 real life landscapings, war gardens have not been neglected in the facsimiles. The planning of the yards of a southern colonial home, entered by the Gold H council of Hirsch High school, features a winding step-stone walk which leads thru a small ivy colored trellis, then out toward the war garden. The entry won a first prize.

Evanston High school students, if the school's miniature suburban home entry is any indication, favor omitting gardens in lieu of recreation space. Apparently landscaped for an athletically inclined family, the grounds include tennis and badminton courts, as well as a fully equipped playground.

Many of the little homes in MacArthurville, named Wednesday to honor the American army hero, indicate white fencing as the favorite home boundary.

Quarter inch cabbage heads, six inch poplar trees, and toothpick fences help to make the gardens true copies of a full sized home and its surroundings. The Gresham Woman's club entry features a tiny lily pond and, beside a small garage in the back yard, a bird house.

Mrs. Tommy Bright, nationally known arranger of flowers, addressed gardeners and club women who attended a tea yesterday afternoon in the Saddle and Sirloin club, which is adjacent to the amphitheater. Her talk on the arrangement of flowers was accompanied by demonstrations.

At a tea tomorrow in the club, Miss Florence Zeigel will tell guests about orchid growing.

Students of Art Given Chance to Sketch at Symphony Rehearsal

Inaugurating a new idea in art study in Chicago, students of the Art institute were given an opportunity for the first time yesterday morning to attend a rehearsal of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Frederick Stock, in order to make sketches of the musicians.

As a part of a contest, the winners of which will receive $50 and $25 defense bonds, to select two paintings to be hung in the foyer of Orchestra hall, the students will be permitted to attend orchestra rehearsals during the next three weeks.

Contestants may enter drawings and paintings of Dr. Stock or the orchestra. The conductor said yesterday, in regard to the contest, "It should go a long way toward strengthening the already happy relation between the plastic arts and music."

The Adrians in a Raid.

Janet Gaynor, an old Lake View High girl, was back in town with her husband, Adrian, the designer. Tiny and blonde, her heart-shaped face accented by a tremendous black straw sailor with a crown of pinkish beige, she waved away the perils of Los Angeles' recent "air raid" [the quotation marks are those of Secretary of War Stimson].

"We heard the sirens," she said, "and I said to Adrian, 'Turn on the radio. It will tell us what to do.' But when he did, a girl was singing. 'Boop-a-doop-a-doop.' I knew she wouldn't be singing in a raid, so we decided the movie lots near our house were making night shots of a war picture and went to sleep. . . . But one morning I was certain the Japs were right over us. The bombing and noise were devastating. I was terribly frightened. That morning it was the movie lots."

◆

FUN, of Course.

A brown book with a spiral binding was dropped into the public library's Victory Book barrel at its Lewis branch the other day. Its title, penned awkwardly in ink, is FUN, maybe, and its author is Kenneth Staugas. It is the first book to come to the library's hands to be written expressly for the soldier or sailor who receives it.

FUN, maybe has five divisions, all neatly tabulated in an index which bears the afterthought, "If some chapters are not finished, finish it yourself." The first division consists of pictures. The first one, an extra-toed cat stealing cream, is labeled "Pussey." Next comes a Hawaiian dancer, a bulldog, "Courtin'" [two little Negro children], pictures of Chicago—a park, grass, the lake, the harbor—and a tall secretary full of books. The latter's title is "Home."

Later come divisions of cartoons, jokes and poetry ["by Newago Newt and others," the others being Edgar Allen Poe], but the division we cherish most is called "Funnies." Various comic strips are pasted in this, but after them come the words, "Starting a new series called Animal Army." The first drawing, done by the author, shows two mice [we think] guarding [or going into] a "dressing room for new draftees." Then come eight clean white squares and the author's words, "You finish it."

The author's mother, with whom he lives at 1719 West Congress street, calls him Kennie. He was 11 this week. "He just did it private," his mother told us after we trailed Kennie home. "He didn't know whether to take it down. But I say, 'Take it anyway. Some one will like it.'"

Some one certainly should. Any one would.

Thru the Looking Glass

The mask as a beauty aid is about to come into its own, we imagine. It's the time honored preparation for the tired woman—and you don't need to be told that in these times women are usually busy as bees.

Our preference in masks is for the gentle kind and one of our favorites in this classification is herbal. Because it is so gentle in its action it can be used on the most delicate type of skin, it seems to clarify and brighten it and constitutes one of the quickest, most refreshing home beauty treatments we know of.

The mask preparation is thin, transparent, and rather like honey in consistency. It's to be used when you and your complexion feel the need of a pickup, and you must be certain that the skin to which it is applied is first cleansed thoroly. Pat it gently over face and neck and allow it to dry, which it will do in about 20 minutes.

During this time, for extra beauty measure if you're exhausted but want to look and feel fresh as the traditional daisy, you'd do well to lie down. You'll be surprised at how cares will vanish and the ache disappear from your bones if you do this.

◆

You'll be surprised, too, at the lovely glow of your skin when you remove the mask with warm, then cold water! It will have a quality of radiance, such as it might have if you'd taken a brisk walk in nippy air. That tired cast will have vanished, and you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that your own weariness, if not completely erased, has at least left no unflattering traces. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Pan-American Unity Is Theme of Clubwomen

Washington, D. C., March 19 [Special].—Emphasizing the importance of Pan-American understanding and unity toward the attainment of final victory "in the greatest conflict the world has ever known," Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, announced here today that the federation would take "Pan-Americanism" for its program theme at the 1942 convention. The annual meeting will open Monday, April 27, to continue thruout the week, in Fort Worth, Tex.

Mrs. Whitehurst also indicated that she would head a 10 day good will tour of the clubwomen to Mexico immediately after the convention, and that preparations were being advanced for a meeting of the visitors from the United States with women leaders of Mexico in Mexico City to study in a series of forums common problems and goals in the fields of education, welfare, and hemispheric defense.

◆

The convention program in Fort Worth, Mrs. Whitehurst said, would develop the "Pan-American" theme in a series of forum meetings covering "Latin America and Its International Relations," the "Economic Relations of Pan-America," "Women in the National and International Life of the American Republics" and "Education and Inter-American Cultural Relations."

Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, ambassador from Mexico, appearing at the opening forum, will lead a distinguished company of statesmen and educators from the Central and South American states and the United States to the convention platform.

◆

Entertainment features of the meeting, taking color from the locale, will carry a strong "south of the border" accent that will mount to the climax of a Spanish fiesta on "Western Hemisphere" night, with all the delegates blossoming out in picturesque costumes and rainbow hues.

Dinner Served Residents of St. Augustine House

A custom of many years' standing was observed yesterday when a special dinner was served by church dignitaries, clad in aprons instead of cassocks, to the 220 residents of St. Augustine house at 2358 Sheffield avenue, which is maintained by the Little Sisters of the Poor. This dinner, held annually on St. Joseph's day, was initiated by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. Joseph Quille, who died on March 10. One of those who assisted in the serving was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison, rector of Holy Name cathedral.

Conference of Catholic Charities to Close Today

Delegates to the National Conference of Catholic Charities, which will close today at the Stevens hotel, yesterday pledged anew their full support to the government during the existing emergency. Plans were made for western agencies of the organization to assist with evacuation in time of distress. Bishop C. H. Le Blond conducted the meeting. G. Howland Shaw will preside at a meeting of the charities' executive committee this morning in the ballroom.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

"Women have a vital interest in this war, too. They have expressed their feeling in the numerous civilian defense activities and in their offers to 'do something' at Fort Sheridan. We are appreciative of this desire and would like better to acquaint the women of Chicagoland with Fort Sheridan and the army—their army. As the first move in this direction, it would be a great pleasure to have you as our guest at a luncheon for newspaper women, Thursday, March 19, at Fort Sheridan.

"To give you a complete picture of what the new selectee experiences on entering the service, we have arranged a tour of Fort Sheridan and the recruit reception center, complete with a ride in the trucks which pick up the new men at the railroad station. Luncheon, consisting of real army 'chow,' will be served in the big recruit reception center mess hall."

This column is the result of our visit yesterday to the big fort on the north shore, and we are glad to be able to report to the mothers and wives and sweethearts of draftees and enlisted men, who have never had the opportunity of visiting a recruiting reception center, something about how their boys are welcomed into Uncle Sam's army. If it could be arranged—but it can't—it would be a wonderful experience for all our "wimmen" folk to pay such a visit as I did yesterday to an army camp. It's an inspiration to see how nothing is left undone to make those first few days for a raw recruit as pleasant and as comfortable as possible. Why, they even have sheets and pillow cases on their cots!

Our host said he had thought of having his women guests go right down the line the same as the boys do, taking the intelligence tests, etc., but fortunately this part of the scheduled tour of inspection was omitted. We did see a large group of boys in their brand new uniforms, still not pressed, showing how lately they had been issued, taking the tests, which is the first thing a recruit does after being given his supply of clothing.

One glance at the questionnaire was enough to make most of the newspaper women realize that they undoubtedly aren't as smart as they think they are. The boys did not look worried, tho; in fact, not one we saw at any time during the day looked anything except interested and alert.

We went thru the quartermaster's warehouse, which had been cleared of recruits for our visit, for the boys enter, remove all their civilian clothes, and in 17 minutes are ready to be checked out at the other end of the long building. Each one is equipped for winter and summer with dress and work uniforms, two pairs of shoes, four sets of cotton underwear and an equal number of wool ones, overcoat, cap, raincoat and hat, towels, and two barracks bags. These big blue denim bags are a solider's luggage, for as an officer said yesterday, "we don't mind if a soldier packs his stuff in suitcases instead of these bags, but the army doesn't furnish red caps, and bags are easier to carry than suitcases."

The old jokes about how a recruit's shoes and clothes fit are definitely out of order now, Lieut. George Hitchcock, adjutant of the reception center, assured us, for every man is fitted right there in the building and there's even a tailor who makes slight alterations while the boys wait.

After receiving his clothing the new soldier takes an intelligence test, given in the center chapel, which is used for three church services, Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant. The Christian Scientists have their own reading room, so do not use the chapel. The soldier and his intelligence quotient — separately, however—go from the chapel to the processing and classification building, where he is interviewed by trained personnel officers. This results in his being assigned to the work for which he seems best suited when in a day, or two or three, but not later usually than four days, he is sent to a training camp.

There were dozens of men at tables and desks doing this interviewing and other clerical work yesterday, but Lieut. Hitchcock agreed with us that after the women's auxiliary army corps was formed all of this work would be done by women. He also agreed with us that foreign service would not be the lot of many women in this army. Insurance and allotment matters are taken care of in this building, too, and undoubtedly women will serve in these departments, thus releasing men for more active service.

The "chow" was wonderful; tomato soup, roast beef [and there was a choice between rare and well done], mashed potatoes, gravy, peas, lettuce salad with a choice of French dressing or mayonnaise; apple pie and cheese, coffee, milk, bread, and butter. The feminine guests had as hearty appetites as the new soldiers, who looked as if they had been exercising all morning.

Our appetites had been whetted by a visit to the huge cooking school, one of 12 that the army conducts in this country and our possessions. The students yesterday were experimenting with cream of cabbage soup and orange chiffon pie, among other things, and the sight and smell of them had made the visitors ravenous. It takes the army two months to train a cook so that he can work in a camp or in the field. This is another job that could be taken over by WAACs very well, we and our guide, Lieut. Courtney Smith, assistant commandant of the cooking school, agreed.

Members of the Fort Sheridan volunteers and the three hostesses at the fort assisted Col. Rogers and some of his officers in taking us around the post. Mrs. Lester Wellman and Mrs. Roy Wyle of Highland Park and Mrs. Adolph Drey of Winnetka were the volunteers and the hostesses were Mrs. Taugher, Miss Mildred Cirkle, and Miss Dorothy Roberts.

The RRC recreation hall and the exchange, where the men buy cigarets, candy, etc., at lower prices than civilians buy them in retail stores, were also on our tour of inspection. The recreation hall looked as if women who want to do something for the soldiers could find plenty to do there. Slip covers for the mammoth sofas, relics from the Congress hotel, would add immeasurably to the appearance of the room, which is the only recreational spot in the center.

The Fort Sheridan volunteers are doing a splendid job, but they need more money and donations, for there are fifty-odd day rooms at the post, as well as the RRC recreation hall, that need to be furnished or renovated.

Young Men and Women to Discuss 'Love and War'

Young women and men will hold a forum discussion on "Love and War" at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the YWCA loop center, 59 East Monroe street, under the auspices of the YWCA and the YMCA. The discussion will be led by Dr. Franklin R. Fitch, gynecologist of the Illinois Social Hygiene league, and Mrs. Stina E. Hillman of the Association for Family Living. Questions raised at the forum will provide material for the course on marriage problems offered by the Y associations which will begin March 27.

The Housewife

The well trained dog doesn't climb on chairs and sofas, but if you have a little rascal in the house that insists on jumping all over the furniture you can keep him off by using a powder made especially for the purpose. You simply sprinkle a little of it on any object—rugs, beds, slippers—that you want to steer your pet away from, and he will leave them strictly alone, repelled by an odor which is not evident to us, but very evident to him. For outdoor use this product comes in liquid form.

Husband-Wife Piano Duo Win Warm Applause

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The reginal Ethel Bartlett and her twinkling eyed husband, Rae Robertson, make up one of the most successful two piano teams now before the public. They appeared with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Orchestra hall last night for the first time, playing the Poulenc D Minor Concerto under Hans Lange's direction.

Both the work and its performance were attractive. Parts of the concerto, notably the second movement, are neo-classical in the best sense of the term. They imitate the substance rather than the shell of classicism, and reveal a genuine feeling for the serene, the poised, the gracefully contoured, and the perfectly contained.

But the work has other aspects, too. There is a brittle merriment about the spirited, extroverted first movement, and a facile sort of elegance—a hint of the trivial or at least the decadent—in some passages of the third.

The pianists played the concerto so crisply, cleanly, and epigrammatically that the audience demanded an encore. It turned out to be Granados' exquisite "The Maid and the Nightingale," but the performance had not the fervent lyricism which Rubinstein's playing of this piece has taught us to expect. In fact, one of its headiest passages was presented in an almost offhand way.

Preceding the appearance of the pianists, Lange and the orchestra presented Eric De Lamarter's humorous overture, "The Giddy Puritan" [based on some hymn tunes of the founding fathers and developing a rhythmic sauciness not usually associated with 18th century New England] and Albert Noelte's Suite for Wind Instruments, Percussions and Harp. Noelte was present, and was brought to the stage to acknowledge the applause which his expert and unassuming little work had evoked.

◆

The concert's postintermission period was given over to Berlioz's Fantastic Symphony, a piece as wildeyed and as extravagantly romantic as its creator. The "Fantastic" is, in fact, the best of monuments to the mad musician who used to wander thru the French countryside pulling out his hair in tufts and was ready to swoon with ecstasy or go blind with rage at any or no provocation.

Last night's performance put sufficient emphasis on the sick, fevered aspects of the symphony, but it was chiefly remarkable for the persuasive way in which the intense lyricism of the third movement [the scene in the fields] was projected.

THE Inquiring Cosmetic Girl

THE QUESTION:
What do you do for Dry, Sensitive Skin?

THE ANSWERS:

Mrs. Wm. E. Stone, housewife, 1062 Columbia: Because of a recent illness, my skin became very dry and I couldn't seem to find a cream to correct that condition. Each time I tried another cosmetic, my skin became very irritated and was actually painful. Then my daughter bought some PEAU SECHE Dry Skin Cosmetics and persuaded me to just try them for a few days . . . and I did. I was skeptical at first . . . but not for long, for my skin was back to normal after a very short while. I consider myself fortunate that I have found this pure cosmetic that gives me such wonderful relief from dry, sensitive skin!

Mrs. Mary Herdan, housewife, 1235 Foster avenue: I have always had a nice complexion and still consider it important to take special care of my skin even though I am 70 years old and a grandmother. Although I haven't been in the habit of using face creams often, when I do use them, I want to feel sure that they are pure and will correct the dryness that has recently developed. Because I was told about Peau Seche Dry Skin Cosmetics, I bought a jar and found it so lubricating and soothing that I would highly recommend it to anyone.

Nuptial News Holds Special Interest Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEWS of several weddings that took place recently and of some that are planned for the near future is of interest today. Because Miss Patricia Ann Patterson and Charles Robinson Jacobs Jr. had waived all prenuptial parties owing to the brevity of his leave from the United States Coast Guard reserve few of their friends knew that their marriage was to take place last night. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church, the Rev. Samuel D. Harkness officiating. Only members of the two families were present. Later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Riddle II., gave a small reception in their home in Highland Park.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of sheer English illusion trimmed with a drop yoke of heirloom lace. John D. Galbraith Jr. served as best man. After a brief stay at French Lick Springs Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs will be at home in Evanston.

Lieut. Andrew Armstrong Will Marry Trinidad Girl.

For the second time within a week romance has invaded the Julian Armstrong home in Lake Bluff. From Trinidad, British West Indies, comes news of the engagement of Lieut. Andrew R. Armstrong and Miss Theresa Agostini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Agostini of St. Joseph, Trinidad. Only last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong announced the engagement of their daughter, Priscilla, to Stewart Peck.

The Armstrongs, of course, haven't met their future daughter-in-law. The engagement was announced last week in Trinidad at a dinner party which suddenly was broken up when an air raid alarm was sounded and the guests had to dash for tin hats.

Lieut. Armstrong attended the Choate school and was graduated from Culver Military academy.

Ensign Alan S. Frank Wed in West Because of War.

The rigors of war account for the fact that Miss Frances Oliver and Ensign Alan Stetson Frank were married in Yuma, Ariz., instead of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Oliver, make their home. Ensign Frank recently returned to this country after duty aboard an airplane carrier. His mother, Mrs. Lionel H. Frank of Glencoe, and the former Miss Oliver went west to meet him, and the wedding took place in Yuma on March 7.

The bride, a member of the Junior Service league of Fort Lauderdale, attended Florida State College for Women and the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Ensign Frank attended Lawrenceville and Princeton university and received his degree from the University of Chicago.

Cocktail Party Arranged for Newlywed Ericourts.

Mr. and Mrs. James Waller Rogers are entertaining at cocktails tomorrow for the newly married Daniel Ericourts. Mrs. Ericourt is the former Cornela Fairbanks. Her sister, Countess Ruggero Visconti di Modrone, and her little boy are here from the Berkshires for a two week visit with the former Edilth Fairbanks' mother, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks.

There are many parties for Miss Barbara Boettcher and Charles Lyman Emrich Jr., who are to be married on March 28 in the Evanston home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Boettcher. Mrs. George Trippe is giving the spinster dinner tonight. Her mother, Mrs. Lambert Davis, gave a blue and white kitchen shower on Wednesday. Mrs. Walter Warrick is giving a luncheon on Sunday at the Arts club, and Sunday night the L. Gifford Gardners will give a cocktail party in their new Winnetka home. Mrs. Gardner's sister, Miss Letitia Bear, is giving the

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Dear Boss.

A letter, sent to White Collar Girl and passed along without comment:

"Dear Boss:

"You know we get paid twice a month . . . in between . . that wait sure is long. Do you think we should be deducted for the days we are ill? [Nobody misses unless necessary and if any one takes advantage, then hire some one more conscientious.] . . . And that notice that if I'm late twice in one pay period, okay, you'll let it ride [providing the length of tardiness is reasonable] but here's the rub . . . if late three times in that period you nick my check for all three times. Say, Boss, did you ever wait for a street car on a rainy a. m. or feel dismally that one inch of snow is equal to an avalanche? Incidentally, the other day you were among the missing due to your bad cold. Anyway . . . that fin you took out of my pay check will have me scraping the bottom of my bag before next pay day. Hope I stay well, then this won't happen very often.

". . . Gee, Boss, a fella has to live, so have a heart, will ya'? . . .

"Millie."

Be Kind Week.

With the freezing order on typewriters our "Be Kind to Typewriters" week is growing like a weed. All that is now lacking is [a] a national proclamation, naming the date, plus [b] some publicity pictures with bathing beauties parading on a runway, carrying typewriters aloft.

In the meantime, you can be kind to your typewriter by:

1. Keeping it clean and covered when not in use.
2. Moving the carriage to right or left when making erasures.
3. Oiling it as little as possible, so that it doesn't collect a sticky mass of oil and dirt and bits of rubber.
4. Having it overhauled regularly by competent repair men.

Things Nobody Knows.

Not long ago the top man of General Motors Research, Charles F. Kettering, listed a number of questions to which he doesn't know complete answers. As a matter of interest to those of us—a long way from the top—here are a few of the sticklers:

What makes glass transparent, metals opaque?

What is the nature of vitamins?

What does a molecule look like?

How do our minds function?

What is immunity to disease?

What is electricity?

Still Good.

It's an old book . . . yellowed and dog-eared. Where it came from is a mystery of long ago, little girl years, but there it is on the next to the top shelf of a hanging book rack. In it is the perfect motto for the hard working girl of these wartimes—a homely southern phrase: "Keep Sweet and Keep Movin'."

Easter Styles Made Smarter and Simpler by War's Pinch

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

Easter paraded prettily yesterday at a fashion preview presented for Chicago fashion experts by the State Street council in the club lounge of the Palmer House. Priorities seem to have had but one effect on the fashion world—to make this spring's styles simpler and smarter than ever.

A whispered hint that today's dressmakers strive to do without essential materials comes from the increasing importance of surplice styles. One mannequin after another paraded in gowns tied softly at the sides, eliminating the need for zippers.

That women are buying with a longtime point of view no one who watched the preview could doubt. Fine wools, skilful draping, and hand tailoring are the important notes. None of these ever will become dated or out of style.

A suit of spongy, chamois colored wool, shown by a gay, dark-eyed model, sums up this spring's swing to suits. Its dull black braid binding twisting into tiny frogs at the notches of the revers sets the fabric off in bas relief. A pert straw skimmer afloat with chenille dotted veiling strikes the frivolous note predominant in Easter bonnets.

Even a chalk stripe gray flannel suit sings of youth and gayety. Across the jacket's left hip pocket waddles a family of enameled ducks. A cadet blue trench coat might have been lifted from the shoulders of an RAF flyer. Not so the navy straw gob hat which tops it, for two blue cornflowers peep from beneath the hat band to bob on top of the mannequin's pompadour.

Some of the Sunday-go-to-meeting frocks are heard as well as seen. One shown is of black faille. It rustled like autumn leaves as the model walked. A froth of whipped cream white ruffles foams at the frock's neckline, echoed by more organdy and lace ruffles on the sleeves. A gardenia laden skull cap is standard equipment for the costume.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Preliminary steps will be taken today toward setting up the first national convocation of Protestant Christianity, advocated for Chicago in 1944, when probably more than 50,000 church leaders would visit the city. Dr. Emory Ross of New York will outline the plan before 40 representatives of interdenominational agencies at the Hotel La Salle.

Announcement of the plan was made public by the International Council of Religious Education. It was stated that suggestions for such a convocation have been advanced in Protestant circles for the last two years and have been favorably received.

The merger plan, adopted at Atlantic City, N. J., last December, recently was approved by the International Council of Religious Education, one of the strategic agencies, representing 40 communions. If the other seven agencies adopt the plan it is probable the merger will be consummated in the 1944 convocation and the proposed Council of Churches of Christ of North America will be formally launched.

The conference, which opens today and continues thru tomorrow, will be addressed by representatives of five of the agencies in the proposed merger. It will be led by Dr. Hermann N. Morse of New York, head of the board of national missions of the Presbyterian church. A survey for a convocation site was recently completed by Dr. Roy G. Ross, head of the international council, and John B. Ketcham and Dr. Harry C. Munro of the council staff.

"The committee feels that no other city offers the necessary hotel and restaurant accommodations for the more than 50,000 persons expected to attend the first national convocation," Mr. Ketcham said.

SYNOPSIS.

Because Dave Wallace asked Ed Seegrist, Chevron ranch hand, about the death of Tip Macy, Ed directed Dave to waterless tanks in the desert where he almost perished before a stage picked him up and took him into Vermillion. Beth Hilliard, who inherited two-thirds of the Chevron Cattle company from her father, is on the same stage, returning home after two years' absence, only to learn from her partner, Jess Gove, that the hard winter killed most of their cattle and she is now practically penniless. Arriving in Vermillion, Dave knocks Ed down, and is ordered out of town by Sheriff Sam Kinsley, when Arnie Chance, Chevron foreman, furnishes an alibi for Ed. Ed claims Macy died in a blizzard, but Dave, doubting his story, decides to talk to Martha, Tip's widow, before leaving Vermillion. He learns that Martha has been whisked to Hilliard, the cattle company town, and he goes straight to Hilliard, where he finds Ed in Con Buckley's saloon with Pete and Ray, two other Chevron men, and beats Ed up again while the rest look on, including old Ives, friend of Beth's father. Neither old Ives nor Buckley trust Jess Gove, and when Dave makes a getaway on a Hilliard horse, Ives follows him and talks him into seeing Martha before clearing out. Dave finds out at the Hilliard hotel that Martha has been taken to Chevron, so he rides out there and gets into a shooting scrape. Only Beth's arrival saves him from being killed. Jess admits to Beth and Dave that Macy did not die in a blizzard, but was murdered. He says a note in Macy's pocket indicated he had been in with cattle thieves and that the murder had been hushed up to spare Martha. Beth believes Jess, but Dave is sure the story is untrue.

INSTALMENT XVII.

UNCONVINCED.

Pete headed for the corral, and as soon as Beth was past the bunkhouse she slowed their pace.

She looked obliquely at Dave and then said, "Do you think an untrustworthy man would have been that considerate to a rustler's wife?"

A hard caution had held Dave's face expressionless so far. He wanted a horse with which to get out of here. But Beth Hilliard's words angered him beyond caution, prodded him into a protest that he spoke in a sardonic, suppressed anger. "He was considerate of Mrs. Macy, all right. Only, that don't count a damn."

Beth was shocked into a moment's silence by his vehemence. "Then what does count?"

"A man's dead, killed," Dave said grimly. "Do you keep it quiet to save his wife or do you turn over a whole country to find out who killed him?"

"But if Tip was rustling he deserved what he got!"

"With Gove and Chance the judge of whether he deserved it!" Dave said angrily.

"They don't judge it! Every one knows what happens to cattle thieves."

"If he was a cattle thief," Dave countered.

He and Beth stared angrily at each other for a moment, and then Dave left her, cutting over to the downed Chevron horse. He'd said enough, too much. But Beth Hilliard was blinded by her loyalty to Gove. Didn't she think it strange that Seegrist would risk killing him there on the desert? Or that Chance was out to finish him when she walked in here an hour ago?

He unloosened the cinch of the saddle on the dead horse, and tugged the stirrup free, his face dark and scowling. When he had taken off the bridle, too, he turned toward the corral and discovered that Beth Hilliard had followed him and was waiting for him.

As she turned toward the corral with him, she said coldly, "I'm sorry about the welcome you got here. But it's not wise to beat up one of our hands twice and then ride into the place on a horse you've taken from him."

Dave said nothing. His jaw was set grimly, his face unfriendly and coldly hostile. Seeing it, Beth said no more. Pete Framm led out a long legged buckskin gelding and Beth, smiling, went up to the horse and stroked his nose.

As Dave was ready to step into the saddle, Beth Hilliard said, "Leave him with Sam and tell him to sell him. On my account if he's sold."

Dave looked at her and his face said plainly that he didn't understand.

"Sam Kinsley, the sheriff in Vermillion," Beth said. Close thunder seemed to carom off the peaks now, and a cold wind whipped a strand of hair across her face. She brushed it back and waited until the thunder died, and then explained in a matter of fact voice, "I'm selling my share of Chevron to Jess. Sam has some Chevron horses from the reservation he's selling for us. This horse is not one of them, this is mine. He's to credit me with the sale instead of the company. Is that clear?"

Dave nodded.

Beth said, "My buckskin ought to be a passport out of this country. If I were you, I'd leave."

Dave stepped into the saddle and said, "Thanks," and Beth turned back for the house without a word in parting.

Dave, watching her briefly, saw her look up at the clouds bringing the coming rain and then look down again. He was aware that young Pete Framm was watching him as he still held the bridle.

Dave smiled and said, "Obliged."

Pete said softly, "Arnie Chance drifted out while you were in the house."

Dave regarded him silently, aware that Pete was trying to tell him something, liking the brash, reckless look of him.

"Kinsley?" Dave murmured.

Dave nodded once, slowly, and said, "O." He lowered the hand that held the reins and rested the butt of his palm on the saddle horn. "You're ridin' in some pretty cold company, Pete."

"They haven't spooked you yet," Pete pointed out, and added, "It's the other way around. You've got Seegrist so scared he wants to drift."

"He'll drift," Dave said quietly. He lifted the reins. "When you want to quit, Pete, look up Ives." He touched spurs to his horse and Pete said abruptly:

"Hold on a minute." Color crept into his tanned face, but he said doggedly: "I want to ask you a question. This Mrs. Macy. Did you come for her?"

"To see her."

"Not take her?"

"No."

Pete grinned then and stepped back and raised a hand in quiet salute. A blast of thunder shook the very earth as Dave rode out to the nearest timber.

* *

It was after dark, and old Ives sprawled comfortably under his slanting ground sheet on which the rain was dripping. He'd let the fire die into coals, and they sizzled softly as the few drops of rain which succeeded in sifting thru the thick spruce above hit them. He had been busy today after his own fashion.

He'd brought his other horse over from the mountain pasture where he'd been grazing, and had bought some grub in Hilliard as he had promised Dave Wallace he would. Afterward he'd rounded up a dutch oven, a ground sheet, a change of clothes, and such, that transformed this camp into something permanent. Later he got down to business, which was circling Hilliard and reading the comings and goings of the slope in the tracks left in the wagon road. This road was Ives' newspaper; in its dirt he read everything that was necessary for him to know, and out of today's reading he had gleaned one mildly significant fact. Sheriff Sam Kinsley had drifted into Hilliard from Vermillion after the rain started.

Ives raised his head now and listened, and when he was sure of it he came to his knees and threw a dry pitch knot and a couple of sticks of wood on the fire.

Presently, he looked up from the fire and saw Dave Wallace, his slicker and hat channeling water, ride into the circle of firelight and pull up. There was no welcome on Dave's sober face.

"I'll bum one more feed from you," Dave said, without friendliness.

"Light and eat," Ives invited.

The big man dismounted, and Ives noticed now that he was riding Beth Hilliard's buckskin. Dave came over to the fire shucked out of his slicker, and sat down under the slanting tarp. Ives silently raked the Dutch oven and an oversize battered coffee pot from the coal, and placed them beside Wallace.

Ives was careful not to talk, because he could sense the big man's pride. After what had passed between them this morning, only his hunger had driven him here, not any affection for Ives, and Ives knew it. This would have to be handled with infinite delicacy if he were to succeed, Ives judged.

First he let Dave fill himself. Dave wiped out the dutch oven with a handful of grass, emptied the coffee pot and then leaned back and rolled a smoke and lighted it. His face was sombre, preoccupied. Legs crossed tailor fashion, he stared at the fire a long time, and Ives watched him patiently.

"Well, you were right. I missed my chance," Dave said presently.

Ives wisely refrained from commenting. He only said, almost with indifference, "So you're headin' back, now."

Dave turned to regard him with a cool level stare. "Did I say I was?"

"What are you waitin' for?"

"To see Mrs. Macy."

"Well, why don't you?" Ives asked mildly.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

What appears to be a superabundance of trumps often traps expert declarers, as well as those who make no claim to expertness. Today's hand, for example, occurred in a masters' team-of-four contest.

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

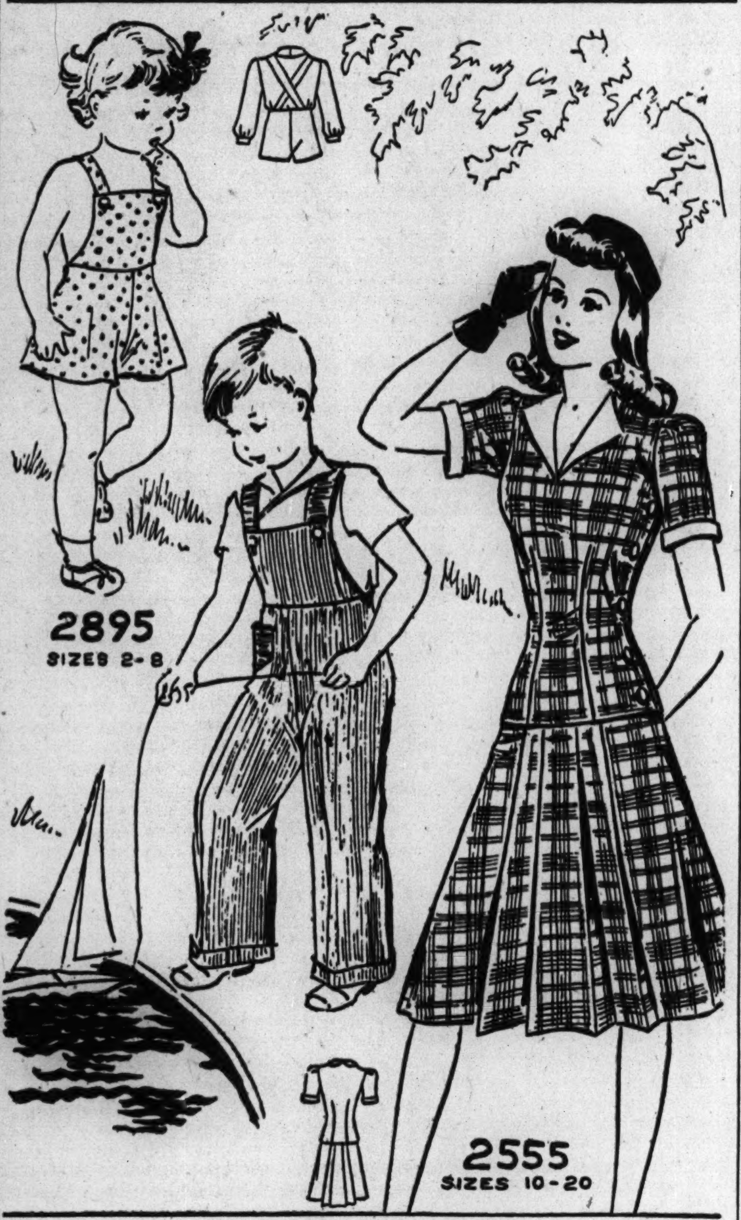
I have recorded the bidding as it actually took place, which does not mean that I approve it unreservedly.

West opened the three of spades, and declarer let the play ride to his own hand. The nine forced the king and now, casually assuming that he had plenty of trumps, declarer laid down the ace and king. When West failed to follow, declarer abruptly changed his mind about the safety of drawing trumps. Now, somewhat late, he turned his attention to the diamond suit, leading up to dummy's king-queen. His worst fears were realized when East smothered the queen with the ace. Fortunately for the declarer, however, East [altho another master player] failed to rise to his opportunity.

At this point, the return of East's last trump would have made declarer very sorry that he had drawn the second round. Obviously, this would have reduced declarer to one trump and made it impossible to ruff away dummy's losing diamonds. However, with the highly optimistic notion that West might have the club ace, East returned the club queen, and after that declarer was able to recover from his slip. He won with the club ace and took a spade finesse to dummy's ace-jack. When the latter card held, he cashed the diamond king and ruffed a diamond with his own seven of hearts. He then ruffed a club with the heart nine and ruffed the last diamond with the ten of hearts. Now he was home. He ruffed the club ten with the jack of hearts and drew East's last trump by leading the heart queen. The spade ace supplied the fulfilling trick.

If declarer had drawn no more than one trump before knocking out the diamond ace and embarking on the semicross ruff plan noted, he would have given East no opportunity for a ruinous return.

Designs for Summer Season



TWO SUMMERTIME PATTERNS.

Both these patterns look ahead to summer, and serve right now for southern vacations, of course. At the left a design which creates a sunsuit for a small lady and an overall for her older brother. At the right a two-piece frock reminiscent of the jerkin, grand in seersucker and other "they can take it" washables.

Style No. 2895 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6, and 8. Size 4 requires ⅞ yard of 39 inch material for short playsuit; ⅝ yard for full length overalls; 1⅛ yards for 35 inch for blouse.

Style No. 2555 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material for dress; ½ yard contrasting for collar and cuffs.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing costs (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The spring pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

New Designer Displays Smart Hat Collection

BY REA SEEGER.

Popping up like spring crocus blooms come the new spring clothes collections. One of the newest showings is the hat collection by Josephi, a new luminary on the designing horizon. This clever hatmaker launches a new and sprightly assortment of "pretty" models, hats large, small, and medium that always flatter, always emphasize charm and beauty. For during days of tension, bad news, and all the gloomier aspects of wartime, Josephi believes fervently in the necessity of a woman radiating beauty and color . . . all his hats generously provide the frame for such color and beauty.

Most of the spring models boast flowers, ribbon, and lace. One of his small tie-on Polynesian affairs flaunts as many as six different clusters of buds and blossoms to accent the sharp cerise tone of the band to which they are attached. One huge, dark purple straw hat dips down in front and at the back, under the brim is a narrow band of magenta, and over the top and pulled thru the shallow crown in two slits is a cloud of emerald green veiling.

Tiny white piqué hats, ideal toppers for suits, have eyelet embroidery trim in a straight edge extended way over the headline. Other daytime and suit hats combine straw with felt, straw with crêpe. One jaunty model of chamois yellow color teamed with shiny black has a high crown and a quill going right thru the brim to end down around the shoulder.

Using a double frill of narrow black lace at the under edge of a gleaming black rough straw cartwheel, Josephi achieves even more unusual charm with two blood red roses across the top of the shallow curved crown and the wide brim.

Homes Sought by Sally for Several Pets

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Perhaps some of our readers who are interested in obtaining pets will care to take advantage of either of the following offers.

"Dear Miss Brown: Can you help me find just the right home for my Scotty? It seems as tho somewhere among your readers there must be a family which would fill the requirements.

"I want to find a farm home, away from any town, for my pedigreed black female Scottish terrier, 5 years old. I am giving her up because she is so unhappy here in the city. She is a beauty—fine, prize winning stock on both sides of her pedigree—and would be valuable if not so utterly timid.

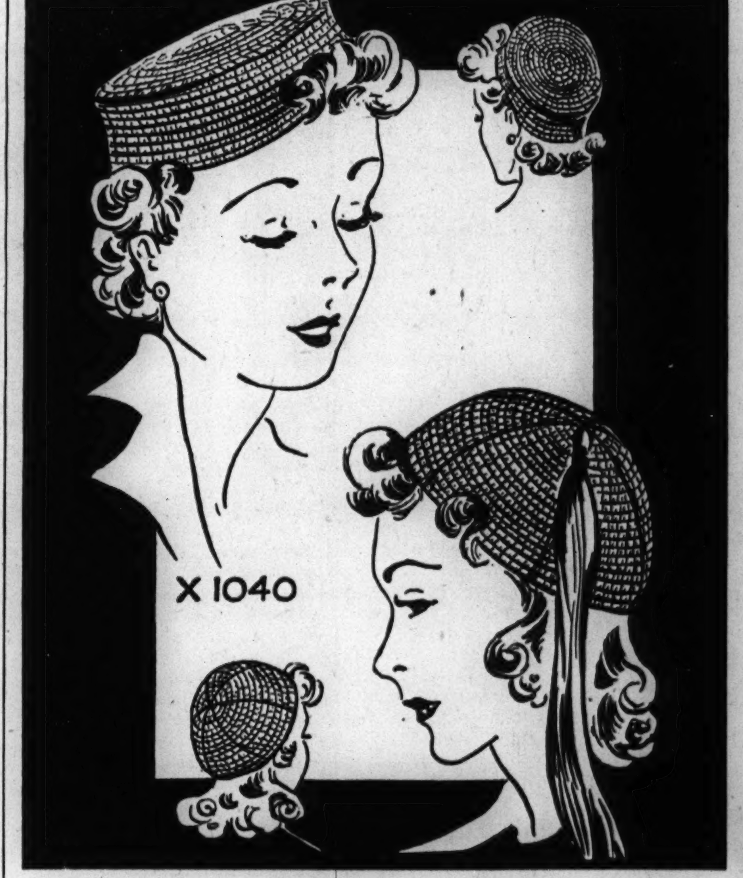
"Born and raised in the country in England, she is terrified of all city noises—backfiring cars, roller skating children, etc.—and hates being taken out on a leash. She would be an ideal playmate for a small girl, being absolutely gentle, healthy, playful, and housebroken, but I will not let her go where there are boys, as she was mistreated by boys before I owned her, and to this day is more afraid of a boy than of anything in the world.

"Isn't there some one who will appreciate such a pet for a daughter—not in a suburb, but on a farm in open country?—K. H."

Interested readers may write to Mrs. H. in care of this department. All mail will be forwarded to her for selection, and the recipient will be notified. Please do not telephone in regard to this offer.

Mrs. R. has five healthy, plump English shepherd puppies which she would like to place in homes in the outlying districts. They are all males, about two months old, and any interested reader who possesses a yard and would like to have one of these pets may write to Mrs. R. in care of this department.

Two Crocheted Hats



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted pillbox and a "beanie" are two favorite hat styles for all ages. They are inexpensive to create, and any type of trimming may be used. A different hat for every change of wardrobe keeps one dressed in high fashion, and may be easily accomplished by making one's own.

For instructions in crocheting the pillbox and "beanie," No. 1040, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing costs, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Salvation Army Gets City's First Mobile Canteen Unit Today

Chicago's first mobile canteen unit will be presented to the Salvation Army today by the Chicago Telephone Traffic Employés' union, a group of 7,400 women. Mrs. Emma Jascot, president of the union, will present the canteen and a $500 check to cover initial operating expenses to Lieut. Commissioner John J. Allan, central states commander of the Salvation Army, in a brief ceremony at 12:30 o'clock in front of the city hall on La Salle street.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Gen. Nathan William MacChesney and Col. Albert E. Chesham of the Salvation Army are expected to speak. Adj. D. E. Norris will direct the Salvation Army staff band. The mobile canteen will be used to serve refreshments at the United States army and marine recruiting centers in the loop and also will be available for civilian defense purposes.

Parents of students at the Girls' and Boys' Latin schools, the Harris, and at the North Shore Country Day school will be busy today and tomorrow attending spring plays in which the youngsters will be taking part.

The Country Day school is presenting two operas, one of them by the head of the music department, Ramsay Duff, in collaboration with a student, John Jamieson, tonight and tomorrow night. The Dramatic club of the Boys' Latin is giving "The Importance of Being Ernest" at 8 o'clock tonight. The girls from the fifth grade up in the Girls' Latin are presenting a folk festival with dancing and singing at 3 o'clock this afternoon and at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night. The senior girls at the Harris will give two plays this afternoon.

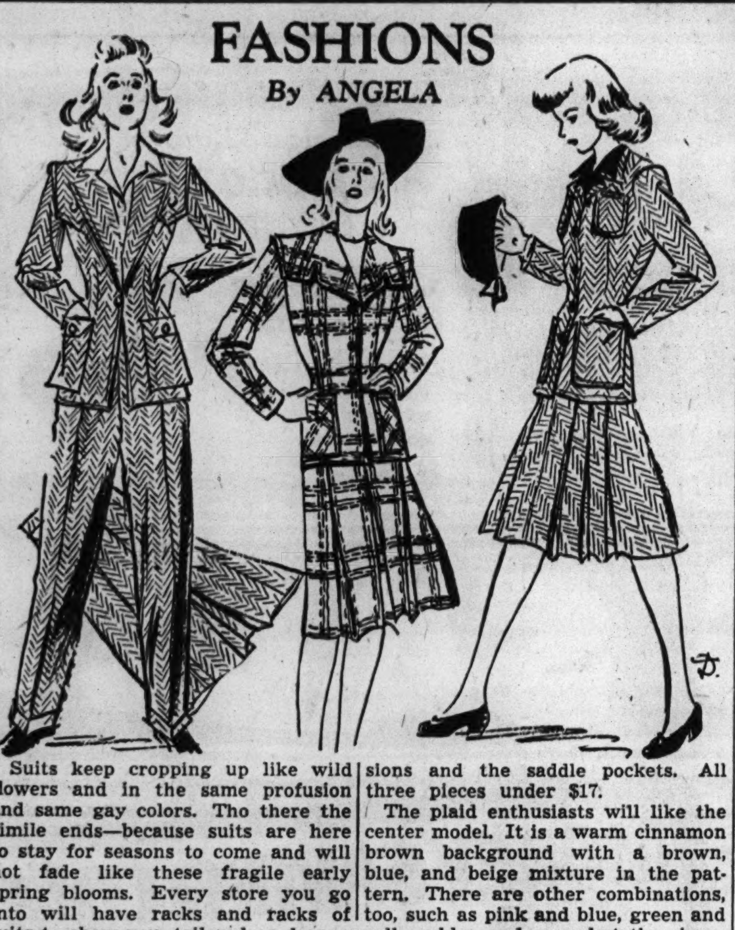
FASHIONS

By ANGELA



Suits keep cropping up like wild flowers and in the same profusion and same gay colors. Tho there the simile ends—because suits are here to stay for seasons to come and will not fade like these fragile early spring blooms. Every store you go into will have racks and racks of suits to show you, tailored or dressy, plain or fancy, plaid or herringbone, rough or smooth, solid color or combinations. What is your pleasure?

Not a suit with two pairs of pants, but better than that. Here is a light blue or natural herringbone tweed with matching slacks and skirt. The jacket with a single leather covered button at the slimmed waistline achieves a military effect by virtue of the epaulettelike shoulder extensions and the saddle pockets. All three pieces under $17.

The plaid enthusiasts will like the center model. It is a warm cinnamon brown background with a brown, blue, and beige mixture in the pattern. There are other combinations, too, such as pink and blue, green and yellow, blue and gray, but the cinnamon is by far the best looking in our opinion. The new twist to this design is the square collar—squared off in back, too. One hundred per cent wool.

Natural for Fiance to Be Little Jealous

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My fiancé and I have so many arguments about where I go when I'm not out with him that it isn't funny any more. In fact, it never did tickle my funny bone to be hounded for explanations of every little movement. He doesn't even believe that I should go out with girl friends for fear I'll meet other fellows that way. I am really not anxious to go places without him, but it is hard to feel that you can't go to a movie with a girl friend without having to make a long explanation about it. What do you think about this state of affairs?

"MOLLY."

Sure you're not making a state of affairs out of it, Molly? Sure you're not making your harmless associations out as something else, to tease that fiancé of yours? Are you sure that your fiancé has your heart, your whole heart, and nothing but your heart? If true, don't you think it would be a simpler matter to explain, before you are questioned, just where you went, with whom, and what you did? Act mysterious about it, or withhold information, and if your man is a bit jealous, as most men in love are, you're simply fanning the green glow, for which you should be ashamed.

We know no better way of ironing out difficulties such as yours, Molly, than to put yourself in the other person's place and figure how you would react under a given set of circumstances. Could you take it easily and gracefully, did you suspect him of sneaking glances at other girls while out on a date with his young men pals? Could you bear it if he were evasive and resentful of questioning? Wouldn't you think him far more considerate were he to open up of his own accord and tell you he took in a movie with Frank and Tom and Bill, and had a coke after the show?

Looking at Hollywood . . By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., March 19.—The galley proof trade in Hollywood is becoming a heavy industry. Quite some time ago, now, the movies learned to read and bought some books; more recently they learned to rely on their own judgment, instead of waiting for a story to prove itself a hit. . . . Thus, the Warners have acquired a yet unpublished yarn by Ruth O'Malley, titled "Catch a Falling Star." And Paul Muni's return to the screen will be a still unpublished tale by C. S. Forester, "Commandos Came at Dawn." In this one the commandos raid the Norwegian coast and find a Norse named Muni. Lester Cowan intends to produce it—probably for Columbia. . . . Outstanding job of galley proof buying was when D. O. Selznick snagged a bale of paper titled "Gone With the Wind" before one copy had been sold on bookstands.

Hollywood is an international business and it is finding that international communications are difficult. For instance, studios dealing with Britain and South America have been cautioned by the cable companies to make everything very plain. Paramount recently gave a cable censor conniptions by sending a business communication which included this layout of words: "Lady Has Plans Torpedo Boat . . . Fly by Night Fleet's In." All the studio was doing was telling a foreign office the titles of a few pictures, but it looked kind of dirty for a while.

Another problem of international communications involves Deanna Durbin's next picture, "Three Smart Girls Join Up." Story is this: An Englishman, Derek Bolton, wrote some time ago to the London office of Universal Pictures, saying he had a good idea for a Durbin. Why not make Deanna a mechanic in an aircraft plant, and do a picture about women in defense industries?

The London office forwarded the two page suggestion to New York, New York put it on the teletype to Hollywood. Producer Bruce Manning thought the notion sound—but did little because Deanna and U were feuding. When the fight was patched up, Manning talked to Miss Durbin and she, too, thought "Three Smart Girls Join Up" was a good hunch. So Manning cabled London to buy Derek Bolton's idea.

But Bolton is in the RAF, and the RAF wouldn't tell where Bolton was. "But all we want to do is pay the guy some money," said Universal. "Can't help it," said the RAF. "We can't tell where anybody is."

"Well," said Universal, "tell us when Bolton will be on leave, because we have his home address. "Can't do that, either," was the reply. Finally a British government official who has a soft spot in his heart—or head—for writers volunteered to be the intermediary, and thru him the sale was completed. Papers in a movie deal are supposed to be notarized, but these weren't—because a seal would give the location of a notary public. Anyhow, Universal has its new plot for Miss Durbin, and there's money waiting in England for Bolton. Bolton may be in England, Libya, Australia—or even California, for all anybody knows.

Incidentally, the tale shows how the movies will go for an idea. "Three Smart Girls Join Up" was not a scenario—just a suggestion; and for all Universal knows Bolton may never have written a lick for publication in his life. It will take 10 weeks for Paul Jarrico and Richard Collins, two Hollywood scenarists, to knock out a screen play.

This week's income tax deadline brought out a saddening fact: Some of our hot-shots are living on peanuts. One director who earns $3,000 a week has only $300 he can call his own. His studio is taking the rest and paying off Uncle Sam. One $500 a week actress is living on $75 for the same reason. . . . Taxes don't make the difference, either. It's just that many Hollywoodians are happy-go-lucky and get behind the 8-ball. They run short of cash. Up to this year a big shot who happened to be short of money could go to the bank and borrow enough to pay his tax. Last year one male star borrowed $200,000 just as easy—and paid it off just as easy out of this year's earnings. But this year the banks aren't lending; they figure that next year's taxes will be so high that nobody will have enough left for paying off old loans.

MORTON WINS, LINDBLOM LOSES IN STATE MEET

PIRATES DEFEAT CUBS, 5 TO 4, FOR SECOND STRAIGHT

Nicholson Crashes Homer in Third.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—The Cubs' beautifully conditioned muscles this afternoon again failed to function to a degree adequate for victory purposes, and as a result Jim Wilson's boys were thumped for the second time by the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 4. It was the fourth straight whipping suffered by the Cubs, the grievous string starting against the White Sox Monday.

The Cubs' so-called "A" team will meet the Athletics in Hollywood tomorrow. Paul Erickson and Tot Pressnell will pitch.

The north siders were ahead briefly, and by a good margin, today because of a three run splurge in the third inning against Johnny Lanning which featured a two run homer by Bill Nicholson. But the Pirates immediately thereafter got after Claude Passeau for four runs in the fourth.

Tough on Flores.

Tho the Cubs tied the score in their fifth, at the expense of Luke Hamlin, they couldn't hold the deadlock as the Pirates got a run off Jess Flores, who yielded only two singles in four innings of work. The Chicagoans never could overcome this deficit. Their best try against Truett Sewell in the ninth had the bases loaded with one out. Then Nicholson hit into a double play.

The Cubs made seven hits, three of them by Charley Gilbert, including a double. Charley got to each of the Pirate pitchers.

If Passeau had been asked to pitch only three innings, the Cub vogue until today, he would have had a happy afternoon, for he struck out four of the first five men to face him and was charged with only one hit, an infield single which should have been fielded.

Claude Is Rudely Awakened.

Perhaps Passeau felt unduly relaxed when the Cubs made three runs in the third inning on a walk, a single by Eddie Waitkus, and Nicholson's homer. At any rate, Jimmy Wasdell walked at the start of the fourth. Stu Martin hit into a double play, but Vince DiMaggio was credited with a single when he bounced the ball off Cy Block's glove. Elbie Fletcher also was credited with an infield scratch, off Waitkus' glove, after which Bob Elliott walked, loading the bases. John Wyrostek doubled to left, scoring DiMaggio and Fletcher, and Al Lopez doubled to left, scoring Elliott and Wyrostek.

Johnny Barrett batted for Lanning and tapped to Passeau. Tho he had been scheduled to pitch five innings, Passeau withdrew after throwing out Barrett, and Flores took over at the start of the fifth.

Pirate Misplays Help.

It took two errors on one play to enable the Cubs to tie the score in the fifth against Hamlin. With two down Gilbert singled to left and Waitkus walked. Nicholson bounced a gentle one to Fletcher, who fumbled the ball, Nicholson reaching first to load the bases. Gilbert broke for home when he saw the ball get away from Fletcher, but Elbie recovered and had Gilbert trapped with a throw to Lopez. In the rundown, however, Elliott dropped a throw from Lopez, whereupon Gilbert scored the tying run.

The Pirates broke the 4 to 4 tie in the seventh. Wyrostek led off with the first hit off Flores, a single to right. Lopez flied to Cavarretta, and Culley Rikard, batting for Hamlin, bounced out to Hack. Coscarart singled to right, scoring Wyrostek.

NATION'S STARS CLASH TONIGHT IN CHICAGO RELAYS

Warmerdam, Rice Head Brilliant Field.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

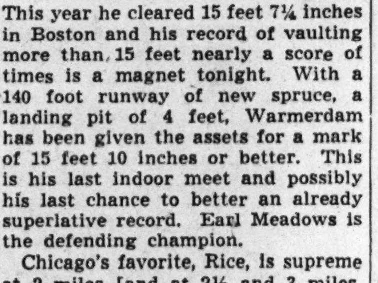
The nation's track stars are on parade tonight in the Stadium in the sixth Chicago relays. Headlining the parade of athletes are Cornelius Warmerdam, the world's greatest pole vaulter, and Gregory Rice, who seeks to better his own two mile indoor record.

Supporting these events are all-star fields in the high jump, 600 yard run, 1,000 yard run, the mile in which Campbell Kane of Indiana will defend his title; the 50 yard sprint series and the hurdle series. Competition between Fred Wolcott, National AAU indoor champion; Charley Hlad of Michigan Normal, who defeated Wolcott last Saturday night, and Bob Wright, Ohio State's Western conference hurdle champion, establishes this event on a par with the vault and two mile run.

Dodds May Push Rice.

Warmerdam and Rice are conceded victories in their specialties, altho Gil Dodds, the former Ashland college middle distance runner now representing the Boston AA, is expected to push Rice in the two miles. The hurdle series will be brilliantly contested not only because of the caliber of the leaders previously mentioned, but because a slip may remove the greatest of them in the races that require a combination of skill and speed.

Wolcott lost only one race while he competed for Rice institute, his alma mater. Wright is recognized as one of the greatest of collegiate hurdlers by his victories two weeks ago in the Big Ten indoor meet and by his repeated successes in tying the world's 60 yard high hurdle mark.



Gregory Rice. Cornelius Warmerdam.

Clears 15 Feet 7¼ Inches.

Warmerdam needs no introduction. This year he cleared 15 feet 7¼ inches in Boston and his record of vaulting more than 15 feet nearly a score of times is a magnet tonight. With a 140 foot runway of new spruce, a landing pit of 4 feet, Warmerdam has been given the assets for a mark of 15 feet 10 inches or better. This is his last indoor meet and possibly his last chance to better an already superlative record. Earl Meadows is the defending champion.

Chicago's favorite, Rice, is supreme at 2 miles [and at 2½ and 3 miles, also]. He established a Chicago relays mark of 8:51.1 last year, which also is the indoor record. With Dodds setting an early pace Rice may eclipse his own mark. Certainly Rice's sprint at the end of the race insures victory; it may insure a record.

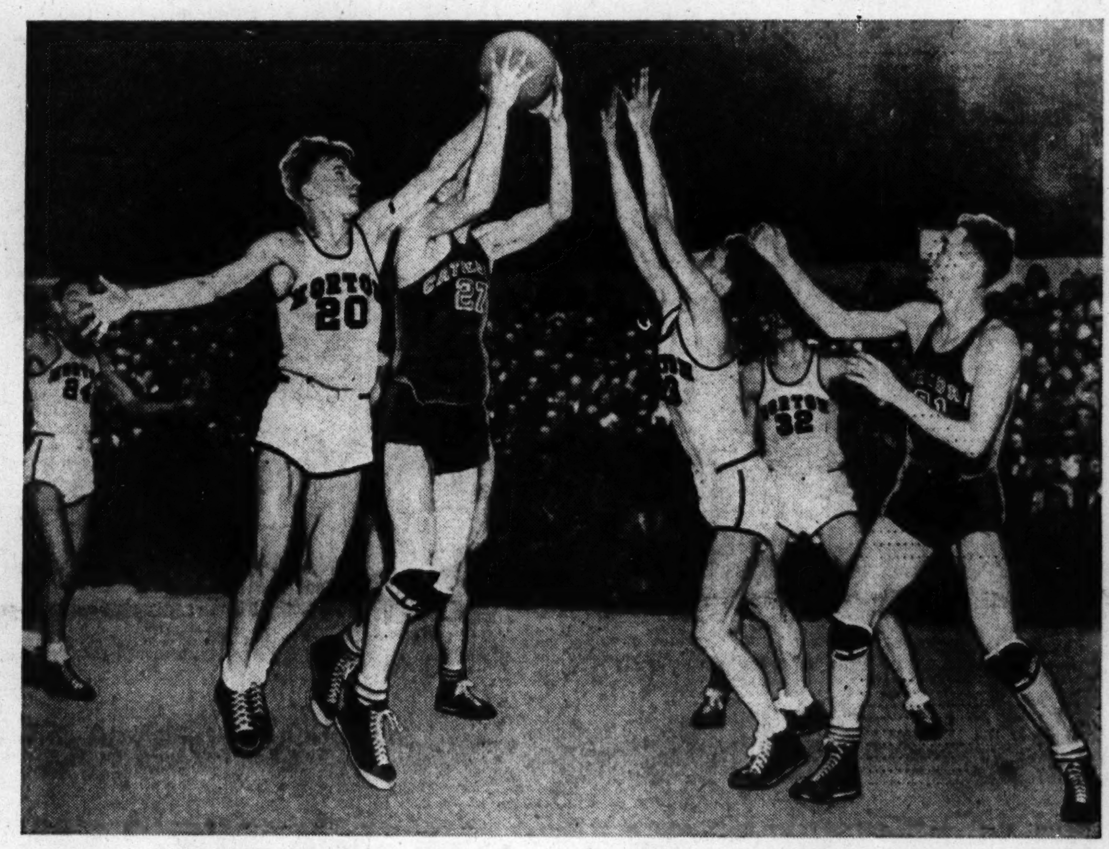
The sprint series tonight, 40 yards, 50, and 55 yards, includes Herbert Thompson, defending champion; Howard Millen, Marquette's Central Collegiate conference champion, and Lee Farmer, Iowa sophomore, who won the Big Ten indoor sprint. Two others will qualify from a preliminary 50 yard sprint.

Strong Field in Bankers' Mile.

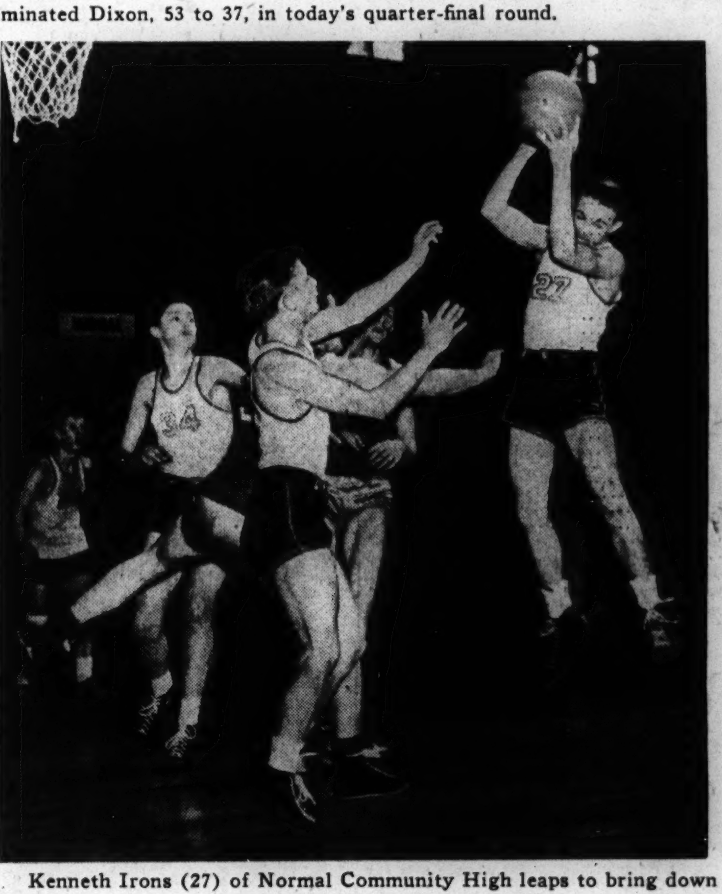
Walter Mehl, former Wisconsin runner; Kane, John Borican, and Bob Ginn of Nebraska will run the famed Bankers' mile. Kane is defending champion over the 11 lap to a mile track. His time last year was 4:11, but the meet record is 4:07.9 and was established by Chuck Fenske in 1940.

Mel Walker will defend his high jump championship against a group that includes Jim Milne of Michigan State; Keith O'Rourke, Notre Dame; Don Smith, Northwestern, and Amon Luckey of Loyola.

They Play for Keeps in State Tourney



Morton High school of Cicero, defending its title in the state tournament in Champaign, proves in a 47 to 32 victory over Cathedral High of Springfield yesterday that it will be a battle to the finish. Here Howard Dillon of Cathedral (27) has the ball, but is being challenged by Charles Cuda (20), Fred Ploegman (23), and Joe Malecek (32), all of Morton. George Rudis of Cathedral (21) also gets in on the play. Morton will meet Decatur, which eliminated Dixon, 53 to 37, in today's quarter-final round.



Kenneth Irons (27) of Normal Community High leaps to bring down the ball in a first round battle with Streator, which the latter won, 45 to 34. Other Normal players on the scene are Don Anderson (22) and Robert Rhoades (34). [TRIBUNE Photos.]

RED WINGS BEAT BLACKHAWKS, 6-4, IN SEASON'S FINAL

Detroit, Mich., March 19 [Special].—The Red Wings scored their seventh straight victory on home ice tonight by beating the Chicago Blackhawks, 6 to 4, in the last regularly scheduled National Hockey league game for both teams.

The fourth place Hawks will open their Stanley cup playoff series with Boston in Chicago Stadium Sunday night. The Wings will meet the Montreal Canadiens here.

Four of Detroit's goals were manufactured by the Don Grosso-Sid Abel-Eddie Wares line. Grosso and Wares each scored two goals and two assists. The four points raised Grosso's total to 53, a sum which eased him past Phil Watson of the Rangers into third place in the league's individual scoring.

A Record—Almost!

Grosso scored twice within eight seconds in the last minute of the first period. Five seconds later he fired a long shot which Goalie Sammy Lo Presti barely blocked. Had he tallied again, Grosso would have broken the league record for rapid scoring—three goals in 112 seconds made by Carl Liscombe of the Wings in 1938. Liscombe's barrage was made against the Hawks.

After both teams scored in the second period, Detroit on a shot by Ed Bush at 7:48 and Chicago on a drive by Earl Siebert at 16:21, the Wings threatened to turn the game into a rout in the last period.

Bentley Gets Two Goals.

Jerry Brown took the puck away from Johnny Mariucci behind the Chicago net and scored at 1:32 to give Detroit a 4 to 1 lead. But Siebert connected again on a 35 footer, unassisted, at 7:45. From then on it was touch and go.

Wares scored 52 seconds later, but the Hawks, on two shots by Max Bentley when the Wings had two men in the penalty box, pulled up within one point of a tie. Abel then clinched the game with two minutes remaining when he took a back pass from Grosso and beat Lo Presti.

Nation's Turf Officials Wave Flag and Pick Committees

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The race tracks of America yesterday set themselves to the task generally described as "coördinating their activities with the national war effort." At the conclusion of many hours of conversation behind closed doors, the industry delivered a statement to the effect that "The representatives who have come from all sections of the country are imbued with a strong patriotic spirit."

No one, of course, took this formal summary of the day's effort seriously, least of all the gentlemen who released it. The consensus was that the members of the industry could have worked themselves up to an equally patriotic spirit if they had stayed at home without spending large sums of money and devoting a considerable amount of their time to making the journey to Chicago from New York, California, Florida, and other distant points.

All They Could Do Was Talk.

The difficulty which blocked the issuance of definite commitments was quite simple. Racing is an industry subject to the laws which govern other businesses and the votes of stockholders. With the notable exception of the representatives of several Chicago tracks, it seemed that no one came to yesterday's opening sessions of the National Racing congress with the authorization to do anything but exchange ideas.

Charles Bidwell and Charles Krutckoff of Hawthorne, Matt J. Winn of Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields, John Keeshin of Sportsman's Park, and several others were

BY RICHARD RAMEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 19.—Tigers, Bulldogs, Reds, and Mustangs; Orphans, Oilers, Pretzels, and more Tigers. What a parade!

They were the triumphant marchers today and tonight in the first round of the 35th annual state high school basketball tournament. They'll come trooping back tomorrow, groomed for quarter-final combat.

It's the Paris Tigers vs. Streator Bulldogs; Decatur Reds vs. Morton Mustangs; Centralia Orphans vs. Wood River Oilers; Freeport Pretzels vs. Olney Tigers.

All the outstanding contenders advanced, including Morton of Cicero, the defending champion, undefeated Paris, and once beaten Streator. The winning margins in the first seven games ranged from 14 to 24 points. The closest finish was saved for the last when Olney staved off a late rally to beat Quincy, 47 to 40.

Wood River Routs Lindblom.

Gone, tho, was the Chicago Public High School league champion, Lindblom. Gone, too, was an old individual scoring record for a single game.

Wood River eliminated Chicago's entry, 35 to 19, running its record to 21 consecutive victories and 32 in 34 games. Morton progressed by stopping the Cathedral High Cyclones of Springfield this afternoon, 47 to 32. And—you guessed it—Dwight Eddleman of Centralia set the new tournament record—26 points.

Eddleman was spurred on to regain lost laurels. Eddie Root of Decatur registered 25 points to improve by 1 the mark of which Eddleman was coholder. So Dwight did Eddie one better. The record, however, is only for games played since the rules placed a ban on one-man free throwing specialists. Eddleman's 26 almost equaled the opponents' aggregate as Centralia beat West Frankfort, 42 to 28.

Olney Recovers Stride.

Paris and Streator, the two teams with the best season records, set up a showdown between themselves tomorrow. Paris continued its all conquering sweep, whipping Urbana, 53 to 37, for its 37th straight. Streator gained its 31st in 32 games by defeating the Normal High Ironmen, 45 to 34. Freeport avenged a pretourney loss by defeating Moline, 42 to 24.

Quincy's Blue Devils put on a great comeback against Olney, but couldn't overcome the latter's 12 point half time margin. They crept up within four tallies with four minutes to go, the scoring being 42 to 38 at that stage. Then Olney added five, while Quincy scored only two.

Lindblom Fades in First Half.

Lindblom was no match for the tall Wood River rebounders once they took command late in the first half. Until then, too, the Chicagoans were making a mighty effort. Walter Silko and Andy Federinko scored the first two field goals as Lindblom held the lead for six and one-half minutes. The Maroons were back in front again, 8 to 6, when Federinko sank his third long shot at the outset of the second period. Wood River was ahead at half time, 14 to 9, and at

BETTINA PAIRED WITH BECKWITH ON STADIUM SHOW

Former Champion to Make 1st Chicago Appearance.

Mello Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., former world light heavyweight champion and now a contender for the heavyweight championship, last night was matched to meet Booker Beckwith of Gary in a 10 round bout in Chicago Stadium April 10. The match, which will be offered under the direction of Promoter William R. Rand, will mark Bettina's first Chicago appearance.

Originally Ross Miller had planned to promote a show in the Coliseum on April 10, but Miller cleared the way for the Bettina-Beckwith encounter by surrendering his option on the date.

Beckwith will be making his first start since beating Joe Maxin in the Coliseum a few weeks ago.

Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street; Mount Carmel High school gymnasium, 6410 Dante avenue; Eagles' hall, South Chicago, and Rainbo Fronton, 4836 North Clark street.

Dockum Faces Crump.

Crump is open class city Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion and Dalton is novice Golden Gloves lightweight title holder.

The card in Mount Carmel gym is being sponsored by the Dads' club of the school. Frank Leahy, athletic director at Notre Dame, and a number of football and basketball players from the South Bend university will be ringside guests.

Five Bouts at Fronton.

Five boxing matches and three wrestling bouts will comprise the program in the Fronton, which is being presented under the auspices of North Shore post, American Legion.

Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, last night approved Lou Nova as an opponent for Bob Pastor in a prospective 10 round event in Chicago Stadium May 8. Clark previously had been quoted as saying Nova would not be given permission to appear in this state.

Pastor, who is being sought to meet Joe Louis by Chicago and Cleveland promoters, has agreed to oppose Harry Bobo in Pittsburgh April 20 or 22, Jake Mintz, Pittsburgh matchmaker, said yesterday.

Pope, Jones to Meet in Final of Squash Racquets

J. D. Pope and William Jones advanced to the final round of the annual city squash racquet tournament in the Lake Shore club last night. Pope, representing the Dartmouth alumni, defeated H. L. Dixon of the Chicago Athletic association, 17-16, 15-8, 15-17. Jones, playing for the Lake Shore club, won from J. R. Short Jr., John Marshall club, 15-10, 13-15, 15-8, 3-15, 15-9.

MORTON WINS IN STATE TOURNEY; LINDBLOM LOSES

Paris, Streator, Decatur, Centralia Advance.

three-quarters, 25 to 13. George Scalamera, Lindblom center, fouled out midway in the third period while attempting to wrest control of shots off the backboards from Wood River's Earl Dodd.

Root, Eddleman Break Record.

Root's 25th point 60 seconds before the finish climaxed Decatur's 53 to 37 triumph over Dixon. This beat the total of 24 made by Don Blanken of Dundee in 1938 and equaled by Eddleman in 1939 and 1941. Two hours later Eddleman regained the record, counting point No. 26 or a free throw in the last second of play.

Morton won, even without the last half service of Fred Ploegman, sharpshooting forward. Ploegman took only seven shots but connected six times for 12 points. Then, two minutes after the intermission, Ploegman's right wrist was injured and he was forced to retire for the remainder of the contest.

Paris Starts Nervously.

Neither Paris nor Streator was pressed closely. Streator, tho, got off to a jittery start before proceeding to a 20 to 11 half time margin over a Normal high quintet which couldn't match the Bulldogs' height.

Dixon's Duke managed two brief one point leads and two tie score situations in the first period, but thereafter Decatur was in command.

Cheering Their Favorites to Victory

The 16 teams which opened play for the Illinois high school basketball championship yesterday in Champaign brought their rooting sections with them and none was more vociferous than the delegation which cheered Streator to a 45 to 34 triumph over Normal Community. The young ladies in letter sweaters are cheer leaders. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

YALE RELEASES THREE MEMBERS OF SPORTS STAFF

New Haven, Conn., March 19 (AP).—Yale university announced today it would dispense with the services of three veteran coaches—Joe Wood, baseball; William A. Hinchliff, tennis, and Ben Thomson, golf—as of June 30.

Ogden D. Miller, Yale athletic director, said the service of the three veterans were being dispensed with as a wartime economy move. Hinchliff will be retired on pension. Wood and Thomson were let out uncondionally.

Miller said no successors would be named to the three men. Coaching in the three sports affected would be taken over by members of the Athletic association's present staff, he said.

Blood Clots (Say Nazis) Kill Norwegian Skiiers

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 19.—Kristian Aubert and Tor Salvesen, two of Norway's famous ski runners, have died in the Oslo headquarters of the Gestapo, it was announced today. The men were arrested six days ago on unspecified charges. The cause of death was officially stated to be "blood clots on the brain."

TURF OFFICIALS WAVE THE FLAG, DO LITTLE ELSE

They Ignore Chicagoans in Picking Committees.

quite prepared to lay money on the line toward a fund which would constitute the racing industry's contribution toward the expenses of carrying on the war. But no one else was, as yet, ready to do anything but engage in conversation.

Plan Cash Contributions.

In the total absence of any formal statements worth printing, the individual members who attended the meetings agreed that something definite would come out of the congress. This, they said, would take the form of outright cash contributions toward the expenses of carrying on the war. If it were anything else, they agreed, they were wasting their time and the time of the train crews who carried them to Chicago.

From the point of view of race tracks and horsemen, as distinguished from the public viewpoint, yesterday's session was historic. For the first time, a genuinely representative group got together within one room—track operators, breeders, and owners—for the forming of a national organization.

They Name Committees.

Committees almost too populous to mention were appointed. One of the more significant organizations consisted of the Thorobred Racing Association of the United States. The officers elected were John H. Clark of Hialeah, president, and Harry Parr III. of Pimlico, vice president. The directors are Matt J. Winn of Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields, Carleton Burke of Santa Anita, George M. Francis of Belmont and J. E. Dooley of Narragansett.

Thus, the east and west coast interests took full command of the situation. Chicago's foremost tracks—Arlington Park and Washington Park—which already had set the standard for the 1942 racing schedule by putting up the biggest summer program in the history of the American turf, have no representation whatever.

Chicago Will Coöperate.

This circumstance is expected to have no effect on the efforts of John Allen and Walter Gregory, presidents of Arlington and Washington Park, respectively, and Ben Lindheimer, managing director of both tracks. These men have reiterated that their organizations are going to do something substantial to help the war effort, not only because they consider it their duty, but because they sincerely want to do so.

There's not a soul within or out,
There's not a sign of life about
That tiny little house.
There's not a light that I can see,
Yet something seems to beckon me
There where is deep, sweet memory
Within that little house!

Escanaba to Hold One Day Smelt Program

BY BOB BECKER.

Assurance that the annual Escanaba smelt jamboree will be held again this year came this week from Harold P. Lindsay, head of the associated smelt dipping clubs of that city. Lindsay said that a one day smelt party is being planned for April 11.

The jamboree had been canceled but Lindsay reports that sportsmen in many parts of Wisconsin as well as in Chicago and Illinois showed so much interest in it that it was decided to carry on the traditional jamboree in a modest one day program.

Tentative plans are for the jamboree program to consist of a dinner or luncheon meeting, a dance and smelt dipping at nearby streams. Arrangements will be made for the transportation of visitors to the streams.

We haven't heard from Marinette, Wis., or Menominee, Mich., regarding the dates of their celebration along the banks of the Menominee river but Jack Boyle of Marinette wrote us several weeks ago that they would hold some kind of a party up there.

According to present calculations the silvery smelt of Lake Michigan are due to start their run out of the lake into the streams around April 1 and the run should continue thru April 20. Therefore, the peak of the movement should be about April 11, the date of the Escanaba party.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 19.—The White Sox, except for routine training exercises, had leisure on their hands today, but tomorrow will get back onto the exhibition circuit, in which they now hold a winning streak of three, after losing their first two. The streak, following the poor start, indicates the speed with which a few bits of formal competition can polish up some of the spots rusted by exposure to winter idleness. But James Dykes, the manager, isn't satisfied. He craves to see more hitting.

Just how close the hitting will come to what Dykes hopes for is questionable. Last season it was pretty weak. Most of the boys, Taft Wright excepted, dropped from previous levels, and only phenomenal pitching kept the team in third place. That slump on offense could occur again, but Dykes doesn't wish to hear any such predictions. He fears they might bring on a recurrence of his baseball indigestion. He prefers to believe the attack is going to be much better and, while it is more of a wish than anything, it could easily happen.

Kuhel Is Question Mark.

The big question mark in the attack is Joe Kuhel. He produced a fair amount of power in 1940, but faded almost completely last season. The natural expectation is that he will bounce back. So far he has done nothing, but that could be because he hasn't had enough practice in the batter's box. If time should indicate that Kuhel has slumped for keeps, Dykes might be tempted to give Murrell Jones, the lanky lad from Shreveport, a whirl at the front door job. The kid can reach halfway across the infield without removing his foot from the bag, but still must prove his batting possibilities.

Kuhel isn't the only one entitled to more time in which to shine up his hitting technique. Wright hasn't caught up with the pitching which always gets ahead of the batters in the spring. Wally Moses, the ex-Athletic, is in the same fix. Normally, they pull their drives to right field, but at the moment are aiming a lot of them toward the opposite garden. A few more games should regain their timing. Maybe they should take a few quick lessons from Don Kolloway, the kid second baseman, who thus far is the shining light in the hitting wilderness.

Watch Out, Cubs!

The Cubs, when they learn what Dykes has planned for them over the week-end, may suspect they've made him mad about something. For several springs they've had a lot of fun hitting his kid pitcher. There won't be any kind of that stuff next Saturday and Sunday. In the first of the two games, the Cubs will be treated to Ted Lyons, John Humphries and Eddie Smith. On Sunday it will be John Rigney, Bill Dietrich, and Thornton Lee. For tomorrow's exhibition with the Pirates the Sox will use Ed Weiland, Orval Grove, and Lee Ross. That's enough to make the Cubs think Dykes guilty of discrimination.

Illinois Faces Kentucky in NCAA Meet

New Orleans, La., March 19 [Special].—The University of Illinois basketball team, Big Ten champion, carries the Western conference banner into the opening round of the National Collegiate Athletic association's eastern playoff here tomorrow night against Kentucky. Dartmouth and Penn State, the other representatives in the four team field to select the eastern entry in the national finals in Kansas City March 28, are paired in the other contest.

The four teams, all champions in their respective sections, earned their invitations with outstanding records. Illinois rolled up 13 victories in 15 games to clinch the Big Ten crown.

Kentucky's Southeastern conference winner, the Illini's opening foe here, piled up 18 victories in playing out its 23 game schedule, while Dartmouth scored 20 victories against three defeats in successfully defending its Eastern Intercollegiate league title. Penn State won 17 and lost two games to assure its bid to the play-off. Probable lineups:

ILLINOIS.		KENTUCKY.
Menke	F	Akers
Smiley	F	Brewer
Wukovits	C	King
Vance	G	Staker
Phillip	G	Ticco

RICE MEETS STANFORD.

Kansas City, Mo., March 19 (AP).—Rice institute's basketball team, co-champion with Arkansas in the Southwest conference will open the western NCAA eliminations in the Municipal auditorium tomorrow night against Stanford. Colorado will meet Kansas in the second game.

De Paul Frosh Five Gains AAU Semi-Finals

People's Market, the De Paul frosh, and Acme Steel last night gained the semi-final round in the Central AAU basketball tournament on the St. Sabina community center floor. Acme defeated Grogan Coals, 60 to 52; De Paul whipped Annunciation, 49 to 38, and People's Market edged out St. Sabina, 50 to 45, in overtime. People's Market will play De Paul, and St. Elizabeth will meet Acme Steel tomorrow night.

Jack Blackburn Taken to Hospital; It's Pneumonia

Jack Blackburn, trainer for Joe Louis, yesterday was taken to Provident hospital. The illness of Blackburn, who is 59 years old, has been diagnosed as pneumonia.

Dodgers Beat Cardinals, 4-2; Galan Is Star

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19 (AP).—Augie Galan played first base in place of injured Dolph Camilli today and led the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 4 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the first exhibition game between the two National league favorites this year.

Galan batted in three runs with a homer off Clyde Shoun in the fifth inning and a single off Henry Gumbert with the bases loaded in the eighth. Pee Wee Reese also hit Gumbert for a four bagger in the same inning, his third of the spring.

Brooklyn ....000 010 030—4 9 1
St. Louis ....000 001 010—2 8 2

REDS STOP TIGERS, 4-3.

Tampa, Fla., March 19 (AP).—Set down by two Detroit rookies after a three run rally in the first inning, Cincinnati's Reds took advantage of a Tiger error with two out in the ninth to win, 4 to 3, today. Virg Trucks, who hurled the last four innings, walked Eddie Joost and Eric McNair fielded Bert Haas' grounder and threw the ball into the outfield trying for a double play, Joost scoring.

Detroit ....102 000 000—3 5 1
Cincinnati ....300 000 001—4 9 1

BROOKLYN B TEAM WINS.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 19 (AP).—While the Brooklyn varsity was winning from the St. Louis Cardinals, the Dodgers' B team made it a double victory by defeating the Browns, 4 to 3. Score:

Brooklyn ....001 201 00*— 4 11 1

Batteries—Galehouse, Ferens, Muncrief, and Swift; Lochbaum, Webber, and Howell.

ERRORS BEAT RED SOX.

Sarasota, Fla., March 19 (AP).—Ragged fielding by Ted Williams and Eddie Pellagrini ruined the fine pitching performances of Ken Chase and Charley Wagner today as the Cleveland Indians scored a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Pellagrini missed Williams' throw-in after Ken Keltner tripled to give the Indians their first inning run, and in the second inning, with a runner on, Williams juggled Gene Desautels' drive for a double. Vern Kennedy then drove in his catcher with Cleveland's winning run. Score:

Cleveland ....120 000 000—3 7 0
Boston ....200 000 000—2 6 3

BLUES WHIP YANKEES.

Lake Wales, Fla., March 19 (AP).—The appearance of Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller and the two hit pitching of Ernie Bonham for five innings didn't keep the Kansas City Blues of the American association from defeating the New York Yankees, 4 to 3, today.

DiMaggio got on base for the first time when he walked in the ninth. Keller tripled to score him and scored himself as Gordon grounded out.

Kansas City ....000 002 20*—4 6 1

SENATORS, 4; GIANTS, 3.

Orlando, Fla., March 19 (AP).—The Washington Senators today beat the New York Giants, 4 to 3, handing the National leaguers their fourth straight loss and their ninth in 11 exhibition games.

Rookie Eddie Lyons, pinch hitting for Dutch Leonard after Stan Galle had singled in the eighth inning, solved Cliff Melton for a single that produced the winning run. Score:

Washington ....001 000 21*—4 10 3

MINERALITES' 3,246 SERIES WINS 3 MORE

The Mineralites, who hit 3,417 in the Randolph Major Bowling league last week, cooled off slightly last night, but still got the circuit's highest total, 3,246. Mrs. Page, Miss Suggs in North-South Golf Final Pinehurst, N. C., March 19 (AP).—Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill defeated Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, one up in 19 holes, today in the semifinal round of the Women's North and South golf tournament. Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., overwhelmed Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 6 and 5, in the other semifinal match.

Cubs Expect to Farm Cy Block, but He'll Return

Cy Block.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—Cy Block, noisy Jewish boy from Brooklyn who has been playing second base in Cub exhibition games, played third today, the idea being that Tulsa of the Texas league needs a third baseman more than a second baseman.

While Cy's friends in his native Flatbush probably will be chagrined that he is not scheduled to appear in Ebbets field at least once, they probably will be reminded that Cy is moving in the right direction, for his last two years have been spent in Macon, Ga., which is in the Sally league, a class B circuit.

Cy always has played second, but Manager Jim Wilson says he has concluded he can be made into a better third baseman. Anyhow, it's Cy's hitting the Cubs are interested in.

Block won't be 23 years old till May, so has plenty of time to wait for Stan Hack to get older and older, tho Stan hasn't been showing any symptoms of senility.

The Cubs' "B" team will engage in a play-off of a postponed game with the Los Angeles Angels in Long Beach tomorrow. Long Beach is Bob Sturgeon's home town. Bob will play with the "B's" tomorrow. Henry Wyse and Emil Kush will pitch for Chicago.

Wilman, Theel Take Lead in 2 ABC Events

Columbus, O., March 19 [Special].—George Theel and Capt. Joe Wilman of Chicago's Budweisers today battered their way into first place in the singles and all events, respectively, to give the Chicagoans the lead in three of the four divisions of the American Bowling Congress tournament. The team last night had taken the five-man lead with a 3,131 count, fifth highest in ABC history.

The Budweisers' performances and those of a pair of Cleveland railroad switchmen today brought changes in the lead in all four divisions, the Clevelanders, Harvey Braatz and Louis Strizzi, having fired a 1,335 count, just 11 pins less than the total that has won the last two ABC doubles titles.

Shoots 189 Final Game.

Theel, 35, manager of a restaurant chain, muffed a chance to virtually clinch the singles championship when a 189 finishing game held his total to 703.

Wilman, 38, who won the all-events title at Cleveland three years ago with a 2,028 total, soared into the all-events leadership with 1,897, a mediocre doubles series preventing the Chicagoan, who finished fourth in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE All-Star tourney, from compiling another title total.

Theel, who opened his singles with 268 and 246, ran into two splits in the closing rounds of the final game.

Takes Fourth in Singles.

Wilman, who contributed 656 toward his team 3,131, dropped to 558 in the doubles, but pounded out 683 in the individual event on games of 237—223—223. The standings:

Award Peoria Illinois State Golf Tourney

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 12th annual Illinois State Golf tournament, originated and conducted by the Chicago District Golf association, will be held at the Mount Hawley Country club in Peoria on Sept. 10, 11, 12, and 13. The site and dates were made definite yesterday in an announcement by F. M. [Ted] Quinn of Riverside, chairman of the CDGA tournament committee. Peoria had been a leading candidate for the event and the dates, originally set for Sept 3-6, were moved back to accommodate a number of war relief events planned for Peoria golfers over the week-end.

The Illinois sites of the opening qualifying rounds for the Hale America tournament also were announced yesterday. These 36 hole tests, the initial stage of the big show to be decided at Chicago's Ridgemoor club on June 18, 19, 20, and 21, will be held on May 25, coincident with play in nearly 100 other centers thruout the country.

Low Scorers to Advance.

The low scorers in this test will advance a semi-final qualifying round, to be held on any two days chosen from the dates of June 5, 6, and 7. This latter will be a 54 hole tourney and will serve to make up a large part of the field at Ridgemoor.

The four courses for the May 25 rounds are Olympia Fields of Chicago, Rockford Country club, Quincy Country club, and the South Side Country club of Decature. The Chicago district's 54-hole semi-final rounds will be played on June 6 and 7 at a Milwaukee course to be announced later.

PGA Qualifiers Are Exempt.

Those Illinois professionals who qualify for the National PGA tournament, which will open on May 25, the same day as the Hale America qualifying rounds, will be exempt from that phase of the trials, but, unless otherwise exempted, must compete in the June semi-finals in Milwaukee.

Highlight of the 1942 competitive program of the Chicago Women's District Golf association will be a two day Victory tournament, to be held June 10 and 11 at the Big Foot Country club in Lake Geneva. Mrs. Gilmore M. Mellor of Elmhurst, CWDGA president, said the organization has decided to eliminate all team matches, as well as the annual CWDGA championship tournament, but will conduct a number of events in addition to the Victory tournament. These follow:

July 31—Open day at Calumet.
Aug. 7—Open day and Mater-Filia at Glen Oak.
Aug. 17—Pro-Ladies' at Midlothian.

The chairman's meeting and spring luncheon will be held in the Palmer House May 11.

Chairman Quinn of the CDGA tournament committee is calling all members of his committee, on which each of the 64 member clubs is represented, to a general meeting in the La Salle hotel headquarters at 7:45 p. m., March 27.

Jay Berwanger, University of Chicago All-American in 1934 and 1935, was sworn in as a lieutenant, junior grade, in the naval air force yesterday at Northwestern university by a former teammate, Ensign William J. Gillerlain of the naval aviation cadet selection board.

Golden Gloves Squad to Open Drills Today

The four boys from Texas were the first to come in. James Olcott Phillips, runner-up to Hubert Hood of Chicago for the heavyweight championship, reported in his army uniform. Tom Attra came in without the uniform but with a card ordering him to report for duty.

This card was handed to him just as he was packing for the trip to Chicago. He hustled over to headquarters right away and was granted a 30 day extension, which will allow him to complete his Golden Gloves campaign. As soon as he returns from New York, however, he will go right into the army.

Heinold, Mead on Job Early.

The other Texans who arrived were Morris Corona, veteran of two previous Golden Gloves tournaments, and Marvin Bryant. Others who were on the job early were Proctor Heinold of Oklahoma City and Pete Mead of Grand Rapids.

As soon as they had been issued their work uniforms, and had lunched in the Illinois Athletic club, they went out to see the sights of the city.

The entire squad of 30 is expected to be intact by noon today. The fighters will report to Coach Johnny Behr for their first workout at 2 p. m. in the IAC.

There's No Time to Lose.

"We'll start boxing the very first day," Behr said. "There's no time to lose. We'll even work on the day we leave for New York. Most of the boys have remained in good condition during the intermission since the Golden Gloves tournament, so they can stand to go right ahead with boxing from the very start. We'll do several rounds of floor work in the first session, also."

The Chicago team will leave for the east on Wednesday. They'll have several days of practice in the east to come up to their peak for the big showdown against the best fighters which have been assembled from the entire eastern seaboard.

The eight Chicago champions will fight the eight from New York but the choices for other eight places on the team are left entirely to the discretion of the coaching staff. Thus there will be intensive intrasquad competition during the next week. The lineup will be announced on the day of the fights.

Loyola Meets Leo Tonight in Title Battle

Loyola, north section champion, will meet Leo, south side winner and defending champion, for the Catholic High School league senior basketball crown at 8.15 tonight in the De La Salle gymnasium, 35th street and Michigan avenue.

Dee Is Scoring Star.

The quintet is led by Art O'Brien, a guard, and includes Jack Dee, leading scorer, who has been averaging 10 points per game, at guard, Walt McCue at center, and Jim Doyle and Bert Dolan at forwards.

Leo, winner of the National Catholic crown along with the senior title last season, is composed of a sophomore, Bob Walsh at guard; a junior, Forward Bob Baggott, and three seniors. The trio is versatile Henry [Babe] Baranowski, guard; Jim O'Halloran, forward, and Louis Knox, guard.

Varnes Has Been Around.

Leo is coached by a newcomer to the south side school, but also a veteran in the Catholic circuit. He is Blair [Barney] Varnes, who handled the coaching duties at St. Patrick for 10 years.

Plans also were completed yesterday for the junior championship game involving Mount Carmel, south section winner, and Weber, representing the north zone. The game is scheduled for 8:15 Sunday night on the De La Salle floor. Senior lineups:

RAID PRECAUTION JUMBLE BLAMED ON LA GUARDIA

Flat Owners Alarmed by Official Confusion.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 19.—New York City's civilian defense situation, a political sore spot for many weeks, reached the acute stage today when prominent real estate men blamed the lack of air raid preparedness directly on Mayor Fiorello La Guardia.

Thomas H. Doyle, president of the Midtown Real Estate association, declared owners of small "walk up" apartment buildings thruout the city were becoming alarmed over the fate of their properties in the event bombs started raining down on them.

"Ever since last fall we have been trying to find out exactly what equipment to install," said Doyle.

"We have communicated with the Office of Civilian Defense in Washington, the OCD in New York, the mayor's office, the police department, and the local air raid wardens, but no one has given us definite orders. At no time have we been able to get a uniform set of instructions."

Deny Giving Instructions.

Air raid wardens told one house superintendent to install 10 pails of sand and five buckets of water on the roof; on another roof, two pails of sand, one pail of water, a shovel and hoe were to be held in readiness; on another, a stirrup pump, three pails of sand and asbestos gloves; and on another, nothing at all.

When inquiry was made about this case at the mayor's office and the police department, the apartment superintendents were told no orders whatever had been issued.

"If owners are to be charged with the responsibility of setting up a building protection service why doesn't somebody say so?" asked Doyle. "Tell us what to do and we will very quickly get the job done.

Doyle's statement was concurred in by Reuben J. Wittstein, president of the council of real estate associations representing property owner groups thruout the city, and Herbert G. Horstmann, president of the West Side Taxpayers association. Horstmann represents owners of the numerous brownstone buildings between the Broadway theatrical district and Hudson river.

No Action on Liability.

Horstmann called attention to one complaint which owners had lodged months ago over the city's failure to take any steps to waive property owners' liabilities in emergency situations.

For example, if owners placed sand and water buckets and other equipment in their upper hallways as police and air raid wardens were urging them to do, they would become subject to penalties for blocking passageways under the multiple dwelling law. The city has given no assurance there will be no prosecutions.

"It's a case of being damned if we do and damned if we don't," said Horstmann.

Property owners who donate space for air raid wardens' headquarters and similar uses are still liable for personal injury action in court. There is pending a $100,000 damage suit brought against a building owner by a sector warden.

The wardens were holding a party in an air raid headquarters contributed by the owner, according to the Greater New York Taxpayers Mutual Insurance association. One of the wardens made the mistake of confusing the cellar door with the door to another room. He plunged into the cellar and died of his injuries.

GOVERNOR ASKS HOOSIERS LIMIT SPEED TO 45 MILES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 19 [Special].—Indiana motorists were asked today in a proclamation by Gov. Henry F. Schricker to adopt a voluntary 45 mile speed limit.

The request to Hoosiers to join in the effort to conserve tires and automobiles as a part of the war program followed a request from President Roosevelt asking coöperation of the 48 states.

The governor asked "the people of the state of Indiana voluntarily to set a speed limit not to exceed 45 miles an hour," where it is not restricted to lower rates in certain zones.

Stickers in which the driver pledges himself to observe this limit may be issued, the governor said. He said he realizes this limit is not enforceable, under Indiana's no limit law, but added that state police will be instructed to caution drivers who exceed that speed. The law against reckless driving is enforceable, he warned.

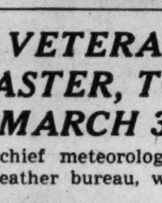
DONNEL, VETERAN FORECASTER, TO RETIRE MARCH 31

C. A. Donnel, chief meteorologist of the Chicago weather bureau, will retire March 31. He has been assigned here since 1919.



C. A. Donnel.

With characteristic good humor and insistence on accuracy, Donnel said yesterday that he had made a lot of mistakes in his forecasts.

"I have sometimes waked up to find that a blizzard I had foretold had turned into a January thaw," he said. "But on the average the weather bureau over the country is right 88 per cent of the time. In Chicago the average is 86 per cent. The lake makes it harder here. Winds shift faster and upset more of our forecasts. But it's been interesting."

His associates said that Donnel, who is 61 years old, had never been late to work in all his 22 years here, even if he had to trudge thru snow that stopped the street cars. He has been in ill health since he suffered a stroke last July. He said that he intends to spend his retirement quietly in his home, 6140 Kimbark avenue.

126 U. OF C. MEN GRADS TO ENTER ARMED SERVICE

One hundred and twenty-six of the men who will receive degrees at the University of Chicago today will enter the nation's armed forces after graduation or are already in service. Robert M. Hutchins, president, will confer degrees on the 200 men and 62 women at the university's 208th convocation in Rockefeller Memorial chapel at 3 p. m.

Questionnaires returned by some of the men destined for military service indicated that 58 per cent of them will be in the army and 42 per cent in the navy. Eighty per cent of those to be enlisted will be officers.

Of the 62 women receiving diplomas, 10 gave preferences for Red Cross and defense work while 10 others said they weren't certain of their plans.

CHICAGO ENDS 3 DAYS WITHOUT AUTO FATALITY

A three day record of no automobile fatalities in Chicago and Cook county ended yesterday when William Pilkington, 72 years old, of Minneapolis, Minn., was injured fatally by a car. The driver was Charles Tyler, 1837 Juneway terrace.

According to police, Pilkington, who was wearing a hearing device, was struck as he was attempting to cross the north bound limited lane at about 3260 Lake Shore drive, a block from a pedestrian underpass. He died later in the American hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 171 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 134 were killed in Chicago, where 4,272 were injured in the same period.

STATE SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS JUDGE PENSIONS

Springfield, Ill., March 19 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court ruled today that the 1941 act creating a new judges' retirement system is constitutional.

The court directed State Treasurer Warren Wright to accept $75,519 transferred from the old judicial pension system. Wright had refused to accept the funds in a move to test the validity of the new plan.

The new system differs from the old pension plan in that judges contribute 2½ per cent of their salary. After 12 years on the bench, judges who reach 60 years of age may retire at 25 per cent of their yearly salary. The retirement annuity increases to 50 per cent for judges with 18 years' service.

BOOKIES TIPPED ON WRONG PLAY; HEAT STILL ON

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, continued yesterday to convince gamblers that the "heat" still is on, as opposed to the misinformation passed over the grapevine a week ago that gambling prosecution was being relaxed. Following up the raid on a large handbook Wednesday, raiders yesterday invaded two more.

On the second floor of 6344 North Claremont avenue they found 45 patrons in an elaborate establishment and arrested Ira Frank, 835 Leland avenue; Robert Brown, 1501 Ardmore avenue; M. J. Aldiege, 1538 Jonquil terrace, and Michael Berman, 1803 South Trumbull avenue.

In the second raid at 6819 South Chicago avenue, Tony Petruzo, 7048 Harper avenue, was arrested as the keeper, and 14 players were sent home. Crowley said his men were trying to find out who was supplying the handbooks with racing service.

DRAFTEES TO GET MEDICAL EXAMS IN FIELDHOUSES

Physical examinations of draftees in Chicago, Oak Park, Berwyn, and Cicero will be speeded up under a new plan announced yesterday by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service.

"The Chicago parks board is cooperating with us," he said, "and we are to hold all the examinations in five park fieldhouses. This procedure will enable physicians and dentists to examine a large number of men in a short time. This will tend to lighten the load on the professions. It is necessary in view of the fact that the armed forces are taking about 1,000 physicians and 250 dentists from Chicago this year."

Examinations will be held on Mondays at Pulaski park; Tuesdays at Sherman park; Wednesdays at Columbus park; Thursdays at Grand Crossing park, and Fridays at Portage park.

PULLMAN SHARE OF WAR ORDERS IS QUADRUPLED

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Pullman's spectacular part in America's war effort was stressed in the transportation company's 75th annual report, sent stockholders yesterday by David A. Crawford, president. The report covered operations of the parent company, Pullman, Inc., and its operating subsidiaries, the Pullman company and the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company.

Crawford reported that consolidated net income of the company for 1941 was $10,918,820, equal to $3.31 a share, compared with $7,484,125, or $1.93 a share, for 1940. The 1941 tax bill was $10,973,525, equal to $3.32 a share.

Each of the operating companies contributed substantially to the war drive. The Pullman company's contribution was the transportation of 2 million members of the armed forces in sleeping cars during 1941, with a minimum of interference with regular travel. The average journey was 1,500 miles.

Plan Ship Construction.

Pullman - Standard's contribution was varied and included the production of tanks, guns, shells, airplane wings, and freight cars. The report also disclosed that the company will build mine sweepers for the navy. The company is expected to fabricate the vessels in the Chicago area.

In the three months since this country was drawn into the war, Pullman-Standard's war orders have been nearly quadrupled. The commitments totaled approximately 269 million dollars on March 1, contrasting with the company's 67 million dollar backlog of rail equipment business.

The Pullman company sold to the railroads for rebuilding into emergency equipment for carrying troops and munitions workers practically all its parlor cars no longer required in the Pullman business. A considerable number of sleeping cars that had been retired from active service were reconditioned and along with additional sleeping cars drawn from the active list have been assigned to a fleet of about 1,500 cars used exclusively for troop transport.

Normal Business Expands.

Discussing the company's more normal business, Crawford said that sleeping and parlor car operations attained the largest traffic volume since 1930, but that increased costs resulted in the smallest margin of profit since 1938. The major part of the traffic increase reflected troop movement and government generated defense travel. This type of business has increased on an accelerated basis this year.

"The volume of regular commercial and tourist travel—the profit producing end of the business—scored a small gain for 1941 as a whole, but the war has cut deeply into the tourist business, causing widespread cancelation of winter vacation plans," Crawford said.

"The trend is clearly toward restriction of civilian travel that is not necessary to the prosecution of the war, and while normal railroad and Pullman service has thus far been well maintained, there is no assurance that partial curtailments will not become necessary from time to time to clear the tracks for troop movements or emergency freight traffic."

Autos Biggest Factor.

Crawford said that a study of American travel indicates that present intercity passenger carrying agencies would be unable to accommodate more than a small fraction of the present volume of private automobile travel.

He said that of an estimated 289 billion 300 million passenger miles of intercity travel in the United States in 1941 private automobiles accounted for 248 billion miles; sleeping and parlor cars, 9 billion 100 million; railroad coaches, 16 billion 200 million; buses, 14 billion 600 million, and air lines, 1 billion 400 million.

Crawford said that, with the single exception of 1929, the railroads ordered more new freight cars in 1941 than in any year since 1924. However, shortages of materials and labor troubles seriously retarded deliveries, causing orders to fall in the last half of 1941. Since then some progress has been made in running off the large backlog of orders carried over from 1941, and this should help revive equipment purchases in anticipation of further war traffic gains.

Passenger Cars Gain.

The number of passenger cars ordered in 1941 was slightly larger than in 1940 but less than a fourth of the annual average prior to the depression. Crawford said he saw little prospect for an early resumption of passenger car purchases for civilian use.

He disclosed that Pullman is experimenting with a duplex roomette car containing 24 separate rooms of the popular roomette type, each with complete toilet facilities. The fare would be slightly above the cost of a lower berth. He indicated that many of the cars being used for military purposes may be converted into coach-sleepers after the war.

Tax Influence on Bank Funds Is Minimized

Results of the timing of treasury bill maturities, so that an unusually large amount—about 600 million dollars—fell due in the week of heavy income tax payments, were reflected in yesterday's report of the federal reserve board on the position of system member banks for the week ended Wednesday.

Normally the week's maturities of treasury bills would have been from 100 to 150 million dollars, but the treasury recently shortened the maturities of some offerings from the usual 91 days to 76 or 71 days to boost the total falling due at income tax payment time. Otherwise the tax payments would have caused a sharp drop in excess reserves of member banks and a large rise in treasury deposits with the reserve banks.

Treasury Deposits Fall.

The extent to which the fluctuations were smoothed out was indicated in the relatively small changes shown in the board's report. Excess reserves declined 110 millions to a total of 3 billion 160 millions. Treasury deposits with the federal reserve banks were held down to 59 millions, a decrease of 1 million during the week.

A year ago, excess reserves slumped 370 million dollars at income tax time, and treasury deposits with federal reserve banks rose 492 millions.

A larger than usual earmarking of funds for foreign account was indicated by a decrease of 23 millions in the monetary gold stock. Bankers said the change may have reflected sale of foreign securities on payments of trade balances.

Changes Shown in Detail.

Reynolds Company Starts Mining Domestic Bauxite

New York, March 19 [Special].—Mining of domestic deposits of bauxite, an ore containing aluminum, has been started by Reynolds Ore company, of Arkansas, a subsidiary of the Reynolds Metals company, it was announced today.

PLAN FOR ALLOCATION OF COAL BEING DRAWN AT ICKES' DIRECTION

New York, March 19 (AP).—Howard Gray, acting director of solid fuels coördination, said tonight that government and industry experts were formulating a plan for emergency allocation of coal supplies, for use "if and when it is needed."

"The potential dangers which threaten the coal supply," he said, "are of such gravity that Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes has instructed the office of solid fuels administration to prepare at once a system to effect the emergency distribution of coal, so that he, as coördinator of solid fuels, might be in a position to recommend its adoption as soon as the need for it should appear."

He made no forecasts as to when it might be necessary to institute the emergency distribution system, but said "it may happen quicker than any of us realize."

SALES OF STORES MOUNT DESPITE RISING TAX BILLS

Notwithstanding consumers' big income tax payments, department store sales in the 7th federal reserve district last week were slightly larger than in the preceding week and 23 per cent larger than in the corresponding week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Chicago sales showed a small gain during the week and were 19 per cent larger than a year ago. Nationally sales were up 14 per cent from the 1941 period, the federal reserve board estimated.

For the four weeks ended March 14, compared with the corresponding period a year ago, district sales advanced 23 per cent, Chicago sales 20 per cent and national sales 24 per cent.

The National Retail Credit association reported that government restrictions on instalment buying had affected credit sales during the last few months but said that total sales volume had continued to improve. Credit sales of 12,573 stores in 40 cities increased an average of 2.3 per cent in February over the 1941 month, while total sales rose 8.6 per cent, the association said. Collections on credit accounts were better by 2.7 per cent.

WILLIAMS FINDS ADVANTAGES IN BIG WIRE MERGER

New York, March 19 (AP).—Albert N. Williams, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, said today the proposed consolidation with Postal Telegraph corporation would be beneficial to all interests.

"Western Union believes that inasmuch as the law now permits consolidations of railroads and of telephone companies under proper safeguards similar permission should be granted to the [written] record communications industry," Williams said in the company's annual report.

"Unification in the telegraph field might result in certain ultimate advantages to the public, the employés, and the security owners, depending upon the legislative and regulatory conditions governing a merger."

People and Events

Basil Harris, executive vice president of the United States Lines company, has been named president of the shipping firm to succeed John M. Franklin, recently commissioned a colonel in the army transport service. Harris was born in Pullman, Ill., now a part of the city of Chicago. His father, William R. Harris, was auditor of the Pullman company.

Sugar Subsidy a Bit Baffling to Economists

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 19.—Altho consumers will shortly be placed on sugar rations because of an alleged sugar shortage, the New Dealers intend to continue benefit payments to planters—but this time the program is to be different.

Consumers will be allowed only one-half or three-quarters of a pound of sugar weekly per person, and the price they pay will continue to include one-half cent a pound to "encourage" farmers to provide the sugar.

The reason advanced for the sugar subsidy has been reversed. Since the birth of the AAA programs benefit payments have been made to restrict production and increase prices. Now farmers must be paid subsidies to increase sugar production, it is claimed, and prevent a switch to other crops.

Economics in Reverse.

This is contrary to all natural laws of demand and supply, opponents of the subsidy say. Where there is heavy demand steps usually have been taken by producers to increase supplies, they assert.

Serious doubts that there is an actual or threatened sugar shortage have been expressed. A recent survey by THE TRIBUNE indicated supplies of 8,458,000 tons for this year, against annual consumption requirements of about 6,800,000 tons. This leaves a substantial margin for production of munitions alcohol and sugar supplied the allies.

Restrictions on production and marketing were imposed on cane sugar up until this year, and quotas were imposed on beet sugar for the first time last year.

Quotas on 1941 beet crops were fixed in December, 1940, more than a year after the second World war began and increased demands for sugar were apparent. These quotas called for a 16.2 per cent reduction in beet acreage below 1940.

Beet Production Cut.

As a result production of beet sugar dropped from 1,894,000 short tons in 1940 to 1,553,000 tons in 1941. At the same time the mainland cane crop, produced principally in Louisiana and Florida, failed because of freezing weather and didn't even reach quotas. Mainland cane production totaled only 336,000 short tons in 1940, against quotas of 505,000 tons, and the 1941 crop produced only 431,000 tons, against quotas of 525,000.

The bounty to United States sugar growers, who planted more sugar only to plow it under, totaled more than 170 million dollars on crops between 1934 and 1941, inclusive. Many more millions were paid planters in offshore areas. The pending agricultural appropriation bill contains an item of $47,962,910 for sugar payments in the next fiscal year. This will have to be supplemented by another 10 millions to be requested later to meet an increase in payments to farmers put thru congress last December. Payments are to be raised from 60 to 80 cents per 100 pounds, raw value.

Boost Termed Necessary.

Dr. Joshua Bernhardt, chief of the sugar division of the agriculture department, has declared this boost necessary to "offset the increase in the wartime cost of growing sugar beets when coupled with a possible increase in the ceiling price of sugar."

All restrictions on production have been lifted on both cane and beet sugar this year, but action came too late to help the cane situation where planting was accomplished prior to the order.

When asked during recent house hearings why the benefit payments were to be continued when planters are not required to limit production, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard replied, "that payment is more or less a benefit payment to increase production."

Canadian National Reports Best Year in Its History

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19 (AP).—The Canadian National railways reported today 1941 was the most successful financial year of its history, and showed a cash surplus of $4,016,000, after taxes and interest, against a substantial deficit in 1940. Net revenue after operating expenses was $66,308,341, an increase of $21,600,929 over 1940.

CHICAGO LABOR VOWS SPEEDUP IN WAR PLANTS

Management Joins in WPB Pledge.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Labor and management of Chicago armament plants agreed at a regional conference yesterday to bury the hatchet and unite in a concerted effort to beat the War Production board's victory goals. The meeting, one of 31 scheduled thruout the country, was arranged at the request of Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman.

WPB officials had made plans for a harmony session and did not expect labor to dominate the meeting, but for three hours, in the Morrison hotel's Casino room, labor held the floor and the two microphones, with only one management spokesman being heard from, and voiced much criticism of management.

The conference ended on a note of unity, however, with the unanimous adoption of a resolution pledging full support of the war production program.

Spring Drive Outlined.

The meeting, attended by 500 labor officials and 400 representatives of Chicago area plants, started smoothly with WPB officials outlining the spring production drive and the program for the formation of labor and management committees in each plant to spur maximum output.

Then J. C. Aspley, president of Dartnell Publications, Inc., Chicago, spoke as a WPB consultant.

"I want to make it clear that this plan is no side door for labor to get into management," he said. "Management has got to take the ball and run like hell. I would hate to see labor take the ball."

From several sides of the hall men shouted, "Why? Why?" Some one yelled, "You let the cat out of the bag that time." One labor representative shouted, "Go back to kindergarten."

Over the roars of protest and catcalls, Aspley continued to speak about the unity required to win the war. Then the chairman opened the meeting for comment from the floor.

Labor Rips Management.

Labor representatives revived union charges that industry was seeking special advantages under the war program and that management had refused to coöperate wholeheartedly.

John Normand, president of local 1066 of the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee, declared that a sheet and tin mill in Gary was operating only 41 per cent of its available machinery and had laid off 800 men because it did not find it profitable to work at full capacity.

"Labor has carried the ball, is doing the producing, the fighting and most of the dying," declared Norman Harris, SWOC field representative.

In an effort to forestall disintegration of the conference into a back fence squabble, Joseph L. Overlock, chairman, reminded the conferees that they were not gathered to hear labor grievances, but to unify efforts behind this area's 1 billion 600 million dollars in war contracts.

Shuns Settling Disputes.

"We don't expect the labor and management committee to settle disputes or handle collective bargaining problems," he said. "All we expect the committee to do is stimulate production. Remember that as one man carries the ball 10 others help him do it. There is no thought in this drive of giving any one any special advantages."

Overlock is state director of the WPB contract distribution branch and previously was a vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

Appeals for labor and management unity were made by Robert Travis, second vice president of the Illinois CIO council, and Fullerton Fulton, regional CIO director.

"We'll argue after the war is over," Fulton declared. "We've got to get this job done first. We are not looking for medals or special advantages."

Other labor leaders, including one from the Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company, said their relations with management had been mutually satisfactory.

Suggest Labor Insignia.

Some suggested that labor should be awarded an insignia or decoration for efficient or excellent work done on the production line. Overlock commended this suggestion as a "great idea."

The lone management spokesman was Gordon L. Hostetter of the Employers' Association of Chicago, who declared that industry will carry its share of the burden.

Aspley explained after the meeting that his "ball carrying" statement was intended as an exhortation to management to assume its full share of the responsibility in the war program and not let labor carry it alone.

U. S. Spending Sets a Record; Year's Debt Cost 1.9 Billions

3½ Months to Go

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—With three and a half months yet to go, federal expenditures for the current fiscal year today surpassed the heaviest spending in any full year in American history.

The treasury disclosed that between July 1, 1941, and March 17, 1942, it spent $18,667,611,678. The highest amount spent in a previous full fiscal year was $18,522,895,000 in 1919, which included the close of the World war.

The new record was due almost entirely to the war program, which already cost $13,989,189,975.

According to budget estimates, total expenditures in the remainder of the fiscal year—thru June 30—are slated to add about 12 billion dollars, of which 10 billions will be for war. War costs now are running well over 2 billions a month, and are climbing.

The new spending record was set in the midst of the largest income tax collection in history. In the first 17 days of March, income tax collections officially recorded totaled $1,391,371,310, or more than double the $602,668,606 of the same 1941 period.

Equals $14 a Person

Washington, D. C., March 19 [Special].—Interest payments on total public debt in the United States—federal, state, and local—aggregated 1 billion 885 million dollars in the 1941 fiscal year ending last June 30, the census bureau reported today. This is equal to $14 for every man, woman, and child in the continental United States.

As the public debt increases it is becoming more and more important as a repository for private saving and a source of annual income, the report said.

Because of the low interest rates paid by governments in recent years, however, total interest payments in the fiscal year 1941 represented an increase of only 30.6 per cent above corresponding interest costs for 1932.

The total volume of state and local government interest bearing securities outstanding last June 30 was estimated at 19 billion 860 million dollars.

Interest payments on state and local government securities in the 1941 year were estimated at 774 millions and those on the federal debt 1 billion 111 millions.

Open Contract Talks to Press, GM Head Asks

Detroit, Mich., March 19 (AP).—Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors corporation, on the eve of the opening of wage contract negotiations between the corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers, proposed tonight that the negotiations be open to the public press. The suggestion was made in a telegram to Walter P. Reuther, head of the UAW General Motors department.

Wilson declared that public interest, now that the company is no longer producing automobiles, warranted the change in conduct of the meetings.

Will Ask $1 a Day Raise.

Meantime, the union announced that a flat $1 a day wage increase and further increases every 90 days based on a cost of living index would be among its major demands.

Both company and union spokesmen said that if the negotiations go beyond the date of expiration of the present contract, April 28, there probably would be no interruption of work but that whatever agreement was reached would be made retroactive to April 28.

Demand Paid Lunch Period.

Other union demands include:

Payment of a $100 maturity value defense bond in lieu of vacations currently based on one week's pay averaging $44; a 30 minute paid lunch period; the addition of Armistice day to the list of double time holidays; five hours' pay allowance for men for whom no work is available after they report for duty; a 10 per cent premium for shifts on which more than half the work hours fall between 3:30 p. m. and midnight and 15 per cent premium for work between midnight and 8 a. m.

Pay for 60 days also will be asked for employés entering military service in place of the two weeks' pay now given by the company.

Leather and Shoe Machine Sales Limited by WPB

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—The War Production board announced today that manufacturers of shoe, leather working, and tanning machinery had been prohibited from accepting or filling any orders not accompanied by defense preference ratings of A-9 or higher. Production facilities of the industry are required for ordnance manufacture, it was explained.

HOLD WAGE PARLEY 'AS USUAL,' REUTHER REPLIES TO WILSON

Walter P. Reuther, CIO-UAW General Motors department director, issued the following statement in Chicago last night in reply to General Motors President C. E. Wilson's proposal that wage negotiations be open to the press:

"The UAW-CIO proposes that negotiations proceed as scheduled and in the usual manner; that the union's and the corporation's spokesmen make every effort to expedite negotiations and reach agreement on all issues susceptible of adjustment by direct negotiation; and that the remaining issues be referred to the National War Labor board where, the union is agreeable, all proceedings shall be open to the public, including the press.

"Thru this procedure, the union feels, many minor issues—and perhaps some major ones—may be adjusted in an atmosphere of conciliation unmarred by the element of public controversy. The remaining issues would then be subjected to both public and governmental scrutiny thru the offices of the National War Labor board."

SULLIVAN FINDS NEED FOR 30,000 CHICAGO HOMES

Chicago will need 30,000 new homes during the next 18 months to care for the workers needed in 150,000 new jobs in the metropolitan area, Gael Sullivan, Illinois director of the Federal Housing administration, said yesterday. He spoke at a luncheon of the Lambda Alpha land economics fraternity in the Civic Opera building.

In addition, he said, 3,500 small Chicago area industries are tuning up for war contracts. These, when in full production, will be factors in pushing Chicago to the front as the country's biggest center of war production, Sullivan said.

Live Stock, Clothing Lift Price Index to 13 Year Top

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—Higher prices for live stock and clothing brought a 0.2 per cent increase in the bureau of labor statistics' index of wholesale commodity prices during the week ended March 14. The index, the bureau reported today, stood at 97.1 per cent of the 1926 average, highest since September, 1928, and 20 per cent above the corresponding week of last year. It was 11.4 per cent higher than 1937 and 1 per cent above 1929.

Where is that $400 coming from?

WARD'S PROFIT FOR YEAR SETS ALL-TIME HIGH

Avery Warns War May Halt Gains.

Profits of Montgomery Ward & Co. in the fiscal year ended Jan. 31 reached a record of $27,351,716, Sewell L. Avery, chairman and president told stockholders yesterday in his annual report. But he warned them that the war economy will have a "severe" effect on operations of the company this year.

Sewell L. Avery.

The record earnings, equal to $4.97 a common share, were before a 5 million dollar provision for possible future inventory price decline. In the preceding year the company had earned $23,028,017, or $4.14 a share.

Total provision for federal and state income and excess profits taxes was $26,660,000, compared with $12,055,000 a year earlier. The company's profit before these taxes was $54,011,716, a 53.9 per cent increase over the previous record of $35,083,017 in 1940.

Full War Effect Uncertain.

"The company is faced with conditions that will adversely affect the results of operations for the current year," Avery wrote. "Some lines of major importance such as tires, electric refrigerators, stoves, radios, hardware, washing machines, and similar merchandise are already seriously affected by government priorities of materials, and it seems reasonable to anticipate that large scale conversion of many raw materials from civilian uses to war products will greatly curtail many other lines of merchandise.

"Further restrictions on terms of time payment sales are to be expected, with consequent loss of volume. The proportion of profit that will be paid to the government in the form of taxes is certain to increase. The full effect of all these factors cannot be foreseen, but obviously it will be severe."

Sales Top 632 Millions.

Net sales of the big Chicago mail order house and retail chain established an all-time record of $632,708,657, a gain of 22.6 per cent over the $515,910,915 of the preceding year. Avery said about a third of this increase in dollar sales was due to higher prices of merchandise, and the rest to larger volume.

Federal regulations aversely affected time payment sales, Avery said, and mail order sales also were hurt by shortage of some items. More than 20 million dollars in cash was returned to customers who ordered merchandise the company was unable to supply.

On Jan. 31 the company was operating 649 retail stores after opening three new stores during the year and closing four.

Week's Bank Clearings Reach New 1942 High

New York, March 19 (AP).—Bank clearings continued a sharp expansion in most centers during the last week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today, estimating the total for 23 large cities at $7,929,673,000, a new 1942 high. This was 24.5 per cent over the preceding week and 10.3 per cent above the comparable 1941 period. The turnover at Chicago was $439,300,000, a gain of 3.8 per cent over 1941.

STOCKS TRY BOTH DIRECTIONS; END UP GOING NEITHER

Volume Dwindles to Low for About 9 Months.

New York, March 19 (AP).—Stocks displayed faint signs of recovery here and there today but the market as a whole was soft.

MacArthur optimism continued to prop boardroom sentiment but further skepticism anent taxes, labor, and maintained dividends served to limit bids in most cases and inspire mild selling.

The list did fairly well at the start. Dealings soon faltered along with trends and, at the close, fractional declines slightly outnumbered gains, but many issues finished unchanged.

Sales Fewest Since June.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 34.9, which meant that, with yesterday's retreat, it had given up all but 2 of its St. Patrick's day rally. A modicum of comfort was derived from the fact offerings were never urgent. Transfers of 274,800 shares compared with 335,780 yesterday and were the smallest for a full session since last June.

There was not much in the war news to spur bullishness and a smattering of good business indicators failed as a real bolstering influence. Among the latter was a more than seasonal upturn in last week's freight loadings, another jump in bank clearings and the announcement this week's heavy engineering awards were the second largest on record.

Chemicals were depressed by the thought mounting taxes and other costs might hit payments to shareholders. Some of the gold mining issues backed down on the idea operations in this field would be sharply restricted by war necessities.

CHICAGO LIST STEADY.

Prices were about steady on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions of 14,000 shares. Of the 72 issues traded 25 advanced, 29 declined, and 18 closed unchanged. Of the more active stocks, Great Lakes Dredge and Dock declined ⅛, Middle West and Consolidated Oil were unchanged, General Motors advanced ⅜, and Nash-Kelvinator ⅛. Only change in the last half hour, after the New York close, was Paramount Pictures, which advanced ⅛.

VOTE $1 DIVIDEND ON CONSOLIDATED AIRCRAFT STOCK

Directors of the Consolidated Aircraft corporation yesterday announced a dividend of $1 on common stock. Dividends totaling $6 in cash and 100 per cent in stock were declared in both 1940 and 1941. The payment authorized yesterday will be the first since working control of the company was purchased by Vultee Aircraft, Inc., last December.

Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal Co., New York, said yesterday he would recommend payment of four quarterly dividends on preferred stock in April. The issue has been cumulative since Jan. 1, 1940, and at the close of 1941 accumulations amounted to $12 a share.

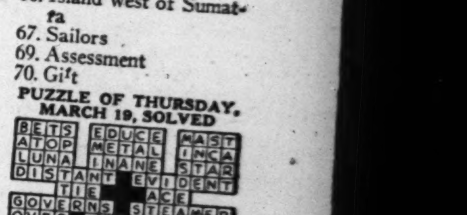
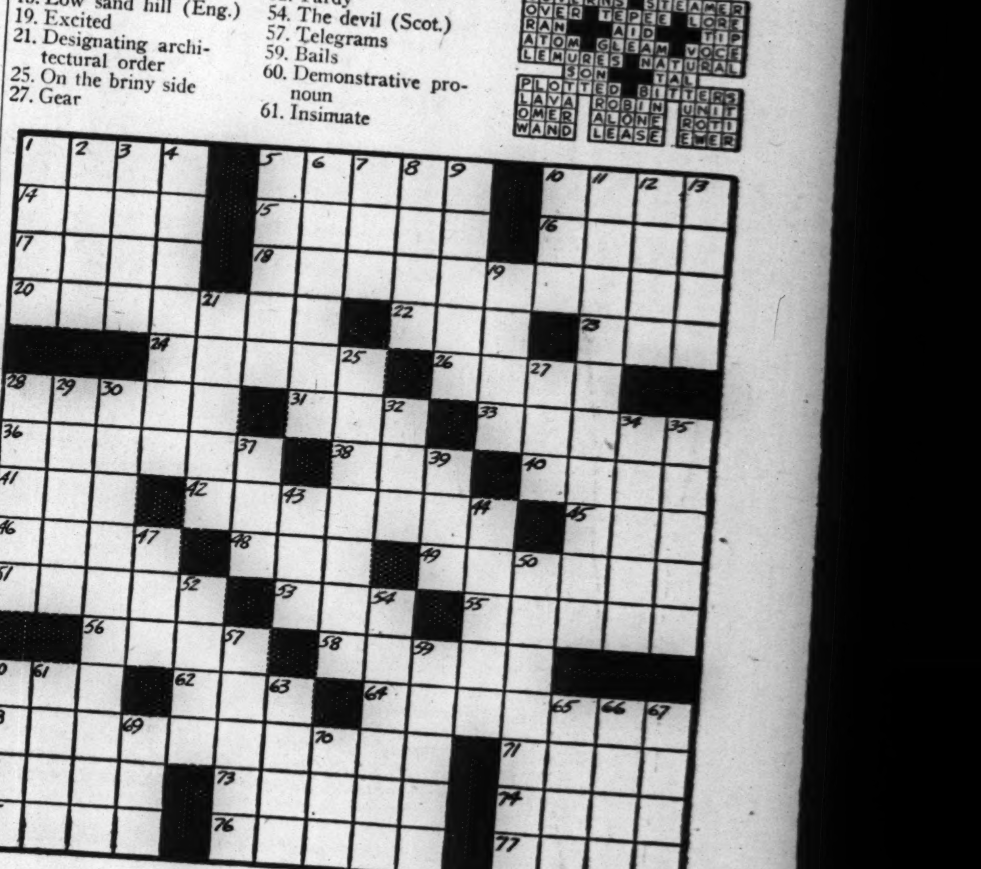
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, MARCH 19, SOLVED





END ARGUMENTS FOR INCREASE IN STREET CAR FARE

State Commission to Rule on Lengthy Evidence.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Arguments on the Chicago Surface Lines' petition for an emergency increase in street car fares from 7 to 8 cents were completed late yesterday before the Illinois Commerce commission. The 5,000 page record in the case, which began last August, was taken under advisement by the commission. Chairman John D. Biggs declined to predict when a decision will be forthcoming.

In addition to this case, the commission is holding hearings to place a valuation on the lines' properties and set permanent rates of fare.

At yesterday's hearings Attorneys William Wilson, Charles Aaron, and Jacob I. Grossman for the company submitted rebuttal arguments to an analysis of the case presented Monday by Assistant Attorney General William R. Morgan.

30 Millions in Tills.

Morgan maintained the company was in no position to plead poverty inasmuch as it had more than 30 million dollars in cash in its tills.

"Since when is it necessary to plead poverty in order to get a fair rate of return under the law?" Wilson asked. "Since when is a company to be penalized for having cash in the bank?"

Wilson declared the company's cash had been wisely preserved as a foundation for the 102 million dollar transit modernization program contemplated under Chicago's traction consolidation plan.

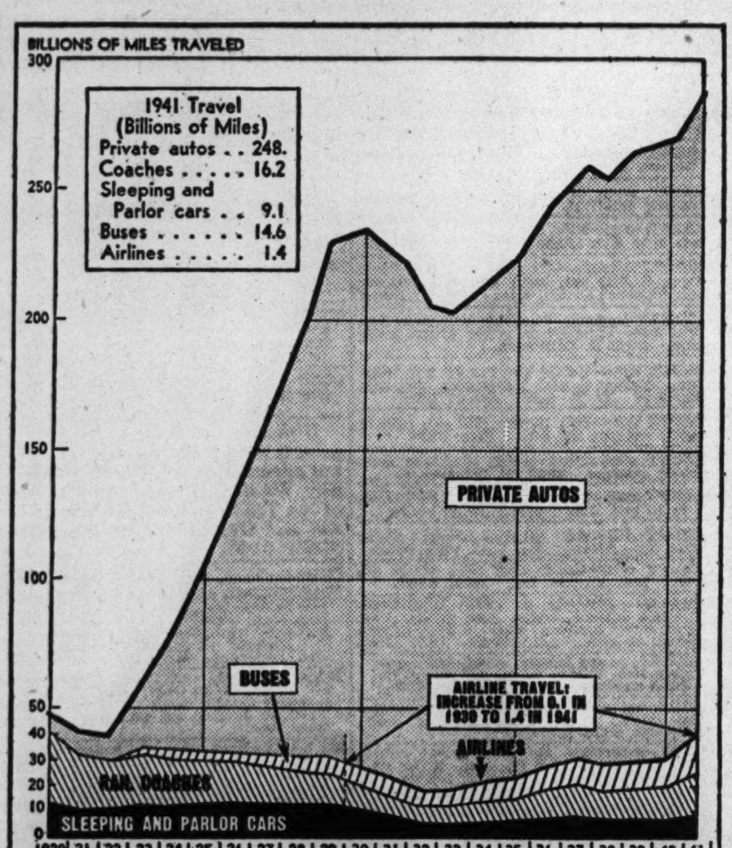
Aaron argued that every day the 7 cent fare stays in effect is "another day of confiscation of properties."

Reports Increasing Costs.

Grossman contended that expenses are being boosted by higher labor and material costs and taxes, and argued that traffic gains resulting from tire rationing may be offset by reduced shopping travel and large scale army inductions.

Hearings opened yesterday before Charles A. McDonald, special master, in the Chicago Rapid Transit company's suit for a Circuit court injunction to permit a boost in "L" fares from 10 to 12 cents.

The Nation's Travel Market



Passenger miles of intercity traffic handled since 1920 by the principal transportation mediums—railroads (coaches and sleeping and parlor cars), buses, air lines, and private automobiles—as compiled by the Pullman company. The 1941 figures are based on preliminary estimates. Data was not available on bus travel for prior to 1923, and on air travel for prior to 1930.

BUILDING AWARDS FOR WEEK CLOSE TO RECORD TOTAL

New York, March 19 (AP).—Engineering construction awards in the week ended today were the second highest ever attained, Engineering News-Record reported today.

The total of $273,702,000—105 per cent better than in the preceding week and 206 per cent higher than a year ago—was only slightly under the peak of $298,718,000 in the week of July 10, 1941. Comparisons follow:

	Week ended March 19.	Previous wk.	Year ago.

Day by Day on the Farm

Change Plans of Crops.

WARTIME conditions have resulted in a considerable change in the plans of crops at the Du Page county farm. Last year, when the farm was operating under the AAA, the majority of the land was in hay and pasture. This year the farm is on its own and is placing greater emphasis on grains so that the pens and feedlots of the farm can turn out more fat cattle, sheep, and hogs.

Last year there were 217 acres in forage crops. This year only 176 acres will go into hay and pasture land. Last year there were 52 acres in corn. This has been stepped up to 85 acres for 1942.

163 Acres in Grain.

A total of 163 acres will go into grain crops this year as compared with only 112 last year. More corn, more oats, and more wheat have been planned so the farm will be able to store enough feed to handle the heavy livestock program that has been outlined.

The farm manager estimates the 85 acres of corn will put a minimum of 4,250 bushels of grain in the cribs. Hybrid strains will be used in order to secure the highest possible yields. Last year, because of the small acreage the AAA permitted the farm to put into corn, the farm manager was forced to buy large quantities of corn to carry his feeder cattle thru. This year he hopes to raise most of the feed on the farm.

There will be 65 acres of oats this year as against 52 last year. Most of the oats will be seeded with alfalfa or clover for hay or pasture. Five small lots in the woods will be used for oats this year if the land dries enough to permit them to be seeded in time.

There will be 32 acres of clover, 78 acres of alfalfa, and four acres of timothy to supply the farm with hay. The farm does not put up any corn silage, but relies entirely upon legume and grass silage to feed the beef steers and dairy cattle. Legume silage has proven exceptionally valuable and easy to handle, and once accustomed to it, the livestock seems to enjoy the feed.

Sow Clover with Oats.

According to present seeding plans, the corn will be drilled at the rate of seven bushels to the acre. The oats will be sown at the rate of 8 or 10 pecks to the acre. In some of the oat fields timothy and clover will replace the alfalfa.

Altho the seed is on hand and plans are completed, the time for actual field work still is a long way off. The fields are so muddy it is almost impossible to travel thru them with any heavy machinery. About the first work will be the disking of oat fields and finishing the plowing that was started last fall.

DPMA BUYING FAILS TO PREVENT DIP IN WHOLESALE BUTTER

The federally financed Dairy Products Marketing association bought 156,750 pounds of butter on the Chicago market and 60,000 pounds in New York yesterday at a cost of around $70,000. Freshly made 92-score butter declined ¼ cent a pound at wholesale to 34 cents, despite the agency's price supporting efforts.

Companies drying eggs for shipment to England continued to bid vigorously for supplies, advancing their prices for farm run, dirty and cracked eggs ¼ cent a dozen to 27 cents. Best eggs sold at 28 to 29¾ cents.

Both butter and eggs showed strength in futures trading on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. March butter contracts closed at 32.65 cents a pound, for an advance of .05 cent. The October egg contract finished at 32.05 cents, up .2 cent a dozen. Egg processors dominated trading in the futures market, purchasing 26 carlots for Octoebr delivery, or 68 per cent of the contracts made.

WHEAT FUTURES DRIFT TO LOWS SINCE DECEMBER

Wheat drifted 1¼ to 1½ cents lower yesterday, reaching the lowest point since late December, with May closing at $1.26⅞ a bushel. Failure of rye to display any stability after Wednesday's sharp decline and a break in the flaxseed market at Minneapolis brought a wave of selling in the final minutes of the session.

Corn futures declined ⅝ to ¾ cent; oats, ⅜ to ⅝ cent; rye, 1 to 1⅛ cents, and soy beans, 1 to 1½ cents a bushel.

Elevator operators reported that the shortage of grain storage space may seriously hamper the war production program. Several ore boats scheduled to start north in a week or two to bring raw materials to Chicago steel mills are loaded with grain for which the owners are reported unable to find any storage space. Similar conditions are reported at Buffalo, a situation that may tie up many of the ore boats for some time, grain men said.

SALES AT 12 YEAR PEAK, BRUNSWICK PROFIT IS LOWER

Tax, Labor and Material Costs Offset Gain.

Sales of Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Chicago, last year were the largest since 1929, but higher federal taxes, along with increased costs of labor and materials, caused a decline of $346,610 in net earnings, R. F. Bensinger, president, reported yesterday.

Profit of the company, manufacturer of bowling and billiard equipment and other items, was $2,036,886, equal to $4.28 a share, compared with $2,383,497, or $5.05 a share, in 1940. Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes was $1,350,000, against $825,000.

The company's net sales for the year were $20,796,823, a 23 per cent increase over the $16,901,233 of the preceding year.

Current Sales Larger.

"Altho sales for the first two months of 1942 exceeded sales of the first two months of 1941, the uncertainties facing all business activities at present preclude any forecast of probabilities for the full year, and any assumptions based upon this short period would appear entirely unwarranted," Bensinger said.

He said the company is manufacturing certain products for the war program and "will continue to cooperate in this war work."

Wilson-Jones company, Chicago, manufacturer of looseleaf books, ledgers, and similar items, reported its earnings in the six months ended Feb. 28, first half of its fiscal year, were $297,891, equal to $1.12 a share, compared with $275,533, or $1.02 a share in the corresponding period a year before. Net sales totaled $3,486,000, a 29 per cent increase over the earlier period.

Skelly Oil Earns More.

Skelly Oil company, Tulsa, Okla., announced its 1941 net was $5,913,826, equal to $6.02 a share, against $3,316,678, or $3.28 a share, in 1940.

United States Smelting, Refining and Mining company, Boston, Mass., producer of precious and non-ferrous metals, reported 1941 net earnings of $4,916,260, equal to $6.20, compared with $5,950,175, or $8.16 a share, in 1940. For the first two months of 1942 the net was $585,605, or 59 cents a share, against $370,344, or 18 cents a share, a year earlier.

Net income last year of Electrolux corporation, New York vacuum cleaner maker, was $1,416,538, or $1.14 a share, against $1,397,165, or $1.13 a share in 1940.

CAR LOADINGS GAIN 3.7%; MISCELLANEOUS FREIGHT LEADS RISE

Led by sharp increases in miscellaneous freight and coal shipments, the nation's freight loadings rose to 799,356 cars last week, for a gain of 28,659 cars, or 3.7 per cent, over the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The total was 5.2 per cent larger than that of the corresponding week a year ago and 29.1 per cent above that of the same 1940 period. The gain was considered more than seasonal.

Miscellaneous freight shipments, including manufactured products, gained 16,353 cars over the preceding week's total for that classification, and coal loadings were up 10,239 cars.

STATE HIGHWAY FORCE FINDS BIG SUPPLY OF SCRAP

More than 44 thousand tons of scrap metal were discovered by the state division of highways in a survey ordered by Gov. Green, the Illinois State Council of Defense announced yesterday.

The highway workers had been requested to report any scrap stocks available in their districts. Robert Tieken, chairman of the defense council salvage committee, said 44,157 tons were reported, including 3,525 tons in Cook county. He estimated that a more complete canvass would reveal hundreds of thousands of tons of scrap.

His committee is urging owners of the scrap to sell it to junk dealers.

DIVIDE FEDERAL, STATES' SOURCES OF TAXATION: AFL

Washington, D. C., March 19 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor proposed today a joint conference of representatives of federal, state, and local governments with a view to agreement on respective fields of taxation.

"Each level of government should be assured of the exclusive right to the use of certain forms of taxation free from interference by other taxing jurisdictions," the AFL said in a memorandum to congress setting out its views on new federal revenue legislation.

Opposes Tax on Sales.

The labor organization referred to the desirability of correlation of federal and other taxes after opposing specifically a federal sales tax on the ground, among others, that many state governments now depend on such levies.

In raising new revenue, the AFL said, the federal government should place the heaviest taxes on "surplus income of individuals and corporations."

It recommended an excess profits tax on all corporate earnings above 6 or 7 per cent, higher inheritance and gift taxes, and closing of "loopholes unfairly benefitting small groups of taxpayers."

Hits Capital Gains Levy.

At the same time, it said taxes should not be made so heavy that "individuals and companies are driven out of business thru inability to earn a profit," and urged repeal or modification of the capital gains tax which it said had "led to a sharp reduction in capital available for new venture enterprises."

Other AFL contentions included: Pay roll taxes should be confined to social security purposes, individual income tax exemptions should not be lowered, nonwar government expenditures should be curtailed.

Is your promotion geared to mesh with Chicago's wider distribution of spendable income? Base your Chicago drive on the Tribune and you get . . . at one low cost . . . the full-market coverage which produces response from the important new spenders in every neighborhood and suburb of Chicago.

Daily and Sunday, the Tribune in February delivered in excess of 1,000,000 total net paid circulation. This was 530,000 more total circulation on weekdays than any other Chicago daily newspaper delivered—and more than any two other Chicago daily newspapers combined. On Sundays, the Tribune sold 320,000 more copies than the second Chicago Sunday newspaper and 820,000 more than the third Chicago Sunday newspaper.

Right in metropolitan Chicago, the Tribune on weekdays had 370,000 more circulation than the next Chicago daily newspaper. On Sundays, the Tribune delivered 365,000 more circulation in Chicago and suburbs than the second Chicago Sunday newspaper and 460,000 more than the third Chicago Sunday newspaper.

The Tribune is the only newspaper with circulation volume equivalent to majority coverage of all the families in metropolitan Chicago. To make the most of today's opportunities, build your promotion around the Tribune. Rates per 100,000 circulation are among the lowest in America.

HOGS AVERAGE 5c HIGHER AS PORK MARKET FIRMS

Lighter supplies and a moderate recovery in wholesale markets for fresh pork were the governing factors in yesterday's steady to 10 cents higher trade for hogs. Prices for the session averaged 5 cents higher, at $13.45 a hundred pounds, within 10 cents of the highest daily average since June, 1926. The $13.60 top was paid for a load of fall pigs averaging 201 pounds.

The general level of wholesale pork prices continued well below the "ceilings" that are to be enforced next Monday. Packers accepted $25.50 a hundred pounds for top light loins, 50 cents more than on Wednesday but $2 less than the approximate ceiling. The heaviest loins sold at $21.50.

Brisk demand for mutton sheep sent top ewes up 25 cents to the $8 line. Fat lambs were steady to 15 cents higher.

HOTEL MEN HEAR WAR EFFECTS ON COAST BUSINESS

Operation of hotels in congested Washington, D. C., where room "priorities" have been established, and under blackout conditions in San Francisco, Cal., was described yesterday at the Midwest Hotel show in the Hotel Stevens.

C. J. Mack, general manager of the Mayflower hotel, Washington, said operation there without some plan of priorities would be extremely difficult. Factors considered in "awarding" rooms, he said, are the importance of the applicant's business in the capital and the frequency of his past stops at the individual hotel. Government reservations are honored above all others, he added.

George T. Thompson, general manager of Sir Francis Drake hotel in San Francisco, said all guest rooms are darkened by throwing master switches within five minutes after a blackout warning. Guests are invited to the lobby and dining rooms, protected by heavily curtained windows.

Indiana Utility Elects New Vice President, 2 Directors

Directors of Northern Indiana Public Service company yesterday elected A. C. Colby, Gary, to a new position as vice president and reëlected all officers. Colby is president of Gary Heat, Light & Water company. The directors met at Hammond following the company's annual meeting, at which the board was enlarged to nine by adding as new directors J. Samuel Hartt, Chicago, and Clarence W. Bader, Gary.

HIGHEST IN HISTORY.

Can you give me a breakdown of Southern Pacific's 1941 income? How did freight revenues compare with other years? What was the increase in costs and taxes over the previous year?—R. H. A.

Answer: The 58th annual report of the Southern Pacific system showed 1941 total railway operating revenues of $297,786,325, an increase of $65,854,046 over 1940. Net railway operating income was $57,437,301, a gain of $24,971,442. Net income was $25,442,966 higher at $34,758,577.

Freight revenues of $244,440,997 in 1941 were the largest in the system's history, increasing $55,227,848 from 1940. Passenger revenues were $31,596,317, a gain of $7,116,195.

Taxes took $21,428,924, or 22.85 cents of each dollar of net revenue from railway operations last year, and were $3,570,880 higher than in 1940. Total railway operating expenses rose $34,716,915 to $203,985,626.

FINANCING OPERATIONS.

What was the business volume of Commercial Investment Trust last year? What was the company's net income?—O. S.

Answer: Net business volume for 1941 of the Commercial Investment Trust corporation was $1,638,679,148 and outstandings at the end of the year totaled $585,703,686. This compared with $1,285,016,744 and $505,903,700, respectively, in 1940. The volume and outstandings include retail motor vehicle instalment obligations, wholesale lien notes and acceptances and receivables of factoring subsidiaries. Net income last year was $17,324,310, against $15,805,222 the preceding year.

NONCALLABLE.

Can the treasury department call defense savings bonds before maturity?—C. T. H.

Answer: No United States savings bond may be called prior to maturity.

DEBENTURE STOCK.

What is debenture stock? I have come across the term from time to time but don't believe I have ever heard of an American company issuing it.—J. B.

Answer: Debenture stock is the same as preferred stock and should not be confused with debentures, which are unsecured promissory notes. Debenture stock is rarely issued by American corporations but is more common in England. The Dennison Manufacturing company has an issue of 8 per cent debenture stock and E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. had a 6 per cent issue until it was retired in 1939.

AN' IT'S GOIN' TO BE WHITE WITH A LOT OF LACE. I'M GOIN' TO BE A FLOWER GIRL, AUNT EMILY.
FLOWER GIRL? WHERE, AND WHEN, JUDY?
AT A WEDDING. BUT IT'S A SECRET. MOMMY AN' NINA DON'T WANT ME TO BREATHE A WORD.
ISN'T THAT INTERESTING!
I WOULDN'T TELL A SOUL BUT YOU, HAZEL. BUT IT LOOKS AS IF SKEEZIX AND NINA ARE TO GET MARRIED RIGHT AWAY.
YOU DON'T SAY.
KEEP IT DARK, AMY, AND DON'T MENTION IT, NOT EVEN TO BILL, BUT SKEEZIX AND NINA ARE GETTING MARRIED.
WHAT DO YOU KNOW!

FURNITURE LOANS

At Commonwealth you may take your choice of several loan plans. Actually, however, a furniture loan is by far the most popular. The requirements are so simple that nearly any one keeping house can qualify. The payments, too, can usually be adjusted to fit even the most modest income. If you are hard pressed for cash, investigate the various loan plans Commonwealth has to offer. STOP IN, WRITE, or PHONE for full details.

9 ADVANTAGES
of Getting YOUR LOAN from 'PERSONAL'

1. Loans made to all employed men and women, whether single or married.
2. Business women and those working in defense plants—borrow here "on your own."
3. A special plan provides loans for defense workers and others on a new job or who have just moved into the community.
4. Between pay-day loans for small amounts and short periods made as readily as other loans.
5. Loans made for purchase of tools, uniforms, car or home repairs, medical or dental attention, payment of old bills, etc.
6. Your account here establishes NATION-WIDE Cash Credit at any of more than 400 'Personal' offices.
7. Monthly payments arranged that you can comfortably afford. Take a year or more to repay.
8. Complete privacy. Loans made on signature, furniture or auto. No wage assignments. Outsiders not involved.
9. Quick, friendly service. No waiting for a "Board" or committee to pass on your loan.

More people from coast-to-coast borrow from 'Personal' than from any other similar company. If you need $10 to $250 or more, phone or come to our nearest office today.

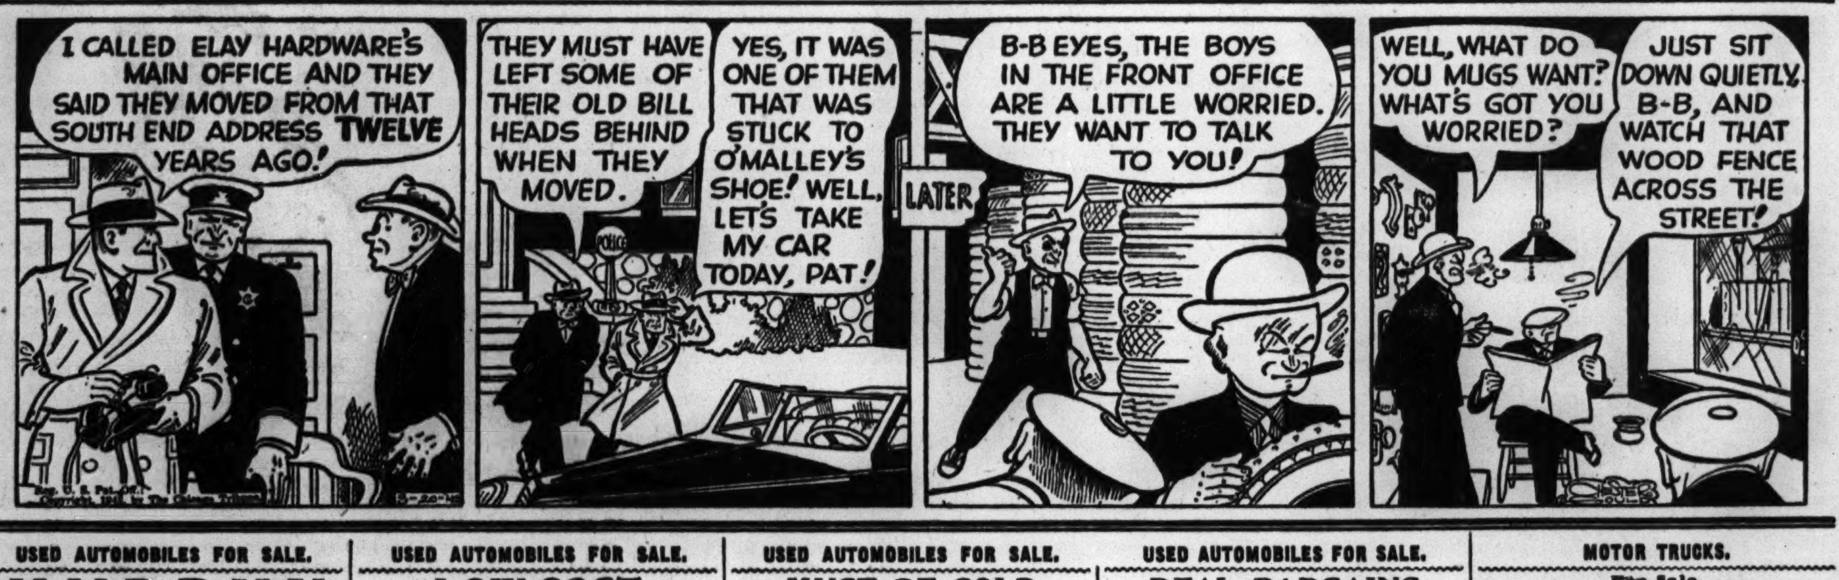
DICK TRACY—Plate Glass Vista



I CALLED ELAY HARDWARE'S MAIN OFFICE AND THEY SAID THEY MOVED FROM THAT SOUTH END ADDRESS TWELVE YEARS AGO!
THEY MUST HAVE LEFT SOME OF THEIR OLD BILL HEADS BEHIND WHEN THEY MOVED.
YES, IT WAS ONE OF THEM THAT WAS STUCK TO O'MALLEY'S SHOE! WELL, LET'S TAKE MY CAR TODAY, PAT!
POLICE
LATER
B-B EYES, THE BOYS IN THE FRONT OFFICE ARE A LITTLE WORRIED. THEY WANT TO TALK TO YOU!
WELL, WHAT DO YOU MUGS WANT? WHAT'S GOT YOU WORRIED?
JUST SIT DOWN QUIETLY, B-B, AND WATCH THAT WOOD FENCE ACROSS THE STREET!

THIS is a newly revised and enlarged map of the part of the world that now is figuring most prominently in the war news. It is in the area charted here that the Japanese are massing forces and advancing for what is believed will be an attempt to invade Australia from the island of New Guinea. From their invasion bases at Lae and Salamaua, on the coast of North East New Guinea, the Japanese are moving on, or already have occupied, Port Moresby, on the southern coast of the territory of Papua, also on the island of New Guinea. Port Moresby is barely 300 miles from Cape York, at the tip of the Australian peninsula of the same name. It is about 1,200 miles from Darwin, Australia's north coast naval base, and approximately 2,000 miles from Sydney. The New Guinea port is considered a likely marshaling point for a full scale attack on the Australian mainland.
